BULLETIN.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 13, Friday (AP). — The newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported today in a dispatch from Riga, Latvia, that the Lithuanian government, with soviet Russia's support, would make representations to Berlin to change the German-Lithuanian pact which gave Memelland to Germany. The dispatch said that Lithuania was discontented with her limited rights in Memel and now claims extraterritorial rights in Memel harbor. It was reported that Lithuania also was planning to open diplomatic action in Berlin to regain the Suwalki district (of conquered Poland) southeast of Memelland on the eastern border of East Prussia.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—It was reported in diplomatic circles here tonight that Turkey had agreed to close the Dardanelles to belligerents. The action came after prolonged negotiations in Moscow between the soviet and Turkish foreign ministers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 12.—Finland waited anxiously tonight to see whether the intervention of the United States, Sweden, Norway and Denmark would avert a possible war with Russia. Those four nations today made representations in Moscow asking soviet Russia to avoid making demands on Finland which would injure the peaceful relations of those two countries.

It was announced late tonight that a "long message" had been received from Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi, head of the Finnish delegation now in Moscow. The nature of the message was not disclosed.

In Moscow secrecy also was observed concerning the meeting today of Dr. Paasikivi with Dictator Josef Stalin, Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov and other officials. A second conference will be held in Moscow at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

[A Berlin report said Moscow's demands on Finland included a proposal for Russian coöperation in a final solution of the Aaland Islands question. The islands occupy a strategical position at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia and their ownership is important to the shipping of both Finland and Sweden. The islands have been under joint Finnish and Swedish jurisdiction since Finland won its independence from Russia in 1920.]

Defense Preparations Go On.

Meanwhile evidences of Finland's defense preparations became more noticeable. It is estimated that 300,000 Finns are under arms. A taxi company said it was unable to provide transportation because "almost all automobiles" had been mobilized.

"We are still optimistic," a foreign office official said. He acknowledged that additional measures were taken during the day to strengthen the Finnish defenses on the soviet border and "protect Finland's neutrality."

It was understood one of the defense measures was the closing of all ports on the Gulf of Finland, including Helsingfors and Viipuri [Viborg], to Finnish ships as a precaution against seizure by the Russians in case of trouble. Finnish ships can call at Abo and points northward on the Gulf of Bothnia. From Tallinn, across the Gulf of Finland from Helsingfors, came word that three Russian destroyers were anchored in Estonian ports, apparently waiting for Russia to occupy her new bases there.

Nazis Block Radio Speech.

A radio speech which Foreign Minister Eljas Erkko was scheduled to make to America tonight was canceled at the last minute because the German radio refused to relay it because of its asserted "political" nature.

[NBC radio officials in New York said the German transmitter was the only one powerful enough to relay the

Democrat Levy Cost Job, Says Prison Guard

A former guard at Stateville penitentiary asserted last night that he had been forced out of his job because he refused to contribute to the Illinoisans, an unincorporated organization that collects campaign assessments on a 2 per cent basis from Democratic state pay rollers.

It was the contention of the ex-guard, Evan Hugh Andrew of 3852 Maypole avenue, that pressure to pay was put on him by the prison's chief clerk, H. W. Luthin. Andrew said that other guards and even prisoners had warned him that his civil service status would not protect him if he did not go along with the Illinoisans.

Went to Work in April.

"I took a civil service examination last spring and finished tenth on the list," said Andrew. "In April I went to work at Stateville and under the law I could be dismissed, after serving three months, only after trial by the state civil service commission.

"Just before the June judicial election I was warned by other guards to kick in to the 2 per cent fund. I wouldn't do it. Then a notice was posted summoning 10 or 12 of us who hadn't paid to the office of Joseph E. Ragen, the warden. We got only so far as the chief clerk, who asked us to sign blank membership cards of the Illinoisans.

"He refused to tell me what I'd have to pay and what benefits I'd get. He told me not to be dumb. He also said I wouldn't get a receipt, but that the warden would give him one showing my kick-in.

"Two convicts who were in the office seemed to be amused at the conversation. Later other convicts, who seemed to know all about the club, told me I had better join or get out."

Transferred to Vandalia.

On Sept. 11, Andrew asserted, he was notified that he was being transferred on the 13th to Vandalia prison farm. He went to Ragen to protest.

"I explained that I had friends and relatives in Chicago," Andrew continued, "and that there were other guards who'd like to go to Vandalia. He said the order was for me. I asked for a little time to make arrangements, and he said no change in the order was possible.

"When I asked whether the Illinoisan matter had anything to do with the transfer, he would only reply that I had my orders. I came home and wired the warden for a week's delay. There was no answer. Then I wrote to A. L. Bowen [state welfare director] to ask about the status of the Illinoisans—whether I would have to join to keep my job.

"He wrote back that I had been granted till Sept. 18 to report to Vandalia, and that since I hadn't reported I was suspended. Last Monday I wrote Bowen again, informing him I hadn't been notified of the five day extension and again referred to the Illinoisans. No answer has come yet."

Gets Private Work.

Andrew said that he had obtained private work and did not want the job back. He announced that he would lay his case before the Civil Service Protective association today as a matter of principle.

Several other guards have confirmed that strong solicitation of funds is being made at Joliet and Stateville, and that a man named Stone, an organizer of the Illinoisans, had been sent to the prison to make collections.

BRITAIN ACTS TO CALL OFF LOCAL ELECTIONS UNTIL END OF 1940

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The government tonight introduced a bill in parliament calling for suspension of local elections, including the borough council elections scheduled for Nov. 1 and the Scottish town council elections a week later.

The bill proposes that the terms of office of existing aldermen and councilors be extended. It provides that vacancies caused by death or other reasons should be filled without ballot. The measure will remain in force until Dec. 31, 1940, and is subject to renewal by parliament. The bill, which was given its first reading tonight, will come up for debate in the house of commons Tuesday.

To End Food Profiteering.

LONDON, Oct 12 (AP).—A measure designed to stamp out war profiteering in food and everyday commodities by price regulation was introduced today in the house of commons by the government. The board of trade would be empowered to set maximum prices. A central price regulation committee would enforce the legislation which proposed fines up to $400 and jail terms of three months for violators.

Tavern Patron Slain; Robbers Fire on Eight

Two fast shooting bandits fired half a dozen bullets early today at eight men and women in the neighborhood tavern at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue. They fled, leaving one of the men dead with a bullet in his heart. The victim was Peter Petersen, 64 years old, 2650 Cortland street.

The murder stirred police. A dozen squads immediately were sent into the area by radio with orders to capture the killers. Both were described as young men, plainly dressed, and each wearing a leather jacket.

March All to Back Room.

The two entered the tavern a few minutes after midnight. Petersen and six other customers, including three women, were in the place. Joseph Zaniszka, 53, the owner, was behind the bar.

"Stick 'em up," said the leader, leveling a revolver.

The bandit, with his pal at the door behind him, ordered Zaniszka and the seven patrons into the rear room. As several of them started to obey, Zaniszka picked up a revolver, and fired one shot. Then he and a customer, William Jensen, 36, of 2649 Cortland street, attempted to run down a basement stairway.

Bandits Fire Wildly.

At this the bandit leader and, it is believed, his confederate opened fire. Bullets hit the ceilings and walls. A bullet drilled Petersen's heart and another his left shoulder.

The robbers fled without making any effort at robbery. Outside they boarded a car apparently driven by a third man. Good descriptions of the killers were given to Shakespeare avenue police by several of the witnesses, including Zaniszka, Jensen, and Andrew Kryca, 31, of 1843 North Washtenaw avenue, another customer.

Police said the same bandits earlier obtained $45 in a robbery in the tavern at 2138 North Damen and stole a revolver from Harry Levering, 52, of 3146 Sheffield avenue, a private watchman, in the rear of 1659 Milwaukee avenue. They slugged Levering.

Teacher Saves 37 Pupils in Schoolhouse Collapse

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special].—Miss Frances Remley, 23 years old, teacher of the fourth and fifth grades in Lucerne school of Harrison township, Cass county, heard a crackling in the ceiling of her schoolroom. She marched her 37 pupils to the schoolyard. Just as the room was cleared the ceiling crashed to the floor.

CLAIM RUSSIA WILL SUPPORT REICH; BIG GUNS THUNDER ON 125 MILE FRONT

BULLETIN.

PARIS, Oct, 13, Friday (AP).—Thirty thousand British troops were reported early today to have joined the French forces on the northeastern German front. The French general staff communique this morning said: "A calm night over the whole front. Enemy patrols were repulsed in the region of Warndt."

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Artillery roared and machine guns blazed continuously along the whole 125 mile western front from the Rhine river to Luxemburg today, climaxing 36 hours of ceaseless raiding and skirmishing in the no man's land between the French and German outposts.

For the first time since hostilities began the rolling pastoral countryside between the lines took on something of the aspect of a world war battlefield—the meadows were pitted with shell holes, littered at times with dead and wounded, and the tree trunks were stripped of their bark by bursting shells.

Attacks Smashed Back.

Again and again infantry went over the top, sprinted from shell hole to shell hole, crawled on their bellies toward the enemy barbed wire and reached it sometimes only to be beaten back by trench mortars and hand grenades, painfully dragging their wounded with them.

Yet, paradoxically, the lines have not changed since the beginning of this activity, and apparently no serious efforts have been made to change them. Attack has succeeded attack night and day on every sector of the 125 mile front, but the attacking forces have ranged from half a dozen men to 200 or 300 at the most.

One of them—a German attack yesterday on the plateau east of the Moselle and northeast of Sierck—was supported by formidable artillery preparation and a box barrage isolating the French position which was its objective. Despite this it was, like the others, only a raid intended to gather information.

Report No Prisoners Taken.

Like the others, it was beaten off by the French infantry, supported by artillery, although the former were hard pressed.

So far, according to official sources here, the French have not yielded a single prisoner, frustrating the enemy's purpose, which has cost him cruel losses.

In addition to the battles along the Saar front, there was activity in several other sectors. Although the French night communique tersely referred to the renewed onslaught as "activity of our advance elements," the morning communique said the German attacks spread all along the front from the Moselle river to the Rhine. The sharpest engagement reported was around the new French positions north of Perl.

[The German communique said a plane had been shot down in an aerial fight south of Lauterbourg, France; reported "minor reconnoitering, troop and artillery activity" on the western front and "a little air scouting activity over the North sea and in the west."]

Close Rhine Dam Gates.

French troops today closed the Rhine river dam gates at Kembs, 10 miles north of Basel, Switzerland, pushing flood waters high against Germany's "Rhine Gibraltar" at Istein. The French had received reports that the Germans might be preparing to cross the Rhine at this tip of the Maginot line. They acted as reports came of German attacks against Lauterbourg, 100 miles north.

The flood tide made a German attack extremely difficult, military advices said, and would help French troops in a surprise attack. The Maginot line forts have been adjusted to meet the highest levels which the Rhine has ever reached, while the Siegfried forts had to be changed last year when the Rhine rose more than 11 feet.

LONDON REFUSES PEACE BASED ON NAZI CONQUESTS

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—Great Britain refused today to make any peace with Adolf Hitler based on "recognition of his conquests and his right to do what he pleases with the conquered."

Prime Minister Chamberlain in a grim voice offered the German Fuehrer a choice between a real and lasting peace backed by "effective guarantees" or a war in which France and Britain "must persevere in their duty to the end."

Almost in the next breath, however, the prime minister expressed doubt Hitler could give such guarantees. He told the house of commons:

"The plain truth is that, after our past experience, it is no longer possible to rely upon the unsupported words of the present German government."

Demands Proof of Sincerity.

It was Chamberlain's first speech since Hitler in the reichstag last Friday outlined his ideas for a European peace and, with Premier Edouard Daladier's broadcast in France on Tuesday, constituted the British and French reply to the Fuehrer's proposals.

Without fixing specific conditions, Chamberlain said, "Either the German government must give convincing proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace by definite acts and by the provision of effective guarantees of their intention to fulfill their undertakings or we must persevere in our duty to the end.

"It is for Germany to make the choice."

House Shouts, "Hear, Hear!"

As the roar of "Hear, hear" died away, members of the opposition were on their feet demanding a more definite outline of Britain's war aims.

Chamberlain indicated he would make another statement next Wednesday. By then Britain will have had opportunity to receive the new Italian ambassador, Giuseppe Bastianini. Reports from Rome said Bastianini was bearing a communication giving Premier Mussolini's views on peace proposals and an international conference.

[Chamberlain, it was announced, will give a radio address on the international situation tomorrow (Saturday) night.]

Chamberlain read his answer to Hitler in precise emphatic tones—more vigorous and more dramatic than those he usually employs.

Calls Proposals Vague.

He snapped his words as he said the proposals in Hitler's speech were "vague and uncertain and contain no suggestion for righting the wrongs done to Czecho-Slovakia and Poland."

Gripping one hand in the other he added sharply: "We must take it, then, that the proposals which the German chancellor puts forward for the establishment of what he calls the 'certainty of European security' are to be based on recognition of his conquests and his right to do what he pleases with the conquered.

"It would be impossible for Great Britain to accept any such basis without forfeiting her honor and aban-

Berlin Warns Foes of Mass Raids by Bombers.

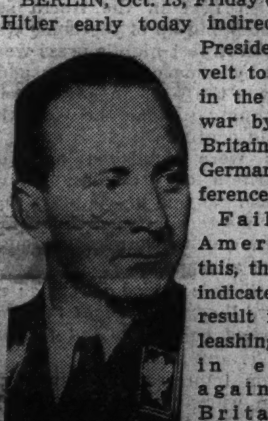
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—The American state department tonight refused to comment on the Nazis' indirect invitation to the President Roosevelt to step in and attempt to stop the European war.



Dr. Otto Dietrich.

BERLIN, Oct. 13, Friday (AP).—Adolf Hitler early today indirectly asked President Roosevelt to intervene in the European war by advising Britain to meet Germany in conference.

Failure of America to do this, the Fuehrer indicated, would result in his unleashing a "war in earnest" against Great Britain and France, producing the "most gruesome blood bath in history."

The Fuehrer's views were given to foreign correspondents by his trusted press chief, Dr. Otto Dietrich, after a conference of several hours which followed a word by word study by Hitler of British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's rejection yesterday of Germany's peace terms.

[Chamberlain had said Britain could not accept Germany's conquest of Poland without loss of honor.]

War on Gigantic Scale.

In brief, Hitler's views were represented as being:

In view of Chamberlain's speech Germany must wage a war on a gigantic scale against Britain and France.

The command for action even yet would be delayed if there should be any indication that President Roosevelt was likely to tell Chamberlain in no uncertain terms that he must express a willingness to meet with Germany in conference.

The clear implication at the conference was that lacking such indications, the German air force, with as many as 800 bombers flying in waves, might be loosed against British ships and coastal points.

Claims Russian, Italian Support.

Russia is ready to support Germany, and Italy is willing either to remain neutral or fight, as the general staffs may decide, Dr. Dietrich said. He therefore regards Germany as unbeatable. The soviet premier and foreign minister, Vyacheslav Molotov, is expected in Nazi quarters to visit Berlin some time this month.

Dr. Dietrich described the Chamberlain speech as "an insolent reply" to the Fuehrer's peace terms as set forth in his reichstag speech last Friday.

[The Fuehrer then said that a major war in the west would be a gross folly, but that Germany never would be beaten; he suggested a conference of European nations to establish security and declared that the Poland of the Versailles treaty never would rise again.]

Summons General Staff.

After studying the speech, the Fuehrer late last night summoned his general staff in preparation for the "war in earnest." Then Dr. Dietrich was called in. Early today he met a small group of foreign correspondents to outline the situation as Hitler sees it.

Dietrich's invitation was the nearest to a direct invitation to President Roosevelt to attempt to solve the European war that has come from the reich.

After Hitler's reichstag speech, informed sources said the head of any neutral state, preferably President Roosevelt, could win a lasting place in history by mediating the conflict.

[The President indicated in a press conference Tuesday that he had no intention of mediating by saying no formal proposals for peace had been communicated to the American government and intimated he could not act on the basis of newspaper reports from Germany.]

could put an end to the war if she unequivocally told Britain she would not support her unless efforts to settle the problems at issue were first made at the council table.

Every German, Dietrich said, was enraged that Chamberlain had nowhere indicated a willingness to talk things over with Germany.

Chamberlain's speech, he said, indicated determination to annihilate the German people.

"Let's see who will be annihilated," the press chief added with a determined snap of his jaw. Germany, in the opinion of other prominent Nazis who joined in the conference, thus far has not even attempted a display of her air powers in the west.

Never were more than two dozen planes massed for an attack, they said. But before Modlin, in Poland, they said, 800 powerdiving bombers had been let loose.

Considers Germany Unbeatable.

A similar number unleashed against British ships and strategic coastal points, they declared, could do untold damage. Dietrich said that with Russia ready to support Germany and Italy willing to remain neutral or become belligerent—whatever might seem better to the general staffs—he considered Germany unbeatable.

It would be easier, he asserted, for Germany to blockade England than for England to starve out Germany.

Dietrich said he regarded Chamberlain's speech as one of the most stupid he had read from any statesman. He declared it was totally void of vision or comprehension of the world situation.

Sees a United People.

The German people would be welded together more closely than ever because of the insolence of that speech and England's apparent determination to try to annihilate Germany, the fuehrer's press chief concluded.

Activity in the air, which Germany believes to be her best ace, was expected to be the first evidence that the war has emerged from one of watchful waiting into a fight to the finish.

This action was awaited against blockading British ships in an effort to establish what for the Nazis is one of their most important strategic problems at present, namely:

"Can the blockade be broken by the combined use of airplanes, submarines and surface craft?"

Wednesday's announcement that bombers had been ordered to attack the British fleet in the North sea and the stepping up of the home war propaganda in last night's press were regarded by some observers as additional signs the German government was beginning to take the view the war would continue.

Stories were published accusing Great Britain of providing Poland with poison gas and proclaiming that Britain's mastery of the North sea had given way to Germany through the use of airplanes.

[Great Britain denied a German report issued Wednesday night that she had supplied gas to Poland for use against German soldiers.]

"London impressed by our bomb attack on warships," one headline said, while Der Angriff, newspaper of Minister of Propaganda Paul Joseph Goebbels, said in large type:

"We show the world in pictures England's mustard gas violation." It published a large picture of a partly bandaged man lying on a cot.

COMPLAIN SPIES IN LUXEMBURG WATCH THE WAR

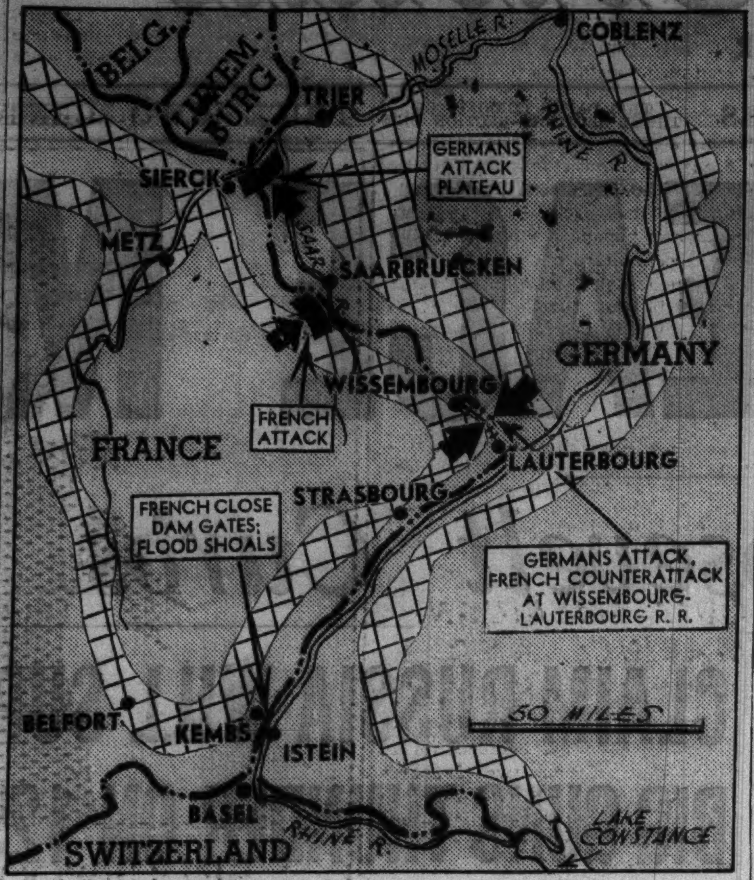
BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE LUXEMBURG-GERMAN BORDER, Oct. 12.—Protests from the German and French governments that spies, disguised as newspapermen, have been watching military operations from neutral Luxemburg today caused the Luxemburg government to redouble the restrictions on the press.

Cameras, binoculars and even automobile road maps will be confiscated if brought near the frontier. The government is investigating the truth of the complaints.

Action on Western Front



French forces on the western front yesterday ended five days of defensive maneuvers and launched an attack on a 125 mile front between the Moselle and Rhine rivers. The French were pressing toward Saarbruecken, key city of the German Saar.

WARRING NATIONS DROWN LATINS IN FLOOD OF WORDS

Argentina Is Center of Propaganda Battle.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 12 (AP).—Europe's warring nations are conducting an intense propaganda battle in South America. A heavy foreign population and huge commercial interests of both factions in South America—particularly Argentina—make this continent fertile soil for such conflict.

Using every possible means of information from newspapers, radio broadcasters and signboards to common whispering campaigns, British, French and German propaganda workers daily hurl barrages of anti-Nazi and pro-Nazi stories at the people of the American republics.

Battle in the Open.

In Argentina the German and British governments carry on their battle of words openly through regular information releases. The British official wireless report in expanded form is translated into Spanish and distributed daily to any one interested.

The German embassy makes regular releases of news about the war to Argentine newspapers and other publications. Buenos Aires, center of European shipping and the residence of thousands of Germans, English, Poles and other Europeans, became a hotbed of propaganda with the opening of war.

Calls Reichstag "Liars in Council."

The city's two German language newspapers—one pro-, the other anti-Nazi—added Spanish sections to their editions. The anti-Hitler paper distributes pamphlets published in Spanish and English.

The most bitter of the English newspapers described the most recent session of the German reichstag as "liars in council." One pro-Nazi paper referred to the British as "ladrones"—Spanish for thieves.

ILLINOIS NEWSPAPER OWNERS BACK ARMS EMBARGO, 335 TO 16

H. L. Williamson, chairman of the executive committee of the Illinois Press association and Republican state central committeeman from Springfield, announced yesterday that Illinois newspaper owners, by an overwhelming vote of 335 to 16, oppose repeal of the arms embargo.

Williamson said he sent questionnaires to more than 700 owners of daily and weekly newspapers throughout the state two weeks ago and by yesterday had received 368 replies. The vote, he said, stands: Against repeal, 335; for repeal, 16, and undecided, 17.

4,000 HEAR PLEA FOR NEUTRALITY IN ARMORY RITES

America's course "is to stay out of Europe," State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis said last night. He spoke before 4,000 persons at the formal dedication of Waukegan's new armory.

The armory stands at Glen Flora avenue and New York street, and was completed at a cost of $299,687. Of this cost, the Work Projects administration contributed $210,427, and the state armory board $89,260. The armory will be the home of two companies of the 129th infantry, Illinois National Guard.

Other speakers were Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding officer of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard; Mayor Mancel Talcott, of Waukegan; Fred Brown Whitney, whose family donated the land on which the armory was built, and W. S. McMaster, of the state WPA. Observation planes and antiaircraft searchlights lent a military touch to the ceremonies.

Government Will Seek Further Loans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12.—Canadian Finance Minister J. L. Ralston tonight announced the government will borrow $200,000,000 immediately from Canadian banks and indicated the government would enter the public market for further war loans. The $200,000,000 will be borrowed for a two year period and notes for it will bear interest at 2 per cent.

This followed the policy announced in the budget speech during the special war session of parliament in September of avoiding going into the public loan market "until the initial effects of war expenditures and purchases by other governments in this country had begun to stimulate production and expand the volume of public savings."

Parties to Fight Conscription.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 12 [Canadian Press].—Conscription became the chief issue in the Oct. 25 Quebec provincial election today. Paul Gouin, leader of L'Action Liberale Nationale, warned that if his party were elected any attempt to impose conscription "would put an end to the confederation pact."

"Once elected, if Ottawa wants to engage Canada in an unlimited participation we shall block the road," Gouin said. "And, I'll go even further—and I am not a Separatist—but if conscriptiton is imposed upon us by whatever government is in power in Montreal, our vital interests will compel us to put an end to the confederation pact."

Duplessis Fights Conscription.

Premier Maurice Duplessis spoke along similar lines at a rally in St. Johns, asserting the "Union Nationale government is the only safeguard against conscription" and that "a vote for Duplessis is a vote against conscription."

Train 6,000 Pilots Yearly.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12 [Canadian Press].—Government officials today said Britain's program to make Canada the air training center of the empire would be geared to produce from 6,000 to 20,000 military pilots a year.

Pilots from Canada, Britain, Australia, and New Zealand will be trained in Canada. The Royal Canadian air force training program will turn out pilots in 28 weeks instead of the usual 50 weeks required in peace time.

Polish General Safe in Paris After Escaping as Civilian

REDS SAY QUESTIONS OF TRADE WITH NAZIS HAVE BEEN SETTLED

MOSCOW, Oct. 12 (AP).—It was announced tonight that soviet negotiators and the German trade delegation here had "settled the questions under discussion." No further details were given.

Foreign circles remained skeptical whether the soviet could export goods to Germany in the desired quantities.

According to official figures released today, industrial production for the first nine months of the year was put at 67,947,600,000 rubles [about $13,500,000,000], a gain of 15.6 per cent over the corresponding period in 1938, but machine building and war industries accounted for the largest share. This item was put at 20,554,400,000 rubles [about $4,100,000,000], a 29.2 per cent gain over the 1938 period.

STATE COMMERCE CHAMBER VOICES WAR OPPOSITION

Directors of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, at their annual meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution declaring themselves "unalterably opposed to involvement of our country in war."

The resolution, made public by C. G. Ferris, executive vice president, asserted that the primary function of business is to supply human needs such as those for food, clothing, and housing.

"We feel it our duty to disabuse the public mind of even a suspicion that business wants war," the resolution said. "It [business] realizes that profits arising from war orders or from speculative activity growing out of war can easily turn out to be liabilities. We want no part in the development of a war psychology which may threaten domestic economy, eliminate civil liberty, and relegate civilization to the dark ages."

BREMEN'S DASH TO SAFETY TOLD BY DUTCH SAILOR

[Copyright: 1939: By the Associated Press.]

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 12.—A hasty disguise and the swirling mists of the north Atlantic helped the German merchant flagship Bremen make a perilous voyage through strange waters and reach safe harbor in the Russian arctic port of Murmansk, a member of her crew related today.

The crewman was E. Post, tall, blond, seagoing cook, and the only Netherlander aboard the $20,000,000 liner.

In an interview with the Amsterdam newspaper Het Volk, Post told of the repainting of the ship at sea after her delayed departure from New York Aug. 30, of the anxiety aboard and finally of the Bremen's reaching Murmansk with the hammer and sickle flying.

[The Bremen was held in New York two days while American customs men searched her for possible armaments and finally sailed 36 hours before Germany invaded Poland.]

Dodges British Blockade.

Without passengers or cargo, but with 900 seamen, Capt. Adolf Ahrens was reported by Post to have dodged the British blockade with gasoline drums on the deck of his ship, ready to burn and sink her if need be.

"It doesn't look very good for us," Post quoted the captain as telling the crew. "I've sworn that the English will not seize me and my ship while I'm alive. I would rather sink the Bremen."

Without slackening speed, the ship received a complete coat of dull gray paint. She refused to answer wireless calls and at night she ran without lights.

"The first morning out," said the cook, "everybody who had nothing more urgent to do, including butchers, stewards and cooks, plus a few sailors, all got pots of gray paint. Lifeboats were swung out and the men applied the paint to the sides of the ship, wielding paint brushes with long handles.

"Paint or Drown."

"In no time the Bremen was not the Bremen any more. You may have heard 'pump or drown,' but we had to 'paint or drown.'"

Post brought home some photographs of this work, including one in which he alone was not giving the Nazi salute.

When the job was done, he said, "in the mist at 200 meters [656 feet] you could not have seen the Bremen."

"Among the members of the crew there came a terrible tension," recalled Post, "as nobody knew where we were going.

"Later, in the day of Sept. 3, we were all called together in a large salon. The captain, standing in the center, said, 'Men, war in Europe has started.'"

Fails to Give Salute.

After Post told of plans to sink the ship should capture seem certain, "everybody gave the Nazi salute except myself, the only Hollander on board. For, to be frank, the prospect of disappearing below the surface for good didn't attract me very much."

Every precaution for the safety of the crew was taken, however, the men abandoning their usual quarters in the forecastle for fear of collision. Post said regular lifeboat drills were held.

After a few days in the murky weather, Post said, "from the icy cold we concluded we were far up north.

"We were again called together by the captain, who told us that between England and Iceland there was a watch of English ships every 10 miles."

Listen for Alarm Signals.

"All day we were listening for alarm signals which were set up everywhere in the ship."

"Under these circumstances we got very little sleep," the cook said. "We did not undress, as at any moment we might come across a trawler or some other vessel which might seize us. Numb with cold, sailors were on the lookout in the crow's nest or on the foreship.

"At last we learned we were somewhere between Iceland and Spitzbergen. On the morning of Sept. 6, three days after the outbreak of war, we sighted the coast of Murmansk.

Route of Bremen's Escape

German Liner Reported Captured

The German liner Cap Norte, reported captured in the South Atlantic by the British. The liner was reported captured near the Bahamas.

SOLVE MYSTERY OF DISAPPEARING GERMAN VESSELS

Seized by British Near South America.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 12.—Several German merchant vessels which disappeared mysteriously are safely at anchor at Port Stanley in the Falkland Islands, it was learned today. Port Stanley has been made the headquarters of British naval operations in the South Atlantic and South Pacific.

At least three British cruisers and two destroyers are in the South Atlantic, and two cruisers and two destroyers are in the South Pacific.

Crews Being Interned.

They are capturing German ships and taking them to Port Stanley, where the vessels are dismantled and the crews interned. The British are recruiting volunteers in Argentina to guard the prisoners. The Falklands, although British controled, also are claimed by Argentina.

The Falklands are well within the 300 mile safety zone established at the Panama conference. Diplomatic sources say, however, that it is practically certain that Britain never will recognize any safety zone around the American continents which limits operations of its fleet at the Falklands, which proved a valuable base during the world war.

Churchill Admits Error.

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, today acknowledged he had erred in announcing capture of a German submarine commander who sent him a personal SOS on behalf of the torpedoed British ship Firby Sept. 11.

"I was informed by competent authorities," Churchill said, "that the facts were as stated by me [in the house of commons Sept. 26], and that the officer who sank the Firby had been made prisoner. Subsequent examination of the U-boat prisoners of war in our custody at the present time has not, however, confirmed this first assumption."

1,536 Reach New York Aboard Liner Washington

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—The United States liner Washington arrived from Southampton and Le Verdon today and docked 1,536 passengers. Among those aboard were Lord Dudleigh Leigh Marley, deputy speaker of the house of lords; Barbara Blair, American actress who has been appearing in British movies, and Florence Greene, returning after three years of music study. Also aboard were five Bedlington terrier puppies, imported here and picked up at the pier by Mrs. C. M. Willemson of Summit, N. Y.

May Have Been Raider

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—The British Press association today reported the navy had captured the German liner Cap Norte in the south Atlantic.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, hinted at the seizure yesterday when he told the house of commons that from Sept. 24 to Oct. 9 Britain had taken 13,615 tons of enemy shipping. This is the exact tonnage of the Cap Norte, which sailed from Pernambuco, Brazil, Sept. 17, believed to be carrying foodstuffs and petroleum products, including 2,500 tons of crude oil.

Beyond saying the capture occurred in the South Atlantic the press association gave no details.

[In Rio de Janeiro a reliable informant yesterday said the Cap Norte was caught by British warships near the Bahamas, which lie east of the southern United States, their nearest point being about 75 miles from Florida.]

Shipping circles considered it possible that the Cap Norte was the German raider which sank the 5,051 ton British freighter Clement off Brazil Oct. 1.

One of the fastest vessels in the South American trade, the Cap Norte, properly armed, would have made a good raider, shippers said.

If the Cap Norte was captured off the Bahamas, the seizure took place well within the neutral safety zone established at the recent Panama conference. The zone, however, exempted territorial waters of possessions of European powers.

SEA BATTLE TOLD BY SKIPPER OF FISHING VESSEL

Trapped in Nazi Air Raid on British Fleet.

ALESUND, Norway, Oct. 12 (AP).—The skipper of a Norwegian fishing boat came into port today with a hair-raising story of having ridden out a major naval engagement Monday between British warships and German bombing planes in the North sea.

For an hour and a half, the captain said, his sturdy little boat, the Kvaloy, was caught in the thundering battle participated in by five British ships and 150 German planes.

So far as he and his crew could see, neither ships nor planes scored hits. The captain related, however, that after the warships steamed away there was a terrific explosion and a column of fire spurted skyward.

[The German admiralty reported its planes scored 10 direct hits in a North sea battle Monday. The British admiralty agreed there had been a battle, but said the German bombs fell hundreds of yards away from the warships and that there was no damage or casualties.]

Describes Battle.

The fishing boat captain said he was going quietly about his nets off the Viking bank when the warplanes roared out.

As the warships approached close to his boat the planes began raining bombs and the ships' pom pom guns began chattering a reply. The Kvaloy attempted to steer to the west, but the warships did likewise.

Finally, the captain said, the warships, which had followed a zigzag course during the battle, withdrew and the bombers roared away.

Germans Use Battleship Decoys.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were used as decoys to lure the British fleet into position for the air attack staged off the Norwegian coast on Monday, it was revealed authoritatively today.

The two warships were sent out to the North sea from Wilhelmshaven, where they cruised northward until discovered by British planes.

The main unit of the British fleet, comprising two 35,000 ton battleships, five heavy cruisers and a number of lighter craft, it was said, set out in pursuit.

Attack from Two Directions.

When they were sighted by British scouting planes the two German warships turned about and headed for home while German bombing squadrons roared out from an airport in northwestern Germany.

The attack, according to the Germans, lasted two hours and took place from two directions. The air fleet first opened a heavy attack from the east, then followed with another from the northwest. The number of planes used was not revealed, but the Germans have not denied the British report that more than 100 bombs were dropped.

Japs Occupy Bank Building in British Area in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (AP).—Twenty armed Japanese plain clothes men today occupied the building of the Bank of Communications—a Chinese government bank—in the British defense sector of the international settlement. The British forces took no immediate action. The plain clothes men were reported to have smashed doors and caused other damage. Occupation of the building created a delicate situation, since any attempt at ejection might broaden the affair into another British-Japanese dispute.

"German Soldiers!

"We stand against you again with weapons in our hands as in 1914. Your leader began the war and on Sept. 3 gave the following reasons:

"'We have nothing to lose and everything to gain.'

"German comrades! Another will than our own drives us to combat.

"We want to gain nothing, we want to protect what is holy to us: our homeland, the right to live as we will, our freedom.

"We are not carrying on war against your people but against a system which in 1938 assaulted Austria and Bohemia in the deepest of peace; which in the spring of 1939 took possession of Prague, and which now attacks Poland, a system that wishes to submit the whole world to its barbaric dictator.

"Now the world has arisen and—have no doubt of it—it will overcome the peace disturber and aggressor.

"The world is united. Poland, France and England receive the help of all peoples. Japan has deserted the Fuehrer, Rome is neutral.

"German comrades, defend yourself against the most stupid and criminal of all wars! Down with the Hitler war!

"Refuse to give help to a system that oppresses your own people, holds hundreds of thousands in prison, and wishes to carry you along in its collapse."

GERMANY USING DOVE OF PEACE'S 'COUSIN' IN WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—Carrier pigeons played an important part in the German campaign in Poland despite mechanized modern warfare, the Berlin Nachtausgabe revealed today. The pigeons were used chiefly by scouting planes. The flyers sent photographs they had taken back to headquarters via carrier pigeons while continuing their reconnoitering.

Twelve hundred pigeons are being trained in the Spandau suburb of Berlin for the war on the western front. The Germans use carrier pigeons to convey messages, photos, and military maps in both directions over 80 miles.

The report concludes: "Even if the dove of peace has refused its services to the nation, the little war dove has done its part in the lightning campaign against Poland. This is sufficient reason to pay tribute to the dove in our joy over our victory."

QUIZ AMERICAN MARINES AND 2 JAPS AFTER FIGHT

TIENTSIN, Oct. 12 (AP).—The task of sifting conflicting evidence on an altercation between two Japanese railway policemen and two American marines was turned over to a special board today by officers of the United States garrison.

The policemen were wounded in the fight, which occurred yesterday as the marines were standing guard over freight cars loaded with supplies. One of the policemen was reported wounded in the thigh when he drew a sword, the other struck with a revolver butt.

One of the marines, Marcell Szymansky, 21 years old, from Lorain, O., was taken into Japanese custody, but was released today. The other, John V. Armonia, 26, Philadelphia, was said to have left the scene after the clash.

New Italian Ambassador to Britain Leaves for Post

ROME, Oct. 12 (AP).—Giuseppe Bastianini, new Italian ambassador to London, left by train today to assume his post. Italian cabinet ministers and members of the diplomatic corps here bade him farewell.

[A dispatch from Rome by Reuters, British news agency, said Bastianini was understood to be bearing a communication of Italy's views on proposals for ending the war and for calling an international conference.]

BRITISH REFUSE PEACE BASED ON NAZI CONQUESTS

Chamberlain Calls for 'Effective Guarantees.'

doning her claim that international disputes should be settled by discussion and not by force."

SEE DOOR LEFT OPEN

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 12.—After a careful study of Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech to the house of commons, some political observers tonight expressed a belief that he had left the door open for possible peace negotiations.

These observers cited Chamberlain's demand for "guaranteed security" as a prelude to a peace settlement. They recalled that Premier Edouard Daladier of France had made a similar demand in his speech to the French nation on Tuesday.

Just what sort of guarantees the British and French have in mind was not disclosed. Some diplomats speculated on whether they mean an invitation to American and soviet Russia to guarantee that any peaceful agreement reached is fulfilled.

Refer to Passage in Speech.

The diplomats referred to this passage in Chamberlain's speech: "Whatever may be the issue in the present struggle and in whatever way it may be brought to a conclusion, the world will not be the same world that we have known before. Looking to the future, we can see that deep changes will inevitably leave their mark on every field of men's thought and action, and if humanity is to guide aright the new forces that will be in operation, all nations will have their part to play."

Chamberlain placed emphasis on "all nations."

The prime minister called for an act on the part of Adolf Hitler that would enable the French and British to respond to any peace overtures. There has been talk in the neutral press that Hitler has something of this kind up his sleeve.

Avoids Mention of Hitlerism.

Some observers said Chamberlain had not been specific in British war aims, as he had been called upon to do. The prime minister refrained from citing "suppression of Hitlerism" as one of these aims. He did not mention Hitlerism.

Britain's war aims, as defined by Chamberlain, appeared to be general, these observers said. They are:

1—Defense of freedom and the placing of the peaceful existence of Great Britain, its dominions, India, the rest of the British empire, France, and all small nations beyond jeopardy.

2—The laying of the foundation of a better international system.

3—That peace must be a real and lasting peace and not an uneasy truce interrupted by alarms and threats.

TEXT OF SPEECH

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—The text of Prime Minister Chamberlain's house of commons speech today, his sixth weekly war report, follows:

"Last week in speaking of the announcement about the Russo-German pact, I observed that it contained a suggestion that some peace proposals were likely to be put forward and I said that if such proved to be the case we should examine them in consultation with the governments of the dominions and of the French republic in the light of certain relevant considerations.

"Since then the German chancellor has made his speech and the consultations I referred to have taken place.

"I must now state the position of his majesty's government.

"Before, however, I inform the house of the results of our examination of the speech, I must ask the honorable members to recall for a few moments the background against which his proposals appear.

"At the end of August his majesty's government were actively engaged in correspondence with the German government on the subject of Poland.

"It was evident that the situation was dangerous, but we believed that it should be possible to arrive at a peaceful solution if passions were not deliberately stimulated and we felt quite certain that the German government could, if they desired, influence their friends in Danzig in such a way as to bring about a relaxation of tension and so create conditions favorable to calm and sober negotiations.

Cites Hitler's Plea for Peace.

"It will be remembered that in the course of this correspondence the German chancellor expressed his wish for improved relations between our two countries as soon as the Polish question was settled, to which his majesty's government replied that they fully shared the wish but that everything turned on the nature and method of settlement with Poland.

"We pointed out that a forcible solution would inevitably involve the fulfilment of our obligations to Poland and we begged the German chancellor to enter into direct discussion with the Polish government in which the latter government had already expressed its willingness to take part.

"As everybody knows, these efforts on the part of his majesty's government to avoid war and the use of force were in vain.

"In August last the President of the United States made an appeal to Herr Hitler to settle his differences with Poland by pacific means in order to prevent war breaking out in Europe.

"At about the same time the king of the Belgians, the queen of the Netherlands, His Holiness the pope, and Sig. Mussolini all tendered their good offices, but equally in vain.

"It is evident now that Herr Hitler was determined to make war on Poland. . . .

"On Sept. 1 Herr Hitler violated the Polish frontier and invaded Poland, beating down by force of arms and machinery the resistance of the Polish nation and army.

Says Civilians Were Slaughtered.

"As attested by neutral observers, Polish towns and villages were bombed and shelled into ruins and civilians were slaughtered wholesale in contravention, at any rate in the later stages, of all the undertakings of which Herr Hitler now speaks with pride as though he had fulfilled them.

"It is after this wanton act of aggression, which has cost so many Polish and German lives sacrificed to satisfy his own insistence on the use of force, that the German chancellor now puts forward his proposals.

"If there existed any expectation that in these proposals would be included some attempt to make amend for this grievous crime against humanity, following so soon upon the violation of the rights of the Czecho-Slovak nation, it has been doomed to disappointment.

"Poland Covered with Abuse."

"The Polish state and its leaders are covered with abuse.

"What the fate of that part of Poland which Herr Hitler described as the German sphere of interest is to be does not clearly emerge from his speech, but it is evident that he regards it as a matter for the consideration of Germany alone, to be settled solely in accordance with German interests.

"The final shaping of this territory and the question of the restoration of a Polish state are, in Herr Hitler's view, problems which cannot be settled by war in the west but exclusively by Russia on the one side and Germany on the other.

"We must take it, then, that the proposals which the German chancellor puts forward for the establishment of what he calls 'the certainty of European security' are to be based on recognition of his conquests and his right to do what he pleases with the conquered.

"It would be impossible for Great Britain to accept any such basis without forfeiting her honor and abandoning her claim that international disputes should be settled by discussion and not by force.

"The passages in the speech designed to give fresh assurances to Herr Hitler's neighbors I pass over since they will know what value should be attached to them by reference to the similar assurances he has given in the past.

"It would be easy to quote sentences from his speeches in 1935, 1936, and 1938 stating in the most definite terms his determination not to annex Austria or conclude an anschluss [union] with her, not to fall upon Czecho-Slovakia and not to make any further territorial claims in Europe after the Sudetenland question had been settled in September, 1938.

Calls Hitler Unreliable.

"Nor can we pass over Herr Hitler's radical departure from the long professed principles of his policy and creed, as instanced by the inclusion in the German reich of many millions of Poles and Czechs despite his repeated professions to the contrary and by the pact with the soviet union, concluded after his repeated and violent denunciation of bolshevism.

"This repeated disregard of his word and these sudden reversals of policy bring me to the fundamental difficulty in dealing with the wider proposals in the German chancellor's speech. The plain truth is that, after our past experience, it is no longer possible to rely upon the unsupported word of the present German government.

"It is no part of our policy to exclude from her rightful place in Europe a Germany which will live in amity and confidence with other nations. On the contrary, we believe that no effective remedy can be found for the world's ills that does not take account of the just claims and needs of all countries, and whenever the time may come to draw the lines of a new peace settlement, his majesty's government would feel that the future would hold little hope unless such a settlement could be reached through the method of negotiation and agreement.

"It was not, therefore, with any vindictive purpose that we embarked on war, but simply in defense of freedom. It is not alone the freedom of the small nations that is at stake; there is also in jeopardy the peaceful existence of Great Britain, the dominions, India, the rest of the British empire, France, and indeed of all freedom loving countries. Whatever may be the issue of the present struggle, and in whatever way it may be brought to a conclusion, the world will not be the same world that we have known before.

Says All Will Suffer.

"Looking to the future, we can see that deep changes will inevitably leave their mark on every field of men's thought and action, and if humanity is to guide aright the new forces that will be in operation, all nations will have their part to play.

"His majesty's government knows all too well that in modern war between great powers, victor and vanquished must alike suffer cruel loss. But surrender to wrongdoing would spell the extinction of all hope and the annihilation of all those values of life which have through centuries been at once the mark and the inspiration of human progress.

"We seek no material advantages for ourselves; we desire nothing from the German people which should offend their selfrespect. We are not aiming only at victory, but rather looking beyond it to the laying of a foundation of a better international system which will mean that war is not to be the inevitable lot of every succeeding generation.

Voices Longing for Peace.

"I am certain that all the peoples of Europe, including the people of Germany, long for peace. A peace which will enable them to live their lives without fear and to devote their energies and their gifts to the development of their culture, the pursuit of their ideals, and the improvement of their material prosperity. The peace which we are determined to secure, however, must be a real and settled peace, not an uneasy truce interrupted by constant alarms and repeated threats.

"What stands in the way of such a peace? It is the German government, and the German government alone, for it is they who by repeated acts of aggression have robbed all Europe of tranquillity and implanted in the hearts of all their neighbors an ever present sense of insecurity and fear.

"I am glad to think that there is complete agreement between the views of his majesty's government and those of the French government. The honorable members will have read the speech which was broadcast by M. Daladier [French premier] last Tuesday.

Quotes Daladier's Speech.

"'We have,' he said, 'taken up arms against aggression; we shall not lay them down until we have sure guarantees of security — a security which cannot be called in question every six months.'

"Advantage has also been taken of the presence of the Polish foreign minister—whom we have been glad to welcome to this country—to consult with the Polish government, and I am happy to say that we have found entire identity of view to exist between us.

"Herr Hitler rejected all suggestions for peace until he had overwhelmed Poland, as he had previously overthrown Czecho-Slovakia. Peace conditions cannot be acceptable which begin by condoning aggression.

"The proposals in the German chancellor's speech are vague and uncertain, and contain no suggestion for righting the wrongs done to Czecho-Slovakia and to Poland.

"Even if Herr Hitler's proposals were more closely defined and contained suggestions to right these wrongs, it would still be necessary to ask by what practical means the German government intend to convince the world that aggression will cease and that pledges will be kept. Past experience has shown that no reliance can be placed upon the promises of the present German government. Accordingly, acts—not words alone—must be forthcoming before we, the British peoples, and France, our gallant and trusted ally, would be justified in ceasing to wage war to the utmost of our strength.

Demands Convincing Proof.

"Only when world confidence is restored will it be possible to find—as we would wish to do with the aid of all who show good will—solutions of those questions which disturb the world; which stand in the way of disarmament, retard the restoration of trade, and prevent the improvement of the wellbeing of the peoples.

"There is thus a primary condition to be satisfied. Only the German government can fulfill it. . . .

"The issue is therefore plain. Either the German government must give convincing proof of the sincerity of their desire for peace by definite acts and by the provision of effective guarantees of their intention to fulfill their undertakings, or we must persevere in our duty to the end. It is for Germany to make her choice."

4 COUNTRIES ASK SOVIET TO AVOID BREAK WITH FINNS

America Backs Up Plea of Scandinavians.

speech from Helsingfors to New York.]

Erkko, however, delivered the same speech to an all-Scandinavian audience. He told his listeners that Finland had taken precautionary measures, but that they "do not imply that Finland has given up her will to peace. Their purpose is to show that she cannot submit or comply with dictates of an outside factor which would result in her international and political activity being dependent on something other than her own free will.

"Finland has full right, with all the more reason because she is a small country, to expect other nations to respect her integrity and not to threaten her safety," Erkko said.

Praises American Support.

He praised the United States as a "great and free nation . . . from which other nations, animated by the same democratic ideas, draw strong moral support. There are few people that have such close relations and understand each other so well as the United States and Finland."

Erkko said Finland belonged to the Scandinavian group of nations which declared their neutrality at the beginning of the European war and asserted "the policy and aims of the republic of Finland do not threaten any other country."

In an earlier interview Erkko said: "Modern neutrality is active neutrality. If a neutral country cannot defend itself against threats, then it no longer is neutral and independent."

An editorial of the Helsingfors newspaper Uuso Suomi said:

"Any attempt to force us to give up our neutral position and force us into some kind of a new political scheme will receive absolute and uncompromising opposition. That sort of kowtowing position into which the Baltic countries [Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania] have been put, is absolutely out of the question here."

Barracks Being Built.

Long lines of women and children were fleeing Viipuri, Helsingfors and Tampere [Tammerfors] to the safer environs of the countryside. Barracks were going up in some sections of Helsingfors to house the civil guards.

Women and young girls in the cotton uniform of the women's division of the civil guards appeared on the streets in ever growing numbers.

Fortifications on the Russian border, where soviet troops have been reported massing, were strengthened. In the more thickly populated cities, air raid precautions were well under way with some streets dotted with mounds of earth from freshly built dugouts.

Funds for an information service were set aside. The government clamped heavy restriction on the use of codes in sending messages to foreign countries—a precaution against possible espionage.

It restricted the shipment of currency by mail and organized a voluntary defense organization. This group will begin supervising the cleaning of attics as a fire prevention safeguard in the event of air raids. Its workers, to be recruited from among college students and Boy Scouts, also will handle orders for gas masks and helmets.

American Plea Presented.

MOSCOW, Oct. 12 (AP).—Finland, summoned to the soviet Russian council table to hear how the Kremlin's Baltic plans affect her, received a supporting hand from the United States of America today.

American Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt was closeted at the Kremlin for an hour just before the Finnish delegate paid his first formal visit.

Reliable sources said Steinhardt, on instructions from Washington, D. C., urged the soviet premier and foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov not to make Russia's prospective demands on Finland so sweeping as to affect their peaceful relations.

After the Steinhardt interview Molotov received the ministers of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark. Though they were received separately, they presented notes identical in text, which declared the three Scandinavian countries expected "nothing to occur which would prevent Finland from continuing independently to maintain her neutral position."

Present Scandinavian Notes.

The Finnish delegation, headed by Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi, afterward went to the Kremlin for an hour's preliminary meeting with Molotov, Dictator Josef Stalin, Assistant Foreign Commissar Vladimir Potemkin, and Vladimir Dereviânski, Russian minister to Finland.

Besides Dr. Paasikivi, the Finnish conferees included Baron A. S. Yrjo-Koskinen, Finland's minister to Moscow, and two experts from the Finnish foreign office.

The treaty, signed in Moscow on Tuesday, transfers the ancient Lithuanian capital of Vilna and Vilna region to Lithuania and gives Russia the right to have air bases and troop stations in Lithuania.

Lithuania has announced that, with Russian support, she will take steps to regain rights in Memel, which was absorbed only a few months ago by Nazi Germany, it is reported.

MOST REFUGEES REPORTED NOW BACK IN AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The state department announced today that "the great majority of American citizens in Europe who required transportation have been taken care of."

As evidence of this the department pointed to the fact that the steamship Acadia left Cobh, Ireland, yesterday with only 520 passengers, although she has a maximum capacity of 860.

The St. John will sail from England on Saturday and is waiting to obtain a full booking.

"These facts," it was stated, "confirm the department's information that each American citizen in belligerent countries desiring to come back has had an opportunity to return to the United States."

It was stated further that 6,182 passengers arrived in New York from Europe for the week ended Oct. 6.

AMERICAN PLEA IN FINNS' BEHALF MADE TO RUSSIA

Envoy Calls on Premier in Moscow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—The United States has expressed to soviet Russia its "earnest hope" that nothing may occur that would be calculated to affect injuriously the peaceful relations between soviet Russia and Finland, the state department announced late today.

The official confirmation of the action came after earlier intimation that such action was planned. The action of this government was entirely independent of other countries, according to the department. This was aimed to offset reports that the United States would collaborate with Norway, Sweden, and Denmark on the Russian demands in Finland.

Instructions covering the American representations were sent to Laurence Steinhardt, American ambassador at Moscow, but the official confirmation was withheld until receipt of a report from Steinhardt on his conversations with the soviet government.

Steinhardt Sees Molotoff.

Dispatches from Moscow today said that Steinhardt had conferred for an hour today with V. A. Molotoff, premier and foreign commissar of soviet Russia, and just shortly before the Russians resumed conferences with a special Finnish envoy called to Moscow to discuss important problems in the Baltic area. The Russian demands are believed to include a desire of the soviet for naval and air bases on Finnish islands.

The United States government had first desired to wait until there were definite results from the conversations between Russia and Finland, but the massing of troops along the Finnish-Russian border made immediate action more imperative, lest a breakdown in negotiations might be followed by military action.

This is the second step taken concerning Russia by the state department within the last ten days. The first was the refusal to recognize the conquest of Poland.

Recalls Finland's Debt Record.

The Finnish situation has caused particular concern here because of Finland's popularity in this country through regular payments on her war debts to the United States, while other debtors defaulted.

Collaboration in the decision to file separate appeals with Moscow was seen here, however, with dispatches from Copenhagen that Denmark, Sweden, and Norway had presented individual declarations to Russia which were virtually identical in text.

Moreover, the ministers here from the Scandinavian countries have conferred with the state department on the same subject. The Danish minister called at the department today and the Swedish and Norwegian ministers were there yesterday.

Transmission difficulties "blacked out" the radio speech Eljas Erkko, foreign minister of Finland and former ambassador to Washington, attempted to address to this country at 5:30 p. m. [Chicago time] tonight.

TELLS CONFUSION OF POLES CAUSED BY RED INVASION

Many Fleeing from Nazis Make an About Face.

(This is another of a series of dispatches by Alex Small, who was The Tribune's correspondent in Poland. In previous articles he told of the flight of the government from Warsaw and the flight of refugees ahead of the German invasion. Mr. Small isis writing his dispatches from Amsterdam to avoid censorship.)

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 12.—The evening of Sept. 17 I was enjoying to the fullest the hospitality of the secretary of the communal administration at Sarny, in eastern Poland. I was crammed with distressful bread and was torpid. So torpid, in fact, that I hardly heard the telephone ring in another room and only after half an hour became conscious of the fact that our friend Eltar an official of the Polish foreign office, had disappeared.

In an adjoining room I found him talking in low tones with the secretary. Both looked as if they had just received news that their family and fortune had been swept in a tidal wave. Then they broke the bad news.

"That phone call," Eltar told me, "was from the district administrator. The Russians invaded Poland this morning. We have not confirmed the report that they already have taken possession of the city of Rowne without a struggle. But, in any case, it is certain that they are at Rokitno."

Reds Close at Hand.

Here was a really appalling prospect. Rokitno, I knew, was about 9.3 miles inside Poland, indicating the depth of the Russian advance that day. From Rokitno to Sarny there were both a railway and a road—a good road for east Poland. And Rokitno was only 29 miles straight east of us. At the latest the Russians might be expected at Sarny by the next noon. They might also be closer than we thought and at any moment we could expect to hear the boom of guns from that Polish defense line along the Slucz river.

There was a hurried council and it was decided that we would leave Sarny at once and proceed to a village 6 miles to the south, lying outside the defense lines. There we would collect our wits and decide on our next move. For myself and the other American with me one decision already had been taken—on no condition would we fall into the hands of the bolsheviks without a struggle.

Drive Off Into Rain.

A horse and buggy already were standing in front of the door and we two, Eltar, and the secretary drove off into the night and gusts of rain. The communal secretary, who was driving, answered with one brief yell all challenges from volunteer sentries, and we rattled down one of the rare stonepaved roads in the region. We reached a little town named—I think—Konstancin, the same as the Warsaw suburb where American Ambassador Anthony Drexel Biddle Jr. got his first bombing.

On the way I did some concentrated thinking. My first reaction after the wild excitement was to believe that the news of the Reds' approach was not true. I had heard too many wild rumors and scares from the Poles. Then I was struck with evidence the other way. The official, who had made the phone call, was an important and responsible official, appointed by the central government—quite different from the minor officials with whom we had been dealing.

Then I remembered other circumstances which fatigue had prevented me considering. More than a week before we had heard fairly reliable reports of Russian mobilization but at the moment I had supposed it to be without significance because there are so many mobilizations in Europe.

But there had been those mysterious reconnoitering airplane flights without bombing along the Poles' defense line which we had been noticing all day. And there had been that hustle and activity around the forts on the Slucz river which had puzzled me. The conclusion was that the bad news was entirely probable.

We drove into a big barnyard where I felt the presence of other buggies, farm carts and groups of anxious men whispering. In the dark we were introduced to the little town's headman. His community being of more importance than that of a village he had a higher rank than a "soltys." He was the "wojt."

Hears Radio Broadcast.

Prominent citizens of the town were in the parlor of the wojt's house and we were invited in. From a circle of dim light cast by one flickering oil lamp the faces of women emerged. They were pacing up and down, sobbing softly and wringing their hands hysterically. A priest was walking about trying to comfort the more nervous women. The men were looking at each other blankly, muttering incoherent phrases about the "end of Poland" and the "fourth partition."

Luckily there was a radio and I listened to the Moscow announcer broadcasting in French. The voice was familiar and I was sure I had heard it many times before. This was an important point in my conviction that the news was true because many radio hoaxes already had been perpetrated in the Polish war. The Germans especially liked to broadcast on the same wave length of the Polish stations and pretend that they were Poles giving out news.

Names Towns Occupied.

The man in Moscow was telling how the decision had been taken to enter Poland "where anarchy prevailed and to liberate their oppressed Russian brothers from the Polish terror." Then he mentioned communities occupied on that first day and some of the names I recognized and Rokitno was among them.

The radio swept away my lingering doubts and I asked my Polish friends what they intended to do. Most of them were too paralyzed to have any ideas. They were Polish officials among a Ukrainian population. The majority of the Ukrainians, as I knew, were favorable to the Polish administration for the great improvement in living conditions that it had brought them—in fact the Polish republic's greatest and most meritorious efforts were made in the regions of the east. But, at the same time, any official stirs up rancors, and these men expected any animosities to come to light even before the Russian troops were in sight.

Face Jail or Death.

In any case they saw their life's work ruined. The bolsheviks, they knew, would dispossess them. Some would be victims of local grudge bearers and face a bolshevik jail or even death.

Our friend Eltar had his plans. Death was preferable, he said, to bolshevik slavery. Therefore he was going to get a rifle to help the military defend the line of fortifications. Women and children were being taken to a school building little more than a mile away, outside the probable firing zone where they would await the coming of the bolsheviks.

We two Americans ought to do the same, we were told. The Russians, Eltar thought, wouldn't mistreat us. Then he used an expression which in the next few days I heard over and over again from Poles justifying their passivity in front of the Russians:

No Faith in Bolsheviks.

We two Americans immediately vetoed this plan so far as we were concerned. We had little faith in the bolsheviks' respect for American passports—especially those presented by two lone individuals in the wilds of eastern Poland during a war. Even at best I had no fancy for being detained for months while the bolshevik spy hunters investigated my character and career and nothing is more useless to a newspaper than a jailed or dead correspondent.

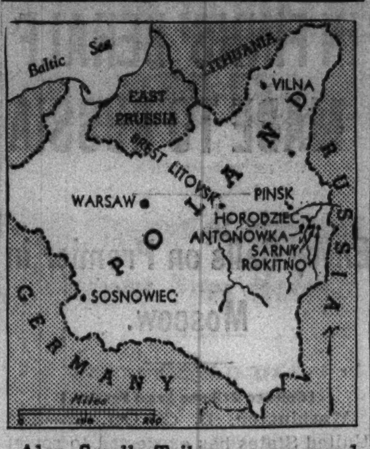
Our plan was to head westward at once, then bear northwest in the general direction of the city of Pinsk. [Pinsk is a large Polish town about 60 miles west of the former Russian border and about 100 miles east of Brest-Litovsk.] That ought to get us beyond the first rush of the bolshevik advance.

Then we had to consider the next move. Continuing north in a straight line toward Vilna, our original goal, was out of the question. We could not even risk returning to Sarny and anyway I was sure now that horse dealer who had promised to sell us two horses for $200 never would show up in the morning.

Down to Refugee Status.

After a long debate as to his duty to Poland, our friend Eltar decided to drop the romantic idea of dying at the barricades and to join us in escaping the bolsheviks. Meanwhile we had thrown away most of the scanty baggage still left to us and were stripped to real refugee equipment.

Reporting War



Alex Small, Tribune correspondent in Poland during Nazi invasion, today describes action around Horodziec, Antonowka, and Sarny, Poland.

The sobbing women began to scream as we stepped into the night. All the men wished us well although they were doubtful that we would ever get anywhere and the old priest called "Vivat Polonia."

Grope for Wagon Tracks.

A moment later we were groping in the dark to find tracks across the fields, tracks which were hardly perceptible even in daylight. There were four of us—two Americans, our friend Eltar, and a Polish boy whom we had never seen before. He was a refugee who had come to eastern Poland from Sosnowiec in Silesia. Now he was returning to his home among the Germans rather than fall among the bolsheviks. Presently we would see thousands like him who had first fled to the east, then were fleeing to the west.

Soon we came to a railway and were challenged by a post of nervous soldiers. They asked eagerly for news—something big was happening they knew, but exactly what?

Off again we went across the fields with signal lights flashing ahead mysteriously, and from time to time challenges out of the dark. The whole countryside was astir. Sometimes we never even encountered the challengers; it was sufficient to answer with the one word "Polacy" [Polish].

Flashes Through the Night.

A white painted post loomed up and by flashlight we saw we were three miles west of Sarny. Just then three sharp bangs broke the silence and three flashes cut the black sky to our right, presumably just north of Sarny. That was the battle beginning, we thought. But all became quiet again and I concluded those were just rockets going up from the Polish lines.

We now were nearing the first village. The dogs were setting up a terrific barking. We wondered if it would not be better to circle it—we might find that the Ukrainian peasants were awake and already having formed a local soviet would arrest us. But in the fields we knew we would lose the way entirely and we risked it. Having past that village we soon plunged into a forest where the road was a wide sandy track between the trees.

Ankle Deep in Wet Sand.

Thunder and lightning came on—at first we thought it might be artillery fire—and the rain poured down steadily and persistently. It was now bad going—every step one's foot sank over the ankle in the waterlogged sand and had to be pulled out. The gray dreary dawn broke over the treetops and I noticed with dismay that we were only at the 7 mile post from Sarny though we had been hiking since midnight.

The rain now spurted up to a torrential downpour and we sought refuge under the trees. Those hours of toiling through the sand had exhausted us all, on top of the fact that we were having a sleepless night after the previous nights when we had had only a few hours on floors or straw. We slumped down in puddles, spread my heavy watersoaked coat overhead like a tent and instantly fell asleep.

It seemed hours afterward — in reality the watch showed only 5 minutes—when I awoke with a start. Some one was kicking me in the ribs. It was a man in the uniform of the national police who wanted to know who we were and what we were doing. We told him we were fugitives headed toward Pinsk. He said he thought that was a good idea, apologized for disturbing us and said he was a fugitive himself.

Finds Old Acquaintance.

Farm carts were now plowing through the sand beside us. Some were headed toward Sarny. Either they had not heard the news or they did not care, they might even prefer the coming of the bolsheviks. Others were going our way loaded to capacity with the first refugees fleeing westward.

A loud shout broke from a convoy of four farm carts going toward Sarny. A man jumped out and hailed our friend Eltar. It was an old school friend he had not seen for years. The man explained that they were all Jews from Warsaw fleeing eastward. We told him abou the bolshevik invasion, about which he had not heard. Then all the Jews forsook the farm carts, the drivers having refused to turn about, and joined the westward procession with us.

Hope to Reach Warsaw.

Now that the end of the war was believed only a matter of a few days, they thought they would try to return to Warsaw to try to save a little of their property from the Germans. Each one added the usual refrain which now had ceased to astonish me, "I have left my wife and children in Warsaw."

We were now 13 miles west of Sarny and entered a large village named Horodziec where the inhabitants lined the main street and gazed at us like strange animals. This experience we were going to have frequently thereafter.

Sullenly all refused to sell us a bite to eat. Some one did give us extraordinary information—at a town four miles to the north in the back country a narrow gauge railway ran trains to Pinsk and this service had been operating regularly in spite of the war.

So we called on our weary muscles and aching feet for another effort and hiked four miles more across the fields to the place named Antonowka.

DEMAND BRITAIN LIFT VEIL FROM PACT WITH REDS

Wonder if Germany Will Get English Tin.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The question whether the new timber, tin and rubber barter agreement between Great Britain and soviet Russia is consistent with the British blockade of Germany and economic warfare plans was raised tonight in the British press.

An early statement by Leslie Burgin, minister of supply, was demanded. Burgin made no explanation of the deal in parliament today and the exact terms of the arrangement remained a secret. Under the agreement England will swap tin and rubber for soviet timber.

There were indications that inquiries will be made in London and Moscow by American diplomatic representatives about the pact and its implications.

Diplomats Puzzled.

The agreement, which was signed yesterday, puzzled diplomats here. The explanation that it is a simple commercial matter without political significance was not generally accepted. This question was posed: Is British tin being sent to Germany via Russia in order to dodge the naval blockade?

The Star, Liberal organ, urged an immediate government statement on the issues involved. It stressed the fact that the British public is perplexed by the apparent overnight shifting of alliances and policies in Europe.

"It would plainly be fantastic for us, the breaking of our own blockade," the article said after demanding to know what assurances the British government had obtained from Russia that tin and rubber shipments would not be passed on to Germany.

The Star recalled the description of Russian policy made by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, a fortnight ago. He called it "a riddle wrapped in mystery inside of an enigma."

Called New Stage in War.

"It is to be assumed our government has made up its mind where Russia actually stands before entering into the trade pact," the newspaper said. "Public opinion would be considerably disquieted if it felt we were in any way condoning the pressure now being exerted on Finland."

The British-soviet deal, it was suggested, may mark a fresh stage in the war and in some quarters, The Star said, it is hailed as serving notice on Germany that Russia intends to observe neutrality.

"If the new move helps to dissipate the haunting fear of a full-blooded alliance between Hitler and the Red army, it is to that degree a steadying factor," the paper continued. "At the same time, pending fuller information, this relief will not be entirely mixed with bewilderment. The country has a right to expect early clarification by the government of the important issues involved."

German Purchases Recalled.

Britain was supplying Germany with rubber and scrap iron up to the middle of August. An outburst in one section of the press brought a government statement that the practice had been prohibited. Some observers were asking this question: "Is there any obscure connection between this deal and the possibility that American commodities might go to Germany via Russia in Japanese or other ships?"

Russia recently increased the buying of rubber from America and the Dutch East Indies. The suggestion was advanced by some quarters that the need for these purchases now presumably has disappeared.

Perplexity over the agreement was reflected in the News Chronicle which said that only a week ago Russia agreed to supply Germany with materials which would weaken the effect of the British blockade.

The paper said the question is whether the British government was wise in concluding a deal which would help Russia's war strength.

While Russia is neutral on the surface and is prepared to trade with both belligerents on a commercial basis, the Chronicle suggested it did not like the looks of soviet military measures.

"Aggression is aggression whether it is committed by Russia or Germany," the paper said.

Citing soviet penetration of the Baltic, threats against Finland and the reported concentration of soviet troops in the Caucasus, which threaten Iran [Persia] and Iraq, the Chronicle warned it would be disastrous to the British cause and security if any of the Scandinavian countries fell under the domination of a totalitarian state.

NAZIS THREATEN BALTIC GERMANS TO SPEED EXODUS

Hint Danger of Massacre Unless They Hurry.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 12.—Germans in Latvia and Estonia who are not willing to return to Germany, as ordered by Adolf Hitler, are being threatened by leaders of Nazi controled organizations in an effort to speed up the exodus, it was revealed today.

The German leaders today commanded all Germans still here to poison their dogs, cats, and other pets and were reported to be making personal calls at homes of these persons.

Opposition to the German efforts to break up family ties that have been rooted in the Baltics for hundreds of years continues to grow, it is indicated, but as yet no attempt has been made to organize this sentiment.

Spread False Stories.

False stories were said to have been spread by the German leaders in this country. They were reported telling Germans that Latvia plans a massacre of all Germans who remain after the last steamer load of emigrants sails for the fatherland.

A high police official of Latvia today said an old friend, a 45 year old German whose family had been in Latvia for six generations, asked him if a massacre were contemplated. The police official said he told his friend that if he couldn't answer that question himself he had better leave the country.

Another false rumor said to have been spread was that all Latvians were to be deported to Siberia when Russia annexes the Baltic states.

Reds Move Troops.

It was reported from the Latvian frontier today that the soviet government was transferring many troops there to the Finnish frontier.

The Finnish radio at Lahti broadcast an announcement by Defense Minister Y. Niukkanen tonight that children and aged persons in Helsingfors should evacuate to the country.

The soviet press and radio stations, however, do not mention the present situation in connection with Finland.

ing enemy positions and trying to obtain prisoners presages at least a local offensive, the more so because German planes for the first time have been systematically scouting well over French lines, photographing from above. French scouting planes, also, got far over the German lines and came back with pictures considered of the highest importance.

Until this morning the initiative in the Saar region was wholly in the hands of the Germans and the French points seemed to be under intense and continuous pressure. From this morning, however, the French have been hitting back hard and frequently, mostly south of Saarbruecken. Great courage, tenacity and combative spirit have been displayed on both sides, proving the Germans have brought their crack divisions to the western front.

On the diplomatic front, Premier Edouard Daladier called the French cabinet to meet with President Albert Lebrun tomorrow for a general review of the war as British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's rejection of the German peace offer was hailed as new evidence of the unity of France and England.

ARMY DISPLAYS ITS GUN POWER TO CONGRESSMEN

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., Oct. 12.—The army today gave the greatest exhibition of armed might in its history by demonstrating latest weapons at the war department testing grounds on Chesapeake bay, 60 miles from Washington.

The power of the new weapons was observed by army field officers, senators, congressmen, and members of the Army Ordnance association. The semipublic demonstration was under the auspices of the association as part of its 20th annual meeting.

The 5,000 spectators saw 3 inch antiaircraft guns strike towed air targets at ranges of 5,000 yards, huge bombs send hundreds of tons of earth hurtling into the air to demolish land targets, and the increased effectiveness of the new weapons over the old.

Marshall Praises Weapons.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, voicing the sentiments of officers of general rank, said:

"The splendid performance of the various units with the new weapons demonstrated the soundness of the army's training and proved the value of the new arms."

"Once the weapons are secured in sufficient numbers and the army reorganization is perfected, the nation will have an army strong enough to keep any invader from its shores," he said.

The demonstration opened with the firing of the 14 and 16 inch disappearing coast artillery guns, which sent projectiles of 1,560 and 2,100 pounds shrieking through the air short of maximum ranges of 12 and 30 miles respectively. Both of the weapons are over 25 years old.

Antiaircraft Exective.

Greater interest was centered on the firing of a battery of three inch anti-aircraft guns on the towed targets at various elevations in three trials. The guns sent puffs of smoke bursting about the target at the rate of 25 to 30 shots a minute from each gun.

In each trial hits were scored on the sleeves and in the last the sleeve was destroyed after a few rounds were fired. No enemy planes could have evaded such marksmanship, said Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps.

In the bombing demonstration, three planes each dropped two 300 pound bombs from altitudes above 15,000 feet and scored hits on the targets. Then three more planes scored hits with the far more destructive 2,000 pound demolition bombs.

Signal Shells Demonstrated.

The air corps exhibition also demonstrated aircraft pyrotechnics—white and red star shells, parachute flares, and laying of smoke screens.

In the afternoon the army demonstrated the superiority of its new weapons over the old, the fire power of the world war and improved 75 mm. field guns, the new and old 155 mm. guns, and the new 105 mm. field howitzer was shown.

Observers noted that the demonstration proved that the 75 even in its improved state is markedly inferior to the new 105 howitzer. The new gun has greater flexibility and fire power than the old weapon and should be the chief field piece of the army, observers were convinced.

The marked improvement of new weapons over the old was apparent even to observers with no knowledge of army ordnance. They were more accurate, had greater ranges, and were fired more often.

One Shot Stops Tank.

The exhibition also included demonstration of the 37 mm. antitank gun, developed since the war in Spain. This gun proved the need for these new weapons. The gun was fired at a radio operated tank and stopped it with a single shell.

The effectiveness of the new 60 and 81 mm. mortars also pleased army observers.

The demonstration included exhibitions of the army's light tanks, combat cars, medium tanks, and miscellaneous vehicles such as light and heavy tractors, half track trucks, and scout cars.

The chemical war service gave an exhibition of its 4.2 inch mortar in laying smoke screens and gas attacks.

Conduct Tank Course.

Fort Benning, Ga., Oct. 12 [Special].—The United States army infantry school here now is conducting a war tank course. The army's older tanks are used in drills that send the heavy machines plunging over the sandy clay hills of the 97,000 acre Fort Benning reservation.

The school has two tank battalions. An ear splitting roar can be heard for a great distance from the school when the infantrymen tune up their tanks and race them over the rough terrain in practice warfare.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

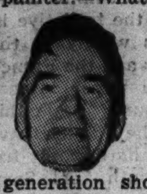
Do you think America should have the best equipped army in the world?

Where Answered.

In North avenue.

The Answers.

Edward Carroll, 222 Willow street, city employé.—Yes, indeed! It is the richest nation in the world and must protect its resources. Our army should be improved so that it is a perfect weapon of defense. There is no danger of aggression now, but we should be prepared.



Francis Frank, 2058 Burling street, painter.—What for? We don't need to worry about protection. We've got two oceans to protect us. We should forget about armament and spend more to help people. The younger generation should be our consideration, rather than a perfect army.

Miss Dorothy Stroha, 158 West North avenue, stenographer.—Yes, I think so. We need a strong, well trained army to protect our country from ultimate invasion. We might be dragged into Europe's war even now, and it would be well to know we could safeguard our own interests.

John Fay, 10 North La Salle street, attorney.—No. We are in a favorable position, geographically isolated from aggressors. We should have a well equipped army, and I would favor a slight increase in its size, but we shouldn't require the finest war machine in the world.

Earl Schulz, 211 East Ontario street, art student.—I think we should, because it pays to be prepared. We hope we won't have to engage in a war, but I think we should be ready in case we do. I think we will some day have to fight to protect our resources and national wealth.

PRESIDENT'S SON ASKS REDUCTION IN MARINE RANK

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—At his request, James Roosevelt has been demoted from lieutenant colonel to captain in the marine corps reserve. Officials said today the President's eldest son decided voluntarily that the rank he had held as a White House aide was too high for his age and experience.

His resignation as lieutenant colonel and simultaneous application for another commission two notches lower were accepted before he left the capital yesterday to return to his job as a motion picture executive. Some routine forms as to physical condition remain to be filled out before the new commission is issued.

Not 32 years old, Roosevelt is young even for a captain. He was only 28 when made a lieutenant colonel to serve as aid to his father at the 1936 Buenos Aires peace conference. The rank was useful then in matters of diplomatic precedence, officials suggested.

OUST SPREADERS OF FOREIGN ISMS, EMPLOYERS TOLD

Coonley Says Words Can Be Crime Instruments.

It is the right and duty of American employers to remove from their pay rolls all persons who are agents of foreign powers and spread subversive doctrines, Howard Coonley, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared yesterday. He presided at a regional meeting of more than 500 members of the association in the Stevens hotel.

"Free speech is essential to free government," Coonley said, "and the test of our devotion to that principle is that we defend the right of another to advocate what we abhor or oppose with all our strength. But words, no less than weapons, may be the instrument of crime.

"When they are so used, they may not be protected by the shield of free speech, any more than a footpad can defend the use of his pistol as the right to bear arms."

Spur to Clean House.

Coonley said the activities of the Dies congressional committee in uncovering communists and "fellow travelers" in high governmental places should be a spur to industry to clean its own house. The National Association of Manufacturers will coöperate with employers, he said, and the campaign will win the support of faithful employés.

At the dinner of the association last evening, Coonley discussed America's position in the precarious world situation.

"American industry wants peace," he said, "and that must be the national objective. Industry's obligations are to oppose American participation in war and to devote itself, as never before, to the crusade of retaining and maintaining in America the private enterprise system.

"This is no time for profiteering nor for the pursuit of selfish political objectives. There should be an end to unfair recriminations and to unjust inquisitions and attacks. There should be an end to unadulterated falsehoods concerning the nation's manufacturers. We must be ever vigilant that the current world wide epidemic of government by force does not bring its poisoning disease to our shores."

Sees Greater Danger Within.

Another speaker at the dinner was H. W. Prentis Jr., vice president of the association. He also outlined industry's attitude as opposed to war and profiteering.

"America is in far more danger today from disintegrating influence within than it is from any foreign enemy," he said. "With a world at war it is doubly imperative that constitutional representative democracy, private enterprise, and religious freedom—the inseparable foundations of personal liberty—be kept vital and unimpaired in an America at peace.

"Of all current delusions the present tendency to place unbounded faith in the mystical power of government to cure our economic ills and bring about a heaven on earth is the delusion that has the least foundation in human experience and history."

Items Which Weren't Headlined in Recent War News

It was reported in Sofia, Bulgaria, that Germany has agreed to buy $19,200,000 worth of Bulgarian foodstuffs, paying for $12,000,000 of it by shipping Rumanian oil to Bulgaria, and the rest in gold. Observers did not understand how Germany intended to obtain the Rumanian oil, and why she should be willing to sell a product vitally needed by the Nazi military.

Guenter Haupt, convicted of spying on German refense works for a foreign country, was beheaded in Berlin. He was the fifth spy executed in the German capital this week.

The Netherlands will begin its first food rationing Monday when an order limiting sugar to 250 grams [a little more than a half pound] a person weekly becomes effective.

Great Britain has ordered the British Broadcasting corporation to restrict its transmissions to a single program daily to prevent the Nazi aircraft from obtaining navigational aid from the radio stations. As additional precaution, broadcasting stations have been removed from London, so that airplanes cannot follow the broadcast signals to the British capital.

For the last three days German raiding parties have been attempting to capture prisoners along the Western front. Often such raids precede a large scale offensive. The French report, however, that the Nazis have been unable to seize any French prisoners.

Moro Brothers Run Amuck; Slain After Killing Three

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 12 (AP).—Two Moro brothers armed with long knives ran amuck in the business district of Zamboanga tonight during a religious feast and were slain after they had killed three men and wounded seven others. Four of the wounded may died. Sometimes Moros run wild in religious frenzy and seek to kill Christians. The Moros are Mohammedans.

"Everything Carefully Cleansed at FANNIE MAY!"

★ LOUISE LLOYD DEXTER, Registered Nurse, whose home is at 12003 Stewart Ave., said this after visiting the Fannie May Kitchens . . .

"In my profession the hospital diet kitchen is the standard of cleanliness and care in the preparation of food, and in my visit to the Fannie May Kitchens I noticed comparable high standards — every utensil, even the big mixers, were being carefully cleansed immediately after use. I can certainly recommend the candy I like so well myself—Fannie May!"

MYSTERY OF TEN QUIET BACHELORS ENDS IN A CRASH

They're Russians, but They Admire America.

Orange, N. J., Oct. 12 [Special].—The mystery of the Van Dyke mansion here was solved today, but it required an automobile wreck to identify the 10 personable young men who have been living in the tree-shaded house with a Hindu manservant and maid.

They are soviet Russian engineers and technical men learning how to make radio tubes in the Radio Corporation of America plant at nearby Harrison. The government knows all about it and is not worried.

It wasn't that way with the residents of the exclusive hill section of this town, however. They pondered about the husky, good looking bachelors living in the big frame home owned by H. E. Van Dyke and managed by the Hindu butler and his darkskinned wife.

Now and then the more venturesome of the Orange folk reconnoitered under the oak trees surrounding the house. Inside they saw a great fireplace, library shelves stocked with books, a dining room with rich silver and fine china, and a modern radio. There was a recreation room with a ping pong table. But little could be learned of the young bachelors.

Then last Sunday two of the men, driving a large sedan, swerved to avoid another motor car and piled their own against a tree in their front yard. One of the men, Michael Roubanenko, 32 years old, is still in a hospital with bruises and lacerations. The other, Vasily Andreev, 34 years old, was patched up and sent home.

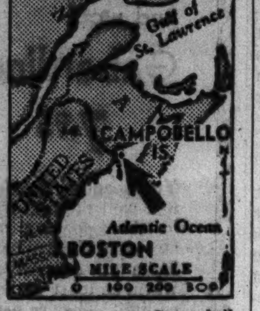
They gave their case histories to the physicians and the mystery was cracked. They said they came to this country to learn how to build radios and that they had followed other similar small groups of technicians educated as a result of commercial arrangements between the RCA and Amtorg Trading corporation, agent of the soviets, in this country.

They admitted complete surprise at the comforts and—to them—luxuries which average income families enjoy in this country. They mentioned the four bathrooms in their rented home, the automobile which they enjoyed, electric refrigerators, radios and telephones.

In six or eight weeks they must return to Russia, and other technicians will replace them. They were all loyal, but they made no bones about their feelings. Every one of them would like to stay on in the land of well shined shoes and running hot water.

REP. EATON WONDERS HOW PRESIDENT CAN REACH FOREIGN HOME

Washington, D. C., Oct 12 (AP).—Representative Charles A. Eaton [R., N J.] arose in the house today to inquire how President Roosevelt is going to get to his summer home on Campobello Island, New Brunswick, if the proposed neutrality law is passed.



Arrow Points to Campobello Island.

"Have we got to have him all the time?" he asked amid laughter.

POPCORN MAN PIONEER DIES.

Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 12 [Special].—Cloid H. Smith, 75 years old, president of the American Popcorn company, died today in the office of the firm's plant here. Smith founded the company, which became the largest of its kind, in 1914.

Virtual Bar to Strikes Proposed by Hoffman

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—A bill introduced today by Representative Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] would impose maximum penalties of five years imprisonment and a fine of $5,000 on persons convicted of interfering with the production or transportation of articles entering into interstate or foreign commerce.

NEW FACES FOR OLD

By CALEB

I HAVE been learning interesting odds and ends about Make-Up. One does, if, as a mere male, and crudely uninformed, he enters such a rendezvous of facial restoration as either of our third or fifth floor Tourneur salons.

To-wit: that no two women have the same type of skin. That no two make-ups should be—or, if correct, can be—exactly alike. That a make-up expert, out of her knowledge of coloring, cosmetics, the human epidermis and its idiosyncrasies, and her own hard-won experience, can qualify any woman to wear whatever apparel colors her heart desires. Even though, mind you, her ignorance of modern make-up magic has heretofore decreed she "simply could not."

Further, that in a salon such as this the one practical approach to facial beautification is ideally achieved by experimental analysis of your particular countenance before the mirror; and then blending the specific powder formula that belongs wholly and solely to you.

A procedure, incidentally, which does away for good with the harassing round of trying this, rejecting that, and trying the other, which makes the average woman's search for charmful self-expression a spiritual nightmare rather than an esthetic adventure.

To consummate this rational handling of the problem, and accommodate, in so doing, all the possible variants of coloration required by individual "types," Tourneur has developed thirty-eight different shades of face powder, twenty-five separate tones of lipstick. Yet it does not hesitate, if yours is still the facial exception, to create a special combination that shall be yours alone. . . .

All very mystifying, of course, to the male. But highly logical to his fair partner—for of the annual thousands of her who are first-time samplers of Tourneur's exclusive methods and formulas, one learns that nine out of ten become established patrons. For here, attendants merely smile at such crude distinctions as "blonde" and "brunette." In actuality, the mood, the costume, the occasion and the hour, all call for as many distinct modes of color blending, to insure the happiest results.

Boston's caprice of the moment is for eye make-up; Chicago's is for lipstick—but do not ask me why. Vagary, perhaps. Suffice it that under the finesse of eyeshadow delicately applied with camel's hair, not smudged on—upper lids transformed by smoky pearl, translucent green, carnelian or pale bronze—lashes touched with amethyst instead of mascara—underlips done in two lipstick tones—powder lightly dusted over, and softly brushed off . . . is it any wonder new faces emerge where ordinary ones first appeared on these scenes of feminine transformation?

KEEP EMBARGO, BE CALM, PLEA OF LA FOLLETTE

Move with Studied Care, He Urges Senate.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. [P., Wis.], appealed today for a final decision now against the Roosevelt administration's neutrality repealer—a final decision now against any course of intervention in the European war—before the passions inflamed by propaganda make it too late for calm and deliberate action.

Senator La Follette stirred the senate and the crowded galleries with a dramatic account of the scene on the senate floor in March, 1917, just a month before the fateful decision to enter the world war. He implied that his father and predecessor in the senate was threatened with assassination because of his participation in the filibuster against a bill authorizing President Wilson to arm American merchant ships.

The elder La Follette was one of the 12 senators whom President Wilson denounced as "a little group of willful men."

Recalls Stand of His Father.

Another was Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.], who now is on the other side. Norris sat with bowed head as the son of his former friend, departing from his prepared speech, declared:

"Mr. President, I stood over there right opposite the chair in which Mr. Foster [minority clerk] sits now when my father rose in his place here in the senate in an effort to get recognized in the closing hours of the filibuster against the armed ship bill. I felt, I saw the tenseness of that occasion. I knew the rumors that had been going through the cloakroom all night long.

"I knew that certain gentlemen on this floor were armed. I saw the rush that started toward my father when he rose in his place in this chamber. I know Mr. President, how tense men's emotions can get when these issues that arouse the deepest passions of mankind are stirred. And therefore, Mr, President, I shudder when I see the casual manner in which this subject has for the most part been debated.

Urges Full Discussion Now.

"I have the greatest respect for men in this chamber or elsewhere who disagree with the position which my conviction leads me to take. And I say Mr. President that now, now during the course of the debate upon this measure, is the time to discuss the fundamental, the momentous decisions that are in the balance; not later on, when incidents, when propaganda, have aroused passions beyond the point of calm and deliberate decision."

The spectators applauded vigorously when Senator La Follette had concluded his extemporaneous allusion to the frenzied days before America's entry into the world war.

The neutrality debate took another surprising and dramatic turn today when Senator William J. Bulow [D., S. D.] arose for his second speech in an eight year senate career. It was not an oration, but a man to man talk, with a homely crossroads simplicity that reminded his colleagues of the late Will Rogers. One of them recalled later that Rogers once paid Bulow the compliment of saying, at a Democratic national committee meeting, that Bulow had ruined his speech by talking first.

Sees Wish to Hang Hitler.

Senator Bulow is a quiet, unassuming, tobacco chewing man who dresses more like a farmer ready for church than a United States senator.

Speaking so softly that his voice was barely audible in the galleries, he said that the proponents of the arms embargo repealer apparently wanted to go over and hang Hitler to a sour apple tree. But out in his part of the country, he said, the people realized that before you can hang a horse thief you have got to catch him. To catch Hitler and hang him, he added, would require killing not only millions of German soldiers but millions of American boys as well, and perhaps "ten million Rooshians."

"As I see it," said Senator Bulow, "if we did not promise aid, help, and comfort to France and England, they would patch up the best kind of peace they could, and then, in a little while, Hitler and Stalin would have each other by the throat. But they are going to remain in the same bed so long as they have a common enemy to fight."

"Hitler is not going to live forever. We might find after we had sacrificed the lives of 10,000,000 persons, when we finally caught up and got our hands on Hitler that he died a natural death, and that we had had all of that trouble for nothing, and nobody to hang.

"As far as I am concerned, if the people of Russia want to live under a communistic form of government that is their business. If the people of Italy want to live under a fascist government that is their business. If the people of Germany want to live under Hitler let them do so until they get tired of it. Eventually they are going to throw off that yoke."

Reynolds Stirs Galleries.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], who has not committed himself, but has been counted upon by the administration leaders, provoked uproarious applause in the galleries when he interrupted Senator Bulow and declared:

"I want to say to the senator from South Dakota that before we attempt to destroy Hitler and Stalin and Naziism and communism over there we had better destroy Naziism and Fascism and communism in the United States."

The third surprising incident in today's debate was the conclusion of a speech by Senator Dennis M. Chavez [D., N. M.], whose vote had been regarded certain by the administration forces. It was assumed when he arose to speak that he would read a stereotyped address explaining why he favored repeal of the arms embargo. But his last sentence said:

"As for me, Mr. President, solemnly and with reverence, I shall cast my vote for what I think will keep us out of war and against repeal of the arms embargo."

La Follette Fears War.

Senator La Follette declared that repeal of the embargo in the present circumstances and the resulting sale of arms, ammunition, and implements of war will constitute a significant step toward participation of this country in the European war.

"The several discretionary loopholes in the pending bill are sufficient to allow for incidents which may lead us into war," he said.

"It is not in the best interest of American democracy to gamble everything of value we possess in return for some temporary profits together with a permanent participation in a postwar chaos most certain to be revolutionary in character."

The distinction between finished munitions and raw material is important, the senator said, because the country whose people are killed and wounded by our weapons will hate us.

Administration Is Accused.

Senator La Follette accused the Roosevelt administration of busying itself with the European war for the purpose of diverting attention from the failures of its domestic program.

A pertinent matter that must be taken into consideration in connection with the proposal to repeal the embargo, the Wisconsin senator said, is the administration's foreign policy from the time of the President's "war" speech in Chicago in the fall of 1937 to the present day.

"The administration," he declared, "has ardently sought power to select the aggressor and to favor one belligerent as against another. This record must have its bearing on the full implications of repeal of the arms embargo. No doubt many who favor it because they favor our participation to aid one group of belligerents honestly believe this will be enough to assure them victory.

"Therefore they can truthfully say they think it will keep our country out of actual war. But what if arms, ammunition, and implements of war are not enough? Then as certain as can be these same people will be urging further measures to secure a victory for one group of belligerents."

Viewed as Vote of Confidence.

Declaring that repeal of the arms embargo would be taken by the interventionists as a vote of confidence in their effort to get us in the war, Senator La Follette continued:

"If we enter the war our own democracy will be the first casualty. Then we would inevitably have a dictatorship such as we have never seen before. In the very nature of modern war's psychology labor would be virtually conscripted, collective bargaining made a mockery or abrogated altogether. Workers may be confronted with a choice of starving or working under what conditions they are ordered to work.

"Farmers would have their prices fixed. Business would be put in a straight jacket. The pressure against war profiteers would be strong. I doubt if a single business man in America would have more freedom than a business man in Germany today. He would be regulated and regimented by a military burocracy.

"We know what powers the President had in the last war. They are mild compared to the powers which may be given to a President in the course of a war in the future."

Senator La Follette said he could see no victory coming to any one out of the European war, that democracy will not have been saved and that every nation involved in the struggle will have had dictatorship during the war.

The senator vigorously assailed the argument that our own national interest will be served by helping England and France defeat Germany. The war may teach us, he said, that the British fleet is no longer able to protect the commerce coming to the British Isles, that airplanes alone can destroy both commerce and the historic blockading functions of a fleet.

"For the first time," Senator La Follette declared, "recent events have challenged the assumption that because we think the British fleet might be valuable to us on some occasion we must therefore fight for the British Empire every time it gets into difficulty.

Ideas False, He Declares.

"It is a very open question whether it is to our best national interest to fight whenever the empire is in trouble; for it may be in trouble, in serious trouble, from now on steadily. Most certainly it will be in trouble in case events should prove the inefficiency of the fleet to protect the commerce within its dominions and colonies.

"Those who advocate the repeal of the arms embargo on the ground that our national interest requires a victory for Great Britain and France predicate their arguments on a whole series of false ideas, including that of an armed attack on our shores, the immutable importance of the British fleet in connection with such an attack and the pleasant hope that a little patched up liberal and democratic procedure will solve all Europe's ills.

"Another question: Is it in our national interest to insist upon the complete destruction of the present political system in Germany? England and France have, for the moment at least, pledged themselves to that war aim. Do they go on from there and pledge a complete destruction of the Russian system and later perhaps of the Italian system? And of the Japanese system? All of them more or less completely totalitarian? Do we find it in our national interest to blindly follow them to go about the world forcing their system upon every nation?

"And suppose England and France change their ideas, as they might well do, and decide that what they want is to strengthen Germany at the expense of Russia, is to our national interest to decide that in spite of their change of mind, we will still fight 'to the finish of the form of government and the party organization in Germany'? In Mr. Churchill's words?"

"Our patriotic course," said Senator La Follette in conclusion, "is to stay out of Europe and the far east, which would drain our blood, our manhood, and our wealth forever. It is to concentrate on making democracy function here in the last great industrial nation which has a chance of making it function in the modern machine world. It is to preserve our civil liberties and the American concept of life.

Defend American Continent.

"It is to be ready to aid and assist a stricken world when both victor and vanquished have collapsed. It is to be ready, in coöperation with the nations of Latin America, to defend the American continent and to provide the national defenses and bases necessary for the purpose.

"We should keep the embargo on arms and enact all the other features of the pending bill designed to reduce incidents likely to lead to war. We should limit the trade in other commodities to a strict cash and carry basis, not credit and carry. We should restrict this trade so as to protect our resource base and not permit an uncontroled wartime commerce to develop which will help to drag us into war in Europe or in the far east."

Senate Speakers

Senator Bulow (D., S. D.), at left, made a homely speech against repeal, and Senator Reynolds (D., N. C.) drew cheers for his statement that before Americans go to Europe to destroy Hitler and Stalin "we had better destroy Naziism, Fascism, and communism in the United States."

BABY BURNS TO DEATH.

Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special].—Shirley McCray, 21 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van McCray of Lincoln, was fatally burned yesterday afternoon when her clothing caught fire from matches with which she and a three year old brother were playing.

LIFT!
SPARKLE!
SWING!

You've hit your inner stride

....when you regain healthy per-i-stal-sis

You plunge into work and play at top form...there's lift to your step ...when you hit your inner stride!

That inner stride starts with a rhythmic motion inside. The name for it is per-i-stal-sis. When it's healthy, the intestines contract... expand...contract...as steady as your heart beat. When it slows down, you know something's wrong. You feel constipated, heavy.

Then you can't afford to take chances. You want a thorough flushing-out, and you want it quick ...to clear the way for healthy per-i-stal-sis. That's the time for Eno!

What fluid-action does

You need extra fluid in the intestines. Eno brings it from other parts of the body. Eno gives mild stimulation. Clogged wastes are effectively cleared away by Eno's stimulation...by its fluid-action.

How easy to swing into stride, now per-i-stal-sis is healthy again!

Take Eno, also, to help neutralize excess stomach acids. Get this extra alkalizing benefit while you enjoy Eno's sparkling, tangy taste.

SENATOR LUCAS FOR REPEAL OF ARMS EMBARGO

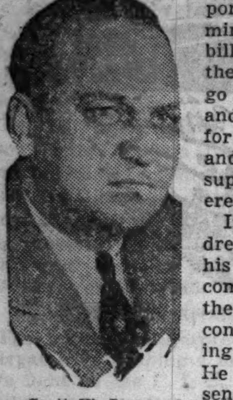
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Scott W. Lucas.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] tonight announced his support of the administration's bill for repeal of the arms embargo and a cash and carry plan for selling arms and other war supplies to belligerents.

In a radio address, Lucas made his first public commitment on the neutrality controversy raging in the senate. He and the junior senator from Illinois, James M. Slattery, previously had indicated they were not definitly committed, although it was believed both would support the administration.

Lucas denied that repeal of the embargo on the export of arms, ammunition and implements of war would place the United States on the road to war. The present neutrality law, containing the arms embargo, he termed "the very essence of unneutrality."

Messages Urge Peace.

He said that the approximately 100,000 letters, telegrams and cards received from citizens of Illinois, although expressing conflicting views on the pending neutrality legislation, are unanimous in the declaration that "we must stay out of the European struggle of power politics."

He pledged his support in keeping America out of war. Today, he said, the only possible opportunity for belligerent nations to change the sentiment of the American people from peace toward war is through the sinking of our ships in the Atlantic ocean.

"With the experience of the last war before us," said Lucas, "the senate of the United States proposes in the legislative measure it is now considering to root out, insofar as possible, those probabilities of war. Under the Pittman [administration] bill, American citizens cannot sail on belligerent ships.

Sell to All Who Pay.

"Under the Pittman bill we shall sell everything to belligerent nations, such as wheat, cotton, steel, shells, arms, etc., provided they send their ships to our ports, pay for this property in cash, and they start across the Atlantic to their destination upon their own responsibility. In addition to that there will be restricted zones in which our ships can not travel.

"In short, what we seek to do under this mandatory cash and carry plan is, to keep our ships out of the combat zones of the Atlantic and thereby save them and American lives from destruction. My friends, this is a splendid piece of legislation, designed wholly and solely to keep America out of foreign wars.

"The importance of the cash and carry plan so far overshadows that of the repeal of the embargo, from the standpoint of keeping us out of war, that the question of lifting or continuing the embargo becomes relatively inconsequential by comparison. The Pittman bill negates every consideration that brought us into the last war.

"My sense of duty to the American people tells me I have but one choice, and that is to cast my vote for cash and carry."

Kentucky "Duchess"

MARILYN MASON.

Marilynn Mason of Murray, Ky., a junior at Northwestern university, has been chosen to represent the state of Kentucky as "Duchess" at the Tyler, Tex., annual rose festival now in progress. Miss Mason flew from Chicago to Dallas on Wednesday.

Miss Mason is a graduate of Gulf Park Junior college, Gulfport, Miss. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Mason, Murray, Ky.

REJECTED MILK BIDS HOLD UP RELIEF PLANS

Plans to provide milk to Chicago reliefers for 5 cents a quart were given a temporary setback yesterday when Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced in Washington that he had rejected all bids for the sale of the milk by private milk companies. Wallace said he will call for new bids, to be made by Nov. 1.

Under the plan, the private distributors are to bid the price at which they will deliver the milk to distributors. The difference between the bid prices and the 5 cents a quart to be paid by the Chicago Relief administration for the milk is to be paid by the department of agriculture. Wallace ruled that the bids he received were too high.

Leo M. Lyons, CRA head, had hoped to begin distribution of the milk to relief families requesting it by next Monday. He said last night that he regretted distribution of the milk now will be held up at least a month.

Officers of milk companies last night refused to discuss their bids or Wallace's action in refusing to accept them. Some of them said that they did not want to comment on the bid rejections until they are sure of what the government will do next.

29 American Warships Arrive at Base in Hawaii

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 12 (AP).—Twenty-nine warships comprising the bulk of the scouting force of the American fleet arrived today. They left San Diego and San Pedro Oct. 5. The force is the largest ever stationed in Hawaiian waters, except at times of the annual war games. The ships carried 106 planes.

NO WORK, SO OUR CONGRESSMEN GO IN FOR NIGHT LIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—The special session of congress is sapping the morale—not to mention the morals—of several hundreds of the nation's representatives. It is making a bum out of many a statesman.

This deplorable situation has resulted from the decision of the house not to take up any legislation while the senate debates the neutrality act. A few members of the house gather each day, yawn at each other during a few desultory speeches, and then disperse.

Thus, many a sober, fireside-loving congressman, who would ordinarily be basking in the bucolic delights of his home district at this season of the year, has been exposed to the temptations of the capital with no work to occupy his mind. In the gilded cocktail rooms and commodious bars and night clubs the waifs of the special session gather and make merry in a desperate sort of fashion.

WPA WON'T AID IN RAT KILLING, CITY INFORMED

City officials were notified yesterday by Harold K. Seltzer, Cook county WPA director, that any proposed project to rid the city of rats would be turned down by WPA authorities in Washington. The city council last week directed that WPA aid be sought to carry on an extensive rat extermination program.

A spokesman at the WPA office here explained that Washington officials had turned thumbs down on such projects in urban areas because of protests from private exterminating companies, that the projects would injure their business. Health officials estimated there are 3,500,000 rats in the city causing $7,000,000 damage each year.

C.I.O. CONVENTION SHOUTS ATTACK ON LABOR BOARD

Fails to Take Stand on Third Term Issue.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—Delegates to the C. I. O. international convention rose in a body tonight to shout endorsement of resolutions which condemned the National Labor Relations board.

"This convention commends to all C. I. O. affiliates a most sparing and considerate use of the Wagner act in the future," said one resolution.

The board and its administrative policies were assailed by Philip Murray, head of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, and Van A. Bittner, official of the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee.

Roosevelt Ignored.

The resolutions were introduced after the convention had adopted a 1940 political course without reference to a possible third term for President Roosevelt. The 1940 course calls for support of Labor's Non-Partisan league.

The labor board was dealt with in two resolutions simultaneously adopted, one stating that the C. I. O. "condemns without qualification" the policies of the board "which undermine basic purposes of the [Wagner] act." This resolution asserted the board's policies "have resulted in the displacement of unbiased personnel in favor of personnel antagonistic to the C. I. O. The C. I. O. brands the adoption of such policies and such displacements of personnel as an unwarranted and unworthy retreat" by the board "under fire from the reactionary officials of the A. F. of L. and the most powerful and dangerous corporate employers of the land."

Favoritism Charged.

Murray recited recent board decisions in the steel and automobile industries in which, he said, craft unionism of the A. F. of L. apparently was favored over C. I. O. industrial unions. He attacked "an individual named Billy Leiserson," the President's new appointee to the Labor board, who, Murray said, "when he was appointed gave credence to reports that he was 'going to do a job to the C. I. O.'"

Bittner, referring to the labor board, declared: "I don't want to see three men—three men of clay—destroy the greatest act in the history of labor."

Among resolutions adopted today was one condemning states and municipalities offering inducements to corporations to move operations to points where free sites, tax exemption, low wages, and other "anti-social" inducements are made, especially where such inducements include guarantees against organization by labor unions.

ASSISTANT JAP FOREIGN CHIEF QUITS IN DISPUTE

TOKIO, Oct. 12 (AP).—Vice Foreign Minister Masayuki Tani offered his resignation today, thus assuming responsibility for a foreign office controversy which precipitated notices of resignation by more than 150 persons. Protesting against the proposed creation of a trade ministry which would absorb the foreign trade bureau of the foreign office, 113 permanent employés of the foreign office resigned yesterday.

Masayuki Tani.

Yoshiaki Miura, Japanese consul general in Shanghai, and 40 other Japanese diplomatic officials in China also protested and sent in their resignations. A number of ambassadors, including Kensuke Horinouchi in Washington, cabled their sympathy with the protestors.

Permanent employés who resigned continued to work and the possibility existed that if the resignations were not accepted the Japanese conception of duty to the emperor would leave them no choice but to remain at their posts.

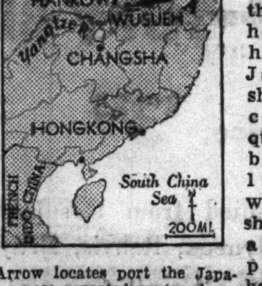
This city in the new world paid homage to Columbus yesterday. Schools, public and parochial, were closed in observance of the holiday dedicated to the discoverer of America. The statue of Columbus in Grant park was twice decorated with wreaths. In the Federal court of Judge Michael L. Igoe, 85 men and women from foreign lands took the oath of citizenship.

Chicago lodge No. 4 of the Elks assisted in Judge Igoe's courtroom. A small American flag was given to each new citizen, and Sharl B. Bass, supreme exalted ruler of the lodge, presented Judge Igoe with a large silk flag and staff for his courtroom.

JAPANESE REPORT TAKING CHINESE PORT ON YANGTZE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (AP).—Japanese army leaders today reported the capture of Wusueh, port on the north bank of the Yangtze river, from which the Chinese have been harassing Japanese shipping. A communique said bluejackets landed while warships shelled and airplanes bombed the Chinese positions in the Hupeh province port.



Arrow locates port the Japanese reported captured.

Chinese dispatches said Sian, capital of Shensi province, was bombed, with more than twenty Chinese civilians killed and more than 200 buildings destroyed. Other Shensi towns were raided, the dispatches said.

Japanese dispatches reported that a "council of war" opened at Nanking, presumably to study Japan's plan of campaign in China in the light of recent military developments. Chinese assert the Japanese have met a major reverse in their latest drive to capture Changsha, capital of Hunan province.

TAFT OUTLINES G. O. P. VICTORY PLAN FOR 1940

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio], candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, outlined to the Young Men's Republican club tonight a seven point program which he said would carry the party to victory in 1940.

Calling his plan a "negative program," he proposed:

Repeal of the pay roll tax, the capital gains tax, the Guffey coal act, and the wages and hours law; reduction of governmental expense; balancing of the budget, and abandonment of attemps to fix prices in basic industries.

CHRYSLER STRIKE NOTICE FILED AS MEDIATORS ACT

540,000 Already Made Idle by Slowdowns.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12 [Special].—Federal conciliators intervened today in the labor dispute between the United Automobile Workers' union, C. I. O. branch, and the Chrysler corporation as the union filed notice with the state labor mediation board of its intention to strike.

Five days' notice before calling a strike is required under the new state law. A general strike vote has not yet been taken but will be completed before the end of the five day period, union leaders said.

Dodge Division at Standstill.

Chrysler and Briggs plants have been closed, leaving 54,000 idle, because they are dependent on the Dodg division of Chrysler corporation for parts.

The Dodge division was inoperative because the management, for the fifth successive working day, sent its employés home a few minutes after they reported for work. The management declared "that the workers again engaged in a production crippling slowdown strike."

Only one Chrysler plant in the Detroit area, the Dodge truck plant in Macomb county, is in production, and it is running on half time.

Ford Reëmploys 23 Men.

The C. I. O.—U. A. W. announced tonight that 23 of its members, who, according to the national labor relations board, were fired from their Ford Motor company jobs because of union activity in 1937, have been rehired by the company. The board has been seeking a court order to enforce compliance with its ruling that the men be reëmployed.

A spokesman for the Ford company confirmed the union announcement of the reinstatements but said it was a purely routine procedure as increased production this fall had paved the way for recall of many former employés. The spokesman said it did not mean the company had retreated in any degree from its contention that the men were not originally dismissed for union activities.

EVANSTON NAMES A COMMISSIONER TO BANISH WEEDS

Mayor Henry D. Penfield announced yesterday that Evanston has created the post of commissioner of noxious weeds. The first to hold the position will be Dr. Winston H. Tucker, commissioner of health, who will retain his present office. Dr. Tucker is to be appointed at the Evanston council meeting Monday night.

He will have authority to enforce regulations requiring weeds over 10 inches high to be cut if they are within 200 feet of a building. In case property owners fail to obey orders to cut weeds, Dr. Tucker will have them cut at the owners' expense.

MILK DRIVERS TOLD LEADERS PUSH RED HUNT

Officers of local 753, Milk Wagon Drivers' union, told 2,000 members last night that they are still investigating charges that ther are 514 communists among the union's 5,000 members.

The charges were made recently by the Dies congressional committee investigating un-American activities. Last night's meeting was held in Temple hall, 330 South Marshfield avenue.

R. G. Fritchie, president of the local, told the drivers that the officers have not yet finished their investigation, but hope to have a complete report for the next meeting. The laws of the parent organization of the union bar communists from membership.

GREEN ELECTED A. F. OF L. CHIEF FOR 16TH TIME

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 12.—William Green was unanimously reëlected to his sixteenth term as president of the American Federation of Labor today. In an acceptance speech he said the federation has practically won its fight against the C. I. O. of John L. Lewis.

The fifty-ninth annual convention also elected William L. Hutcheson, head of the carpenters and arch-enemy of Lewis, as first vice president. Frank Duffy of the carpenters was renominated for first vice president, but declined and nominated Hutcheson in his stead.

Fist Fight Recalled.

The action is interpreted by the delegates as meaning a more aggressive fight on the C. I. O., which was formed shortly after Hutcheson and Lewis, former warm friends, engaged in fisticuffs on the floor of the Atlantic City convention of 1935.

For secretary treasurer, George Meany was elected. He is president of the New York Federation of Labor.

"We face great responsibilities this coming year," said Green. "We may be inspired by optimism. This last year the federation has made more progress than in any year in the last two or three decades. The federation has increased membership [4,006,000] and prestige.

"Victor in the Fight."

"The A. F. of L. stands victor in the fight with dualism and rebellion. The battle has been won. I am confident another great organization will return to the federation. We are going to increase our membership tremendously—all this lends encouragement."

Homer Martin, once of the C. I. O. and now of the A. F. of L., denounced communists in the C. I. O. and assailed John L. Lewis.

New Orleans was picked for the next convention in November, 1940.

C. I. O. PAYS $1,500 CONTEMPT FINES IN MAYTAG CASE

Newton, Ia., Oct. 12 (AP).—Payment of $1,500 was announced today by County Attorney Luther M. Carr for fines of $500 each levied against three C. I. O. officials for contempt of court in connection with the Maytag company strike here last year.

The payment was made for James B. Carey, New York, and William Sentner, St. Louis, international president and vice president, respectively, of the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, and Hollis Hall, Newton, former vice president of the C. I. O. local at the washing machine plant.

The District court fined each man $500 and added a jail sentence of six months, but on appeal the sentences were not sustained.

ILLINOIS' FIRST MOTORCYCLE COP QUITS TOMORROW

Leo Larkin, who claims the title of Illinois' first motorcycle policeman, will retire from the Evanston police force tomorrow. Larkin began patroling Evanston's streets in 1907. The speed limit then was 15 miles an hour, and the pavement was so rough that motorists who broke it got their teeth jarred out. Larkin knew how to catch them. He rode on the sidewalk, where it was so smooth that 15 miles an hour was easy, even without both hands on the handlebars.

Gary police will think twice before they again pick up a lost toddler. The actions of three youngsters, about 3 years old each, brought in yesterday from 21st street and Broadway, convinced them.

Despite efforts of Desk Sergeant Harry Caine and James Phelps, detective bureau operator, to amuse them, the three went through the station like three tiny tornadoes. They threw records on the floor, kicked over wastebaskets, fought the police and each other and alternately laughed and cried. Sergt. Caine was about to send in a riot call when Mrs. Mary Stastny, 1618 Pennsylvania avenue, claimed her daughter, Arlene. She also took Carol Dutcher, daughter of a neighbor.

This left Charlie. Mrs. Stastny didn't know him, and Charlie wouldn't tell who he was. Police said the girls had taken turns being mean to Charlie, but that after they left he just sat and stared at the wall. Late last night Charlie's parents called and took him home with them.

WORKER'S RIGHT TO REJECT ALL UNIONS UPHELD

Find No Obligation in N.Y. Labor Act.

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—The law which gives workers the right to join a union must give an equal right to refrain from joining, the New York state labor relations board ruled in a decision made public today.

The ruling was in connection with an election among approximately 650 employés of the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn. The board ordered an election to determine whether the workers wanted to be represented by the Hotel and Residence Club Workers Industrial union, an independent, or the A. F. of L. New York Hotel Trades council. After the order had been issued the hotel moved to have a third alternative—"or by neither" included on the ballot. This was granted.

"While the act endows workers with complete freedom to exercise the right of self organization and to designate representatives for the purposes of collective bargaining, if they desire to do so," said the decision, "it is an obvious corollary that the act likewise endows workers with equally complete freedom to refrain from such self organization and to declare that such is the desire or preference of the majority. The act enunciates a right. It does not impose an obligation."

The decision says that where a single union is involved employés are able to indicate on the ballot whether or not they wish a union.

FARMHAND KILLED BY TRACTOR.

John Olson, 67 years old, a Will county farmhand, was fatally injured yesterday when he was run over by a tractor. The accident occurred while Olson was trying to disconnect the tractor from a trailer on the farm of John Cronin, five miles west of Joliet.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

FLUSHING THE COVERT.

There was a fair certainty that as the debate in the senate proceeded it would break away from unrealities, evasions, and deceptions and come out of the brush into the open. Some of the speakers would tire of thinking one thing and saying another. That happened Wednesday when Senator Burke, Democrat of Nebraska, and Senator Clark, Democrat of Missouri, spoke, one for the repeal of the embargo and one against it.

Senator Burke said he had crossed the bridge. He would not speak of repeal as an expression of neutrality for it was not that. "It checks the belligerent that I want checked," said Senator Burke. "It favors the belligerents that I want favored. . . . Only harm can result if the erroneous impression is permitted to be spread about abroad and at home that America has no rights which it cherishes so deeply that it will not fight to the last drop rather than surrender them."

This is Senator Burke's war and he wants to repeal the embargo because he intends thereby to help Great Britain and France overthrow Hitler. He regards Naziism as an enemy of the American people.

Senator Clark said that if he believed for one moment that the American frontier was on the Rhine, that the Maginot line was an American line, and that our first line of defense is the British navy or that the British and French are fighting our battle he would scorn the idea of casting a vote on the proposals before the American congress.

"Tragic as the choice would be to me," he said, "if I entertained any such belief I would unhesitatingly vote for a declaration of war. . . . If I believed that the safety of this nation or the safety of our institutions was involved in this power struggle in Europe, if I believed that Britain and France are fighting to protect us, I would regard the cash and carry or the credit and carry scheme as no more honorable than hiring a substitute for military service—as a national stultification."

This is not Senator Clark's war. He does not propose to say it is and not fight it. He believes it to be the duty of the United States to preserve its neutrality and its peace. He is, therefore, against the repeal of the embargo.

The two senators have presented the issue as every one in congress recognizes it. They have spoken what is in the minds of the officials of the American government as well as of the senators and representatives. The senators have flushed the covert.

VERITAS VERSUS CRESCAT SCIENTIA.

There will be a number of football games Saturday afternoon, so many that this orb, this distressful planet, may rightly seem for several hours from coast to coast to be a pigskin booted about by its own children. In many parts they have done and are doing worse things to it. One of these games will have a peculiar distinction. It will be a meeting of the mind. It will be a relaxation of the intellect, a little scholastic recreation to keep the sane mens in the sound corpus.

At other games the spectators may be looking down on future admirals, generals, captains of industry, steam shovel men, physical directors, and line coaches. At this game, which is in Chicago, the spectators will see the future physicists, jurists, M. D.'s, bio-chemists, full professors, doctors of law, doctors of literature.

Whatever the score, whichever side wins, whether the game is a runaway or a deadlock, both universities will remain institutions of higher learning. Neither will leave its faculty unconscious on the turf as the shades of night close in. Harvard, need it be said, plays the University of Chicago.

THE UNCHALLENGED RED INVADER.

Stalin's westward advance has become so threatening that two of the most peaceful and democratic countries in Europe—Finland and Sweden—are alarmed as they have not been for many years. Both are mobilizing their small armies. Stalin joined Hitler in overrunning and occupying Poland. He is taking part in the fourth partition of that country. With his troops in possession there he turned his attention to the Baltic provinces. Hitler surrendered to him there and he forced treaties upon Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania which reduce them to the status of Bohemia, Moravia, and Slovakia under Hitler's dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia.

As Hitler retreats from the Baltic, uprooting the German population and withdrawing the people westward, Stalin turns against Finland and Scandinavia. The Finns appear to be in as great jeopardy now as the Czechs were in September a year ago. If Finland were overpowered, Sweden could feel no security.

These two nations have preserved the highest standards of European order, honesty, industry, democracy, and culture.

Stalin moves from one prostrate country to another with the blessing of silence. The greatest mass murderer since the days of the Mongol conquerors sends his Asiatics into defenseless countries, with the political executioners in train. The Reds are carrying their gospel of extermination, with the instruments of the purge and the secret police of terror and liquidation, westward against small but cultured nations and nothing is said about it. The Red terror might as well be a white dove and these lands unoccupied wastes for all the feeling that is aroused.

The western world is indifferent. British and French diplomacy does not see the Russian in Poland. Stalin has his part of this land, but Mr. Chamberlain's government makes a treaty with the invader for an interchange of war material. And all that is heard in Washington is the "earnest hope" that nothing may occur to affect injuriously the peaceful relations between soviet Russia and Finland.

PROGRESS AND THE RIFLE.

The army has placed its first order with a private manufacturer for the new semi-automatic Garand rifle. With the placing of the order it is stated that the rifle manufacturing program will not only equip the regular army and National Guard with the new weapon, but will accumulate vast reserves for any war we may enter. This, of course, is wishful thinking.

The facts are that the Springfield arsenal was producing the Garands so slowly that it would have taken years to equip even the regular army. The present order, for 65,000 rifles, is not enough for the regulars, and there is no telling when it will be filled.

The exact price the army is paying for the rifles cannot be determined, since the lump sum of the contract includes not only extra parts but the cost of tools for manufacture. The price is obviously too high. It will remain too high so long as the army, in common with other government departments, is allowed to adhere to its absurd specification system, requiring the best and most expensive materials and processes available, even though less expensive processes would yield a satisfactory product.

The army refuses to buy a piece of equipment unless it will last a lifetime—not the lifetime of an infantryman, but of that of a general. The bolt action Springfield is the model of 1903, and no doubt there are Springfields tucked away in the armories of the nation, made that first year, that are as good as the day they left the arsenal.

Yet the Springfield was outmoded as a weapon when we sent our army to France. The only time our army has ever had a modern firearm was when Morgan's men joined Washington's army before Boston with their Pennsylvania long rifles, and those didn't come from a government arsenal. They were the product of private inventive genius, alive to the conditions that demanded the arm.

You can buy a 1919 Cadillac for about $10. It wouldn't cost much more than that if it had been packed away in cosmolene the day it rolled off the assembly line. Furthermore, it wouldn't be worth more than $10. Private industry doesn't fall into this error of indestructibility. It builds in anticipation of progress, because it has the minds that make for progress within its ranks.

There is a direct connection between this passion of the burocrat for something that lasts forever and the backwardness of military armament. You don't find the genius who makes revolutionary improvements in a closed circle of a hundred men, no matter how the hundred are selected. You have to look for him among a hundred million people.

The hundred may not be doing well at their job, but the job is doing well by them. They are going to use every means at their disposal to maintain their monopoly.

USE THE SALES TAX.

Illinois is heading toward another relief "crisis." The state's township supervisors' association, which spends the relief funds outside Chicago, wants to double the present property tax for relief purposes. Such an increased rate—60 cents on each $100 valuation—would apply as well in Chicago, where the fund's shortage is most severe. The downstate supervisors, in fact, admit that they do not need the money now. That does not prevent them from asking for it, and if they get it there is no doubt they will find means of spending it. This in spite of the fact that the property tax in Illinois is already so high that tax delinquency is again on the increase.

Any actual need for more relief funds should be met from sales tax collections. The extravagant state administration is collecting $80,000,000 or more annually in sales taxes, nearly three times the maximum that it ever collected from the state property tax. The sales tax was originally passed for relief purposes. The wasteful diversions of this fund, much of it collected from the poor themselves, should be stopped and the money used for the purpose for which the tax was imposed.

Editorial of the Day

R. O. T. C. IN PEORIA.

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

By unanimous vote [rare enough in the last few months] the new seven member school board, sitting as a committee of the whole, has recommended that it report to the board—which is itself—that it act favorably on the plan to create voluntary R. O. T. C. units in the local high schools. This means, of course, virtual assurance that such units will be established by board action at the next regular meeting.

By its act the board has apparently settled a controversy which has been particularly bitter in this community. Opposition to the offering of elective R. O. T. C. training in the local high schools was strong and vocal. The argument advanced was that such units tend to make young people war-minded.

Modern phychologists say this is not true. They declare the child's character, bent, and most of his likes and dislikes are fixed and grounded long before he reaches high school age.

But this much is certain. Preparedness has become the common aim of most Americans in this hour. The R. O. T. C. is a preparedness measure. Furthermore, men who served in the army or the navy during the last war say that one of the toughest things about that service was the fact that—at the very moment when the individual is upset by patriotic fervor and fear of service—he must also find added to this mental strain the mental strain of learning military discipline and other unfamiliar things about life in the national defense establishments. Even the most rudimentary military training would tend to lessen this latter strain, they say.

THE CAVEMEN OF CHICAGO.

The discovery of an old cable car tunnel under Michigan avenue at Washington street brings back memories of an extinct species of Chicagoan which ought to be represented, in effigy, in the Field museum, somewhere near the diorama of the Neanderthalers. This was the gripman—pilot, engineer, and presiding genius of the cable cars. We feel sorry for the young moderns who never saw a gripman and never hope to see one, because to us, in boyhood, he was a heroic figure, comparable to Paul Bunyan and Mike Fink, and other supermen of folklore.

The grip cars were open structures, summer or winter, and the gripman stood in a narrow den, exposed to every wind that blew, manipulating his massive levers like a kindly giant. In cold weather he wrapped himself in the hairy hides of several buffaloes, with cap to match, and looked like a great beast of the Siberian tundras. His face was always red; icicles often drooped from his walrus mustache; and his voice was the distant roar of a Kodiak bear. But he was a gentle soul withal, and a merry; he jangled snatches of tunes on his warning bell; and liked to talk, in a fatherly way, with the schoolboys who patronized his front seats. We attribute much of our broad and tolerant view of life to early conversations with the prominent gripmen of Cottage Grove avenue.

It was generally believed that gripmen, because their heaviest work was done with the right arm, enjoyed a spectacular overdevelopment of the muscles of that member. The right arm of a gripman, people alleged, was thicker than the hind leg of an elephant, and one blow from it meant instant death.

FOOTBALL FANTASY.

Loud I cheer for Godfrey Sparks,
The full back of our team,
Though he is not the glamor boy
Some other players seem.
Still I shout when Godfrey
Goes smashing at that line
Though hostile tackles toss him
For a loss of eight or nine.

Alma Mater knows the strength
Of Huetzelbrinck and Schmrtz;
On Vodzkelpraczt and Cnieczywincz
We'd gladly stake our shirts;
But though opponents climb his frame
And on his fumbles pounce,
I cheer my best for Godfrey Sparks,
Whose name I can pronounce.

This Will Make 'Em Smart.

Add to your catalog of "Words That Take Beatings" the adjective "smart." From all sides comes advice on what to do, and where to go, and what to wear, to be "smart."—"It's smart to eat at Bozo's."—"It's smart to wear Wooziz's suits."—"Join the smart crowd at What's-His-Name's." Let them keep on! A thousand years hence, Webster's counterpart will say, "Smart: a term of disrepute, indicative of mediocrity, sham, cheapness. Common. Ordinary." Then from my grave will rise bones to cackle in glee. Lyman F. Brown.

A Fashion Note from the Field Museum.

I couldn't answer a visiting Legionnaire's request for identification of the gadget resembling a half opened pea pod which one of the African lion hunters in the Field museum wears on his right leg, so I've come to the fount of knowledge. What is it? Jonathon Webster.

[The fountain gushes, thus: It's a "thigh bell" which jingles when the Nandi warriors strut their stuff. They hang them on their girl friends, too, like fraternity pins; and the oomph wenches of the tribe sport as many as 20 at a time. The native name for this ornament is "kipkurkuriet."]

THREE SOLDIERS.

(A modern variant of the old ballad, "Three Fishers.")

Three soldiers went crawling out into the mist,
The murderous mist, when the dawn was cool,
And each thought of the woman who made him enlist

For soldiers must fight, but statesmen can sleep,
While the war they started kills millions like sheep
And the Gold Star mothers are moaning.

The war had been hatched on a pretext new,
To save what land robbers had grabbed in the past;
To glut the hate of the Chosen Few,

Stale lies and slogans are fodder for fools
And soft headed women make excellent tools,
For they hear the bands play, not men groaning.

Three women sat shaking and holding their breath
While they studied the list of the killed, and found
The names of the men they had sent to their death,
Whose torn flesh was buried in foreign ground.

For we still are like monkeys that burn their hands
Retrieving hot chestnuts for craftier lands,

The Avenue We Mispronounce.

I've stuck to DEVVON. Now comes new authority to say that a Mr. DEVONNE from France owned the surrounding farm land, gave the street its name and that DEVAWN is really the correct pronunciation. What's the final word? Heller A. Feller.

[The final word is "Tosh." The only French family by the name of Devonne that settled in the United States had 10,000 daughters, all of them chorus girls.]

Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

Incongruous juxtapositions of movie titles in advertising form a large field of current humor which has been ignored in this column because its enjoyment requires a subnormal IQ. We will, however, submit a sample, culled by Bert Bridges: "Hell's Cavalcade," with Roosevelt, Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin.

CALCIUM, A LEADING DIETARY CITIZEN.

IF every one would drink enough milk our calcium requirements would be taken care of adequately. Why is this element so vital? Because it makes for strong bones and good teeth. Furthermore, it influences the way our muscles answer messages sent to them via the nerves. When it comes to maintaining the balance between the various body fluids it is indispensable as otherwise we might lean too strongly to the acid side. In other words, it helps to preserve a desirable sort of equilibrium between acids and alkalis. A small portion of milk will serve far better than a bottle of so-called alkalizing tablets.

If there is not enough calcium in the blood not only will this fluid fail to clot when bleeding occurs but the bones will be likely to suffer. This is the reason that during pregnancy the prospective mother should imbibe more than usual. Otherwise tooth decay may ensue. The same rule applies to growing children.

For a clear understanding of the subject we should remind ourselves that the secretions from the parathyroids [small structures adjacent to the thyroid in the neck] have the power of withdrawing lime from the bones in order that the blood may have its share. Whenever these glands are overly active the skeleton may be affected. Injecting the hormone artificially increases the percentage of calcium in the circulation. Nature apparently designed this machinery to work automatically—using the bones as depots for the release of the mineral required by the blood and for its return thereto when a sufficient quota is available in the diet.

Every once in a while we will find some one who lacks calcium. There are three possible causes: The diet may contain too little; the system may lack vitamin D, which is necessary for its absorption and distribution; or an excess production of acid may occasion its too rapid excretion.

Careful estimates disclose the fact that every adult demands each day the quantity found in a pint of milk—that is: if he is well. But it must be taken in a form that can be utilized—absorbed. Vegetables are unsatisfactory sources but that furnished by cow's milk is assimilated readily unless there is something wrong within the bowel.

In digestive disturbances—particularly those accompanied by diarrhea—a quieting action upon the intestinal wall is secured by the administration of this material, and tablets of powdered limestone [calcium carbonate] or bone meal may be employed. In addition, certain organic acids are neutralized. Curiously enough, in the presence of chilblains and some skin manifestations, such as hives, the ratio of this substance in the blood is decreased greatly. Administered by mouth in large doses relief may be obtained. In the rash of serum sickness the injection of some soluble kind is often useful.

One of the most important healing aspects of lime is in the prevention and the treatment of lead poisoning. Workers exposed to fumes or dust of this metal are advised strongly to take large volumes of milk as the calcium therein drives the toxic particles into the bones, rendering them harmless. At least three pints daily are demanded and more is prescribed should colic, anemia, and nervous symptoms appear. If lacteal fluid is not well borne there are, of course, preparations such as the lactate or gluconate which may be substituted.

Finally, we must admit that there is considerable evidence to indicate that calcium exercises a protective rôle in relation to the liver. While most of us will need to give but little attention to our supply, physicians are faced not infrequently with ailments directly traceable to an inadequate intake. If one gets out of the habit of including milk in the menu a deficiency may develop.

CHECKUP ADVISED.

S. S. writes: A friend of mine has been engaged in a certain type of work for 25 years. She holds down a lever with her left foot constantly. As a result the leg appears to be swollen and bulges here and there. Above the ankle there is a brown, scablike spot. Are these symptoms serious?

REPLY.

No doubt the constant use of the foot has resulted in extra development of the muscles. However, there are so many causes for enlargement and swelling that a careful checkup is advised. Pressure from sitting too long in one position may interfere with the return circulation of blood. In consequence, the parts will appear puffy.

BLUE LIPS.

S. L. writes: My lips have a bluish look. I am told that this is a sign of heart trouble. I have high blood pressure and suffer from dizziness. What do you advise?

REPLY.

Blue lips, when associated with other signs, may indicate a lack of oxygen in the blood. It is commonly observed after exposure to cold, etc. After a careful examination your physician will be able to tell you whether or not your heart is normal. Follow his suggestions.

QUINSY.

B. M. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of quinsy sore throat?

2. If a person with tuberculosis has inflamed tonsils should they be removed?

3. Do inflamed tonsils bring fever and chills?

REPLY.

1. In quinsy, an abscess forms around the tonsil. Severe pain, fever, swelling, and difficulty in swallowing are the chief symptoms.

2. It is NEVER advisable to remove acutely infected tonsils.

3. Many cases of acute tonsilitis are attended with chills, high fever, and prostration.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina.—A story of graft on the grand scale has been uncovered in the province of Santiago del Estero by the federal government's "intervention in admintration of that province."

Stories of "irregularities" in the province's offices have been current for some time, but it was not generally foreseen that President Roberto M. Ortiz would strike so swiftly and effectually to stop them. Evidently in possession of incontrovertible evidence, the federal government suddenly deposed the governor, Dr. Pio Montenegro, and ordered investigation of affairs. Lieut. Col. Navarro, appointed to assume administration of the province, quickly ordered arrest of Dr. Eduardo Espeche, provincial finance minister, and several other high government officials.

Although a full official report is not yet available, enough has been learned to cause a sensation. In the first place, Dr. Espeche was found to possess eight government automobiles, seven of which were at once impounded, while the whereabouts of a large number of official cars, of which the province had many, gradually is being discovered.

The director general of revenue of the province, Mario Allaga, was prevented from cashing a $100,000 check from his private account in the Bank of the Nation. He is a nephew of the deposed governor.

In investigating the charge that the governor had "distributed" about 100,000 acres of state land to two intimate friends, it was discovered that land registers are missing, presumably destroyed, with the result that it will be difficult for owners of vast properties to prove titles to their lands.

A government dependency known as the state repair workshop is being investigated to discover exactly what has happened to large amounts of money paid to it monthly, and also of what its functions consisted.

Most of the prisoners are living in jail in ease and comfort. None of them shows any desire to recover his liberty. The élite literally are living on the fat of the land and, it is alleged, pay nightly visits to the houses of their cronies.

Nowhere could be found the many typewriters which should have been in use in government offices and schools, nor could any trace be found of the large stocks of stationery and office equipment ostensibly purchased for the government.

BANKRUPTCY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct 4 [Legal Friend of the People].—I entered bankruptcy in 1927.

1. I never applied for a discharge as I was ignorant of the law.

2. My attorney never advised me of it. I found out I was not discharged of my debts only a few months ago. I immediately filed again as I did not want the old debts over my head. None of the old creditors appeared at the hearing and apparently there are no interested parties.

3. I checked over the law with different attorneys and some say I cannot have a good discharge now as the creditors could claim fraud on account of not applying for it at first bankruptcy. J. G.

1. On such facts the bankruptcy is no defense. "If, after adjudication, he shall fail to file a petition for discharge within the time fixed by the statute, his right to such discharge is lost to him forever . . . he appears to be in even worse plight than if he had never filed his petition at all." [7 C. J. 368, note 61.]

2. Conceivably you might recover malpractice damages against him, which would depend on all of the circumstances.

3. Your letter does not make clear whether the questions arise under the old act or the new Chandler act. In general, we advise you to employ an attorney and leave the details to him. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

JOINT OWNERSHIP.

Chicago, Oct. 5 [Legal Friend of the People].—A and B have purchased a truck jointly for trucking purposes. The amount invested is $2,500. A has drawn up an agreement whereby they both agree to share expenses, divide the profits, and also agree not to sell the interest in the truck without the other's consent. They also agree not to draw any moneys from the account without the other's consent.

1. Is an agreement of this nature binding and legal inasmuch as no attorney has handled the agreement?

2. Is it necessary for the signatures to be notarized?

3. B insists that his wife's name must be in the agreement in order for her to take over his interest in the business at the time of his death.

4. A contends she would automatically become his heir at the time of B's death and entitled to his share in the business. Therefore, it is not necessary for her name to appear in the agreement. Which is correct? A. R.

1. There is no law requiring the employment of an attorney. The validity of the contract will depend on whether the parties are competent to carry out their intention in wording.

2. No.

3. In general, death terminates a partnership. If you wish to make contrary arrangements, this would be an additional reason for employing an attorney.

4. Correct in the sense that the assets would be sold and the proceeds distributed unless the parties can agree on continuing the business.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Oct. 13, 1914.

AMSTERDAM—The city of Ghent was captured by the Germans, who then proceded to bombard Bruges, 23 miles from Ostend, where the British have gathered a large force of troops.

PETROGRAD—The Russian armored cruiser Pallada was torpedoed and sunk in the Baltic sea by a German submarine. Its entire crew of 568 men went down with the ship. The Pallada was a 7,775 ton cruiser and was launched in 1906.

PARIS—A daring German pilot dropped six bombs on Paris, but killed no citizens and inflicted only slight property damage. One bomb struck near the door of the cathedral of Notre Dame. The pilot was chased by French airmen but escaped.

VIENNA—The commanders of five Austrian army corps were removed suddenly and replaced. The official announcement said the officers were removed at their own request because of ill health.

IN AND OUT OF THE BRIDEWELL.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Every morning one can see the police van bringing in a load of offenders to the Bridewell at about the same time as those who have served their time are coming out as free men and women. As one who was an inmate or prisoner, I wish to raise my voice in behalf of the thousands who have had this experience or are now subject to the same.

On the whole, the health standards in the prison are equal to those on the outside, with wholesome restraints physically. Most prisoners leave in better health than when entering. The real punishment begins when they pass out as free men and women. I believe 75 per cent of all prisoners are there on account of inability to secure worth-while employment. While it was hard hoeing before incarceration, with a record as an inmate of a jail the problem becomes almost hopeless. The government helps the farmer, the labor union members, the railroads, the shipping interests, and many other lines. If private business will not shoulder the job of giving ex-convicts an opportunity to live an honest and industrious life, then it ought to be recognized as a duty of the government. An Ex.

ADVICE FROM A GASSED SOLDIER.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 11.—We are hearing a lot about arms embargo, neutrality, and what not, but looking at it from a world war soldier's viewpoint, it just doesn't seem to make sense.

We have been wrangling for weeks to pass a law that will encourage human beings to murder each other. Shipping munitions to nations at war will mean nothing less than encouraging murder; and we are supposed to be a peace loving people.

I still feel the effects of gas and trench feet that I got in the last world war, but I don't complain because there are so many ex-soldiers in veterans' hospitals who are lots worse off than I am, to say nothing about those thousands of little wooden crosses in Flanders field.

I have a 15 year old son who will be of military age in a few years, and I certainly don't want him to go to war and suffer the hardships and dangers that I did; that is one of the many reasons I am for strict neutrality, without variations. Edward H. Burton.

WOULD KEEP A LITTLE LIST.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 10.—It would be a wonderful thing to file a list of names of all the folks who want the United States to again become "fairy gold mother" to European nations. Then if we do enter this war these should be the first to go overseas.

O, yes, but I was in the last mess; in no man's land, in mud waist deep, played around with cooties, saw and heard the results of deathly ammunition. Buck Private.

SALES TAX FOR RELIEF.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—I want to suggest that each of us write a letter at once to our state and city officials demanding that the entire sales tax be used as intended when we voted for it; namely, the relief of the needy. It is a disgrace that we taxpayers stand by and allow two-thirds of the tax to be used for state expenses while the people we intended it for are starving. Windsor Park.

IF IT'S NOT TOO LATE.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—I would like to commend the color artist who landscaped Columbus park. Any one interested in autumn colorings will not be disappointed in driving through the park at this time of the year. H. Deane.

NEW FANGLED SPELLING.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—I agree with Mrs. Ada H. Sickels that spelling is discouraging, especially the way they try to new fangle the words. Why not let well enough alone? Let's not make a mess of Webster's dictionary. His way is right and if spelling is taught as his book advises, we will not be confused.

What is education for? Spelling and grammar are two studies we have to use more than any other in everyday life, and it is too bad that our pupils attending school do not have these studies drilled into them more, as it is almost disgusting the way some of our high school pupils spell.

If we mess up the spelling we finally will not know which is the correct way; but possibly to some it does not make a difference. I learned Webster's way and I shall stick to it.

How delightful it is to receive a well composed letter which contains correctly spelled words. So, please, Chicago Tribune, do not confuse us with your spelling, for you will just make a mess of it. M. H.

SUBURBAN TRAIN SERVICE.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 8.—As to your editorial, "Streamliners," the two proposed new streamlined trains of the North Shore line are to be used in through Milwaukee service on the Skokie Valley route, and not in north shore commuter service as your editorial suggests. With all due respect to the North Shore's fine suburban service, its equipment is of the same caliber as the other commuter lines. In order to regain some of the Milwaukee business they naturally are forced to install new air conditioned, streamlined equipment to compete with similar steam service.

In spite of the financial troubles the rails have experienced in the last decade, their suburban service has been steadily sped up and augmented with more modern equipment. Have your transportation editor ride either the I. C. or Northwestern suburban lines during rush hours and then judge for himself whether or not the roads are operating on "standards of 40 years ago." Henry H. Belfield.

WOMEN JURORS.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—In regard to the women serving on juries: I understood, at first, that the names were to be selected from the polling lists and then drawn from some sort of a machine. Now, from the papers, it seems that they are selecting certain names. I would be interested to know something about this. Who is the person choosing these names and how is it to be done? L. M.

FATHER HELD IN MERCY SLAYING OF BLIND BOY, 13

Victim 'Better Off Dead,' Police Are Told.

Lewis Repouille. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—A 13 year old boy, a blind, crippled, deaf mute since birth, was found chloroformed to death today in his parents' home in the Bronx.

The victim was Raymond Repouille, son of Lewis Repouille, 38 years old, an elevator operator at the Columbia Presbyterian medical center.

Detectives who took the father to the police station for questioning said Repouille told them he had taken the boy's life as an act of mercy.

Similar Case Recalled.

Police said the case closely paralleled the slaying last January of 17 year old Jerry Greenfield, an imbecile since birth, whose father killed him with a chloroform saturated handkerchief while the youth was semiconscious during a seizure of paralysis. The elder Greenfield was acquitted after he told a jury he had been unbearably tortured for years by the spectacle of his son's affliction.

Police discovered the slaying of young Repouille when they went to the apartment house to investigate a telephoned report of a gas case there. They found the boy's body neatly laid out in a double bed with a chloroform soaked rag on the floor near by. Members of a police emergency squad worked over the victim for half an hour in vain.

"Better Off Dead."

A friend of the family was quoted as saying: "The boy is better off dead."

Police said Repouille appeared to be on the point of a breakdown as he answered their questions. His eyes were bloodshot and he moved his hands nervously. Police quoted him as saying:

"He was just like dead all the time. He couldn't see or talk or walk."

The detectives said Repouille told them that he had spent $500 five years ago for an operation for the boy and that he had been spending money ever since for medical attention.

"But nothing seemed to do him any good," the father was quoted.

"The boy was no use to himself or to any one else."

PRESIDENT ASKS CO-OPERATION IN RED CROSS AID

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 [Special].—President Roosevelt today advised voluntary relief agencies desiring to engage in war work to cooperate with the American Red Cross to prevent duplication and waste. His statement was made at the suggestion of Norman H. Davis, chairman of the Red Cross, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

"With the continuance of war," the President said, "human suffering will become more appalling and there will no doubt be the need for relief work in addition to that which comes within the scope of Red Cross policy and responsibility.

"It is my hope that in their activities groups desiring to carry on various kinds of relief work will supplement and not conflict with the work of agencies already established and that there will be a complete coordination of effort of all voluntary relief in order to prevent duplication and confusion, avoid waste, and promote the utmost efficiency."

Grandson, 4, Is Adopted by Ex-Senator McAdoo

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—Former United States Senator William G. McAdoo and his wife have adopted his 4 year old grandson, Richard De Onate. The child is the son of Rafael De Onate, 43 years old, and Ellen Wilson McAdoo De Onate, granddaughter of Woodrow Wilson. The De Onates were married at Albuquerque, N. M., in 1934, and divorced three years later. The former senator, now 77 years old, and his 30 year old wife, a former public health service nurse, are living in Washington, D. C., where McAdoo is chairman of the board of the President Steamship lines.

Two Women Slain

Mrs. Vera Ali, shot to death in beauty shop by her husband, Thassian Ali, who also killed another woman and himself.

For nearly three months Thassian Ali grieved over his separation from his wife, Vera. Yesterday he went to her beauty shop at 3935 Drexel boulevard and killed her with four pistol shots. Another bullet struck and fatally wounded Miss Helen Trebilcock, 22 years old, a beauty operator in the shop. Then Ali killed himself with a shot through his head.

Ali, a Turk, 43 years old, and his wife formerly operated a beauty shop together. They separated on Aug. 2. Mrs. Ali gave him $1,250 as his share of the shop, and he signed an agreement not to molest her. Recently he had worked at odd barbering jobs and moved from rooming house to rooming house.

Mrs. Ali, 37 years old, was the daughter of Dr. Charles S. Van Oosten, 7441 Crandon avenue. She and Miss Trebilcock both lived in the Van Oosten home.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The Dies committee had a three hour secret session today to investigate reports of communist activity among machinists in the Washington navy yard. UNCLE SAM'S BAR PAYS OFF ON '26' CHECKS—IN CASH

Gamblers' Moans Force Congress Hotel to Act.

Obligations of a federal government agency to the dice players of the Congress hotel bars were recognized yesterday. The payoff has, at last, begun. Checks won at the 26 games in the hotel's drinking spots, ordinarily good for merchandise only, are being redeemed in cash.

The difficulty at the Congress dates from last Sunday, when nettled patrons of the various bars in the hostelry discovered that their 26 game checks no longer were being recognized in payment for drinks.

On the evening of Oct. 7, a change of management had occurred at the hotel. And the first orders of the new management the following morning were instructions to bar men and waiters to refuse to honor the checks from the dice games.

The second order closed the games themselves.

Taken Over by R. F. C.

The hotel, they discovered, had been taken over by the Reconstruction Finance corporation which turned the management over to the National Hotel Management company. The RFC purchased the hotel outright for $1,335,000 at a recent bankruptcy sale. And the RFC is a federal agency.

Knowledge of these events in recent days has sent a number of annoyed patrons to the office of Frank Florentine, hotel manager. They usually make such remarks as: "How did we know we were betting against the government?" or "So Uncle Sam welshes on his gambling debts."

Florentine sighed a weary sigh last evening when yet another protestant approached him. Reaching into his pocket for a roll of currency, Florentine announced that his patience had been exhausted.

Who Pays? No One Knows.

"We'll make it good," he declared. "The controler is going to have to make some arrangements to take up these checks. We don't know whether the RFC or the managers must stand the loss."

An assistant disclosed that so far as the hotel has been able to learn there may be as many as 10,000 of the drink books in circulation. Several books bearing numbers between 10,000 and 20,501 already have been turned in and redeemed.

The dice games were operated by a private concessionnaire.

BEG YOUR PARDON

POLICE SLAYER DIES IN CHAIR AT COUNTY JAIL

Pays Penalty for Crime Committed in 1928.

Steve Cygan, whose criminal record goes back 15 years, was put to death in the electric chair in the county jail early today for an almost forgotten crime—the murder of a policeman more than a decade ago.

He went to his death calmly. He was strapped in the death chair in 15 seconds. The current—1,900 volts—was turned on at 12:01 a. m. Six minutes later a jury of five physicians officially pronounced him dead. Fifty witnesses attended the execution, which was supervised by Sherif Thomas J. O'Brien and Warden Frank Sain.

In his last hours Cygan had the sympathy of 22 cellmates who went on a hunger strike in protest against his execution. As a reciprocal gesture the murderer refused a last meal.

Fled to Michigan.

Cygan, who was 35 years old, was convicted of killing Policeman John Chiska in an attempted robbery in a jewelry store at 2218 North Lorel avenue on April 5, 1928. He fled to Michigan, where he attempted robbery. He was caught and sentenced to the Michigan state prison. He was paroled a year ago, but immediately seized by Illinois authorities, tried for the old murder, and convicted.

Cygan was given four stays after his conviction, during which periods he appealed to the United States Supreme court. That tribunal refused to interfere. Cygan sought to escape the extreme penalty on the ground he was found guilty on his own confession. His attorney contended he should not have been obliged to incriminate himself.

Loses Last Hope.

His last hope was dashed yesterday when Gov. Horner refused a further stay with this observation:

"Cygan was convicted of the killing of a police officer who was engaged in the discharge of his duty. After the murder he fled the jurisdiction of the state and went to Michigan, where he subsequently committed armed robbery. In addition he has a criminal record dating back to 1924."

Cygan was visited yesterday by several brothers and sisters, and given spiritual consolation by Father Ernst, jail chaplain. Cygan's last act was to write a farewell letter to his parents. Until the end Cygan denied he killed Policeman Chiska.

FIND CHICAGOAN GUILTY OF VOTE FRAUD IN JOLIET

A jury in the Circuit court of Judge Ben F. Anderson at Joliet last night found John Lamburger guilty of illegal voting in the June 5 judicial election. He will be sentenced next Wednesday. Judge Anderson may send him to prison for one to five years or impose a fine up to $5,000.

Lamburger, whose home is at 601 East 92d place, Chicago, was alleged to have taken a squad of repeaters, none of them registered, to Joliet to vote the straight Democratic ticket. Several of the illegal voters testified they were paid $5 for each ballot cast.

The defendant, who was arrested on June 6, did not take the stand and the identity of those who employed him was not made known. His brother, Alex Lamburger, 614 East 88th street, is awaiting trial on a similar charge.

THREE YOUTHFUL BURGLARS SEIZED LOOTING A HOME

Three youthful burglars, one of them a former inmate of the state school for boys at Dixon, were seized by police yesterday as they were ransacking the home of Stanley McCullough at 8246 South Carpenter street. They are Arthur Crandall, 15 years old, 6431 Aberdeen street; Martin Finn, 14, of 6749 South Throop street, and Stanley Cozzolino, 14, of 6753 South Loomis street.

Crandall told Sergt. John Majher that he escaped two months ago from the Dixon school, to which he had been sentenced for six months on a burglary charge. He and his companions said they broke into the home of Theodore Taylor, 7933 South Elizabeth street, and stole some jewelry before looting the McCullough home.

ICE MAN SLAIN; SEIZE WOMAN.

Gabriel Silich, 21 years old, 1308 Hastings street, an ice man, was shot in the heart and killed late last night in the rear room of a restaurant at 3601 State street. Police arrested Lessie Jordan, 23, a colored girl, of 3621 Wabash avenue. She said she shot Silich during a struggle over his advances to her.

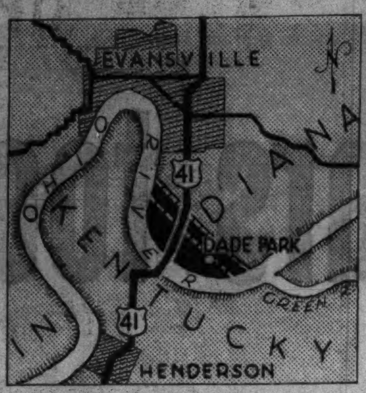
Kentucky Divided



Indiana is entertaining a proposal to buy part of Kentucky (black) which has moved across the Ohio river with the changing of the river channel. The broken white lines mark the former course of the river.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special].—A proposal that Indiana buy part of Kentucky will go before the 1941 legislature, William H. Treadway, secretary of the Indiana Interstate Coöperation commission, said today.

Officials of both states are concerned over conditions in the Green River Island area south of Evansville. Many believe the solution would be sale of the island and all land north of the Ohio river at that point to Indiana.

There are four roadhouses, with unpoliced drinking and gambling, on the island. They are open all hours, and draw largely from Evansville. Indiana police are without authority because the island is in Kentucky. Inclusion of the island in Indiana would technically stop liquor sales in the roadhouses because sales are not permitted outside city limits in Indiana.

It is the only part of Kentucky north of the Ohio river, which elsewhere is the boundary between the two states. The river changed its course there to create the Kentucky island.

JURY DISMISSED IN CHAMPAIGN GAMBLING CASE

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special].—A jury of six men and six women was dismissed by Circuit Judge Frank B. Leonard late today when it failed to reach a verdict, after 25 hours' deliberation, in the first trial stemming from an investigation of vice and gambling near the University of Illinois campus.

The jury was the first mixed body to hear evidence in the Champaign County Circuit court since the new jury law became effective on July 1.

The case was that of Roy [Riley] Sharp, who was charged with keeping a gaming house at 113 and 115 North Market street in Champaign, about one mile from the university campus. His trial began last Monday and was placed in the hands of the jury at 3 p. m. yesterday.

The trial was the first of six similar cases scheduled as a result of the grand jury investigation which followed the fatal shooting of a university sophomore at a disorderly house in Champaign last spring.

St. Charles Boy Pleads Not Guilty of Murder

Charles Allen Dain, 14 years old, pleaded not guilty of murder yesterday in the McHenry county Circuit court at Woodstock. Dain, a former inmate of St. Charles School for Boys, shot and beat Lester Groth to death on Sept. 26. The boy had been placed on Groth's McHenry county farm by school officials. Judge William L. Pierce appointed David Joslyn Jr. as Dain's attorney.

CAMPBELL PLANS A CONFERENCE ON HANDBOOK WIRES

Denies Reports That He'll Prosecute Utilities.

United States District Attorney William J. Campbell announced yesterday some time within the next two weeks he will confer with officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the Western Union Telegraph company, and the Illinois Bell Telephone company in connection with the government's attempt to smash horse race handbooks as illegal lotteries.

The wire services were mentioned in connection with indictments returned by a federal grand jury in August charging that such alleged lotteries were conducted by Moses L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher and New Deal critic, and others high in his organization. Trial on this indictment and other indictments which charge Annenberg and his associates with income tax evasion are pending in the District court.

Denies Reports of Action.

Yesterday the district attorney denied reports he plans early action against the wire services as a result of their being mentioned in the Annenberg case. The grand jury in its indictment merely stated that such services are essential to the alleged handbook lotteries.

The wire companies contend they are required by law as public utilities to provide service to any one asking for it and able to pay. Heretofor they have made numerous offers to coöperate with law enforcing officials by cutting off service wherever its illegal use can be shown.

Copies Mailed to Companies.

Campbell explained that so far the government has simply mailed copies of the lottery indictments to the wire services accompanied by a brief note explaining they were for the "information" of company officials. In reply, the companies merely acknowledged receipt of the documents.

The next step will be the conference between the district attorney and the company representatives. Campbell insisted that he has planned no course of action and will not plan any until after discussing the matter across the table with the officials. He indicated that much will depend upon the attitude of the companies.

Arraignment Oct. 30.

Annenberg's arraignment has been set for Oct. 30. Twenty co-defendants are named in a total of 10 indictments. The government, Campbell said, has not decided whether to consolidate any of the cases or to try them separately.

Campbell disclosed yesterday that the government soon will resume its inquiry into the incomes of Chicago gamblers and their associates. A special grand jury is to be empaneled next month to go further into the affairs of William R. Skidmore, reputed fixer for a powerful gambling syndicate, who is under indictment for income tax evasion.

The district attorney recently conferred with high government officials entrusted with the enforcement of federal income tax laws. This led to reports that a new and wider income tax investigation of underworld characters is being planned.

New Executioner Named for Sing Sing Prison

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 12 [Special].—The executioner who will succeed Robert G. Elliott at Sing Sing prison is Joseph Francell, a world war veteran of Cairo, N. Y. Francell is 42 years old and an electrician by trade. He will have an alternate not yet named. During Elliott's recent fatal illness Francell handled the death chamber switches on August 22, when Arthur Perry was executed. The decision to have two executioners involves a new policy at the prison.

DECLARED SANE A YEAR AGO, HE LOSES THIS TIME

A year ago Cecil L. Snyder convinced a jury of men that he was sane with a glowing account of the 20 million dollars he dreamed of making. Yesterday he was sent to the Elgin State hospital after he had told the same story to a sanity jury of 11 men and a woman before Acting Judge Albert E. Isley in County court.

Snyder's story was that enemies were trying to steal his invention to make water run uphill, and his plans for a perpetual motion machine. He said he meant nevertheless to make the 20 millions by suing states which have infringed his patented system of registering the titles of automobiles.

The jury deliberated 10 minutes and then agreed with Snyder's wife, Minnie, and her attorneys, Laurence Jacobs and M. W. Meek, that Snyder is insane. Mrs. Snyder, who lives at 217 West Elm street and is on relief, said her husband annoyed her for not keeping their four children on a scale commensurate with his 20 million dollar prospects.

INDICT WEALTHY SLAYER'S BRIDE AS DRESS THIEF

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12 [Special].—Mrs. Vera Hunt Gallogly, bride of fugitive Richard Gallogly, wealthy murderer who fled to Texas, was indicted by a grand jury here today on a charge of larceny.

The indictment charges that on last May 1, only a few days before she married Gallogly in prison "to make a man of him," she was apprehended as she attempted to steal six dresses, a lipstick, and a box of rouge from a downtown Atlanta department store.

Meantime, Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia sent a telegram to Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas urging him to return Gallogly here for the continuation of his life sentence imposed for his "thrill" slaying of a drug store clerk in a holdup. Gallogly broke away from two prison guards last Friday and fled with his bride to Dallas, Tex., where both surrendered.

Don Juan the lipstick that stays on

New Way to Buy a New Car at a New Low Cost

Preferred Buyers Plan
The '40 MODEL in AUTO FINANCING

COSTS YOU LESS

SAVE AS MUCH AS 50%. How? As simple as this: Preferred Buyers Plan is based on an entirely new principle: The larger your down payment, the lower your finance cost. Thus you control the rate you pay. No other finance plan in America offers a basic rate so low. Nowhere else can you finance a new car purchase with equal advantages and protection.

RATES AS LOW AS $3 PER YEAR PER $100

SEE HOW YOU SAVE

Shown below are the usual unpaid balances on low priced cars. Same rates of cost (and savings) apply to substantially larger unpaid balances on higher priced cars.

Finance Balance	Usual Finance Charge	Preferred Buyers Plan Cost	SAVING
$300	$18.00	$ 9.00	50%
400	24.00	16.00	33⅓%
500	30.00	25.00	16⅔%

PROTECTS YOU MORE

Money saving rates are only half the Preferred Buyers Plan story. Along with them, you get all the benefits of the GFC Policy of GUARANTEED Customer Protection: Complete insurance protection—complete disclosure of costs and coverage. Accident repair bills below deductible insurance coverage financed without charge. Liberal rebates for prepayment. Payment dates arranged to suit income dates. 60 days grace allowed during the term of your contract. And many more.

Your dealer has the whole story. Ask him about Preferred Buyers Plan and the new GFC Policy—or write to us for a copy. Learn why Preferred Buyers Plan is called "The '40 Model in Financing!"

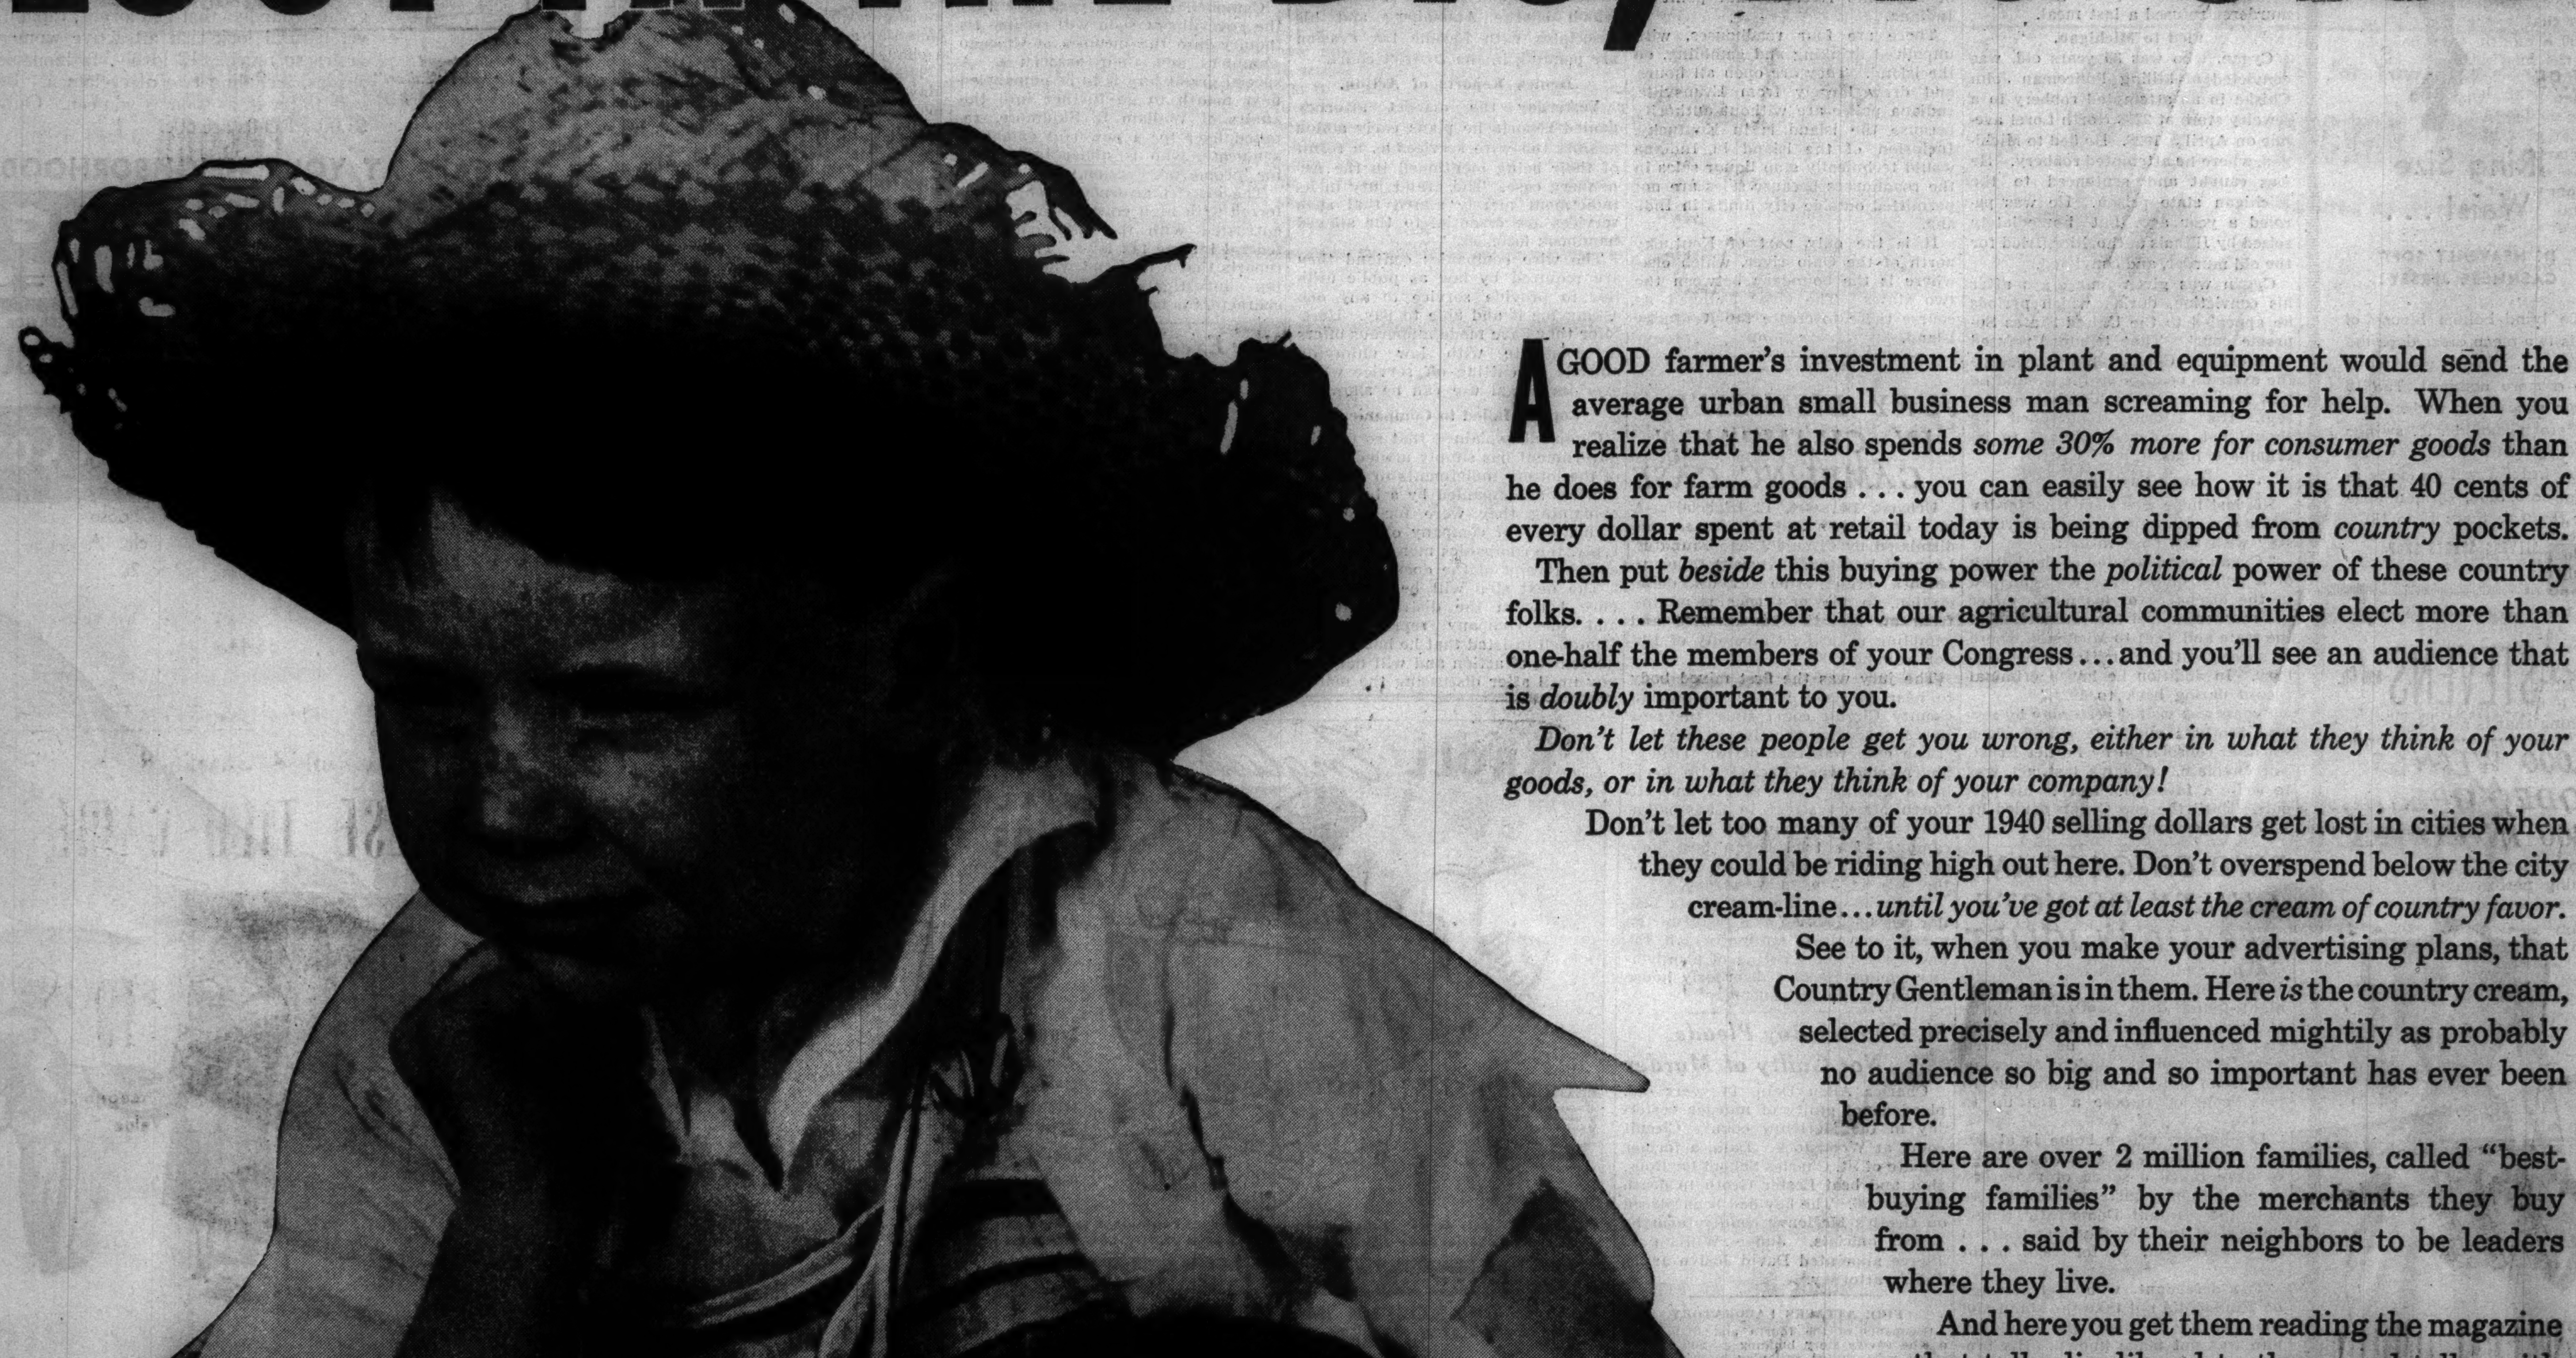
LOST IN THE BIG, BIG CITY



A GOOD farmer's investment in plant and equipment would send the average urban small business man screaming for help. When you realize that he also spends some 30% more for consumer goods than he does for farm goods . . . you can easily see how it is that 40 cents of every dollar spent at retail today is being dipped from country pockets.

Then put beside this buying power the political power of these country folks. . . . Remember that our agricultural communities elect more than one-half the members of your Congress . . . and you'll see an audience that is doubly important to you.

Don't let these people get you wrong, either in what they think of your goods, or in what they think of your company!

Don't let too many of your 1940 selling dollars get lost in cities when they could be riding high out here. Don't overspend below the city cream-line . . . until you've got at least the cream of country favor.

See to it, when you make your advertising plans, that Country Gentleman is in them. Here is the country cream, selected precisely and influenced mightily as probably no audience so big and so important has ever been before.

Here are over 2 million families, called "best-buying families" by the merchants they buy from . . . said by their neighbors to be leaders where they live.

And here you get them reading the magazine that talks livelihood to them, and talks with so much power that no idea backed by its pages has ever failed to get action!

GIVE UP? THESE BLIND MEN DON'T KNOW THE WORDS

They Organize Workshop, Earn a Living.

At 3263 Ogden avenue is a shabby little building. There, almost daily, 15 rather proud men report for work. They have a handicap in common—blindness—that would overwhelm others of lesser courage. But they're too busy to complain. They work for their living.

The shabby building is the workshop of the Mutual Progressive Association of the Blind. The association was organized in June, 1938, by 50 blind men, and the workshop was opened only last January. Fred S. Sherman, 57 years old, who has been sightless since childhood, more or less founded the association.

Wish to Be Independent.

For some years many of Chicago's blind learned handicraft and worked in the broom shop at the Industrial Home for the Blind. One day the broom shop was closed and its blind employés were thrown out of work. After that, except for a state pension of $30 a month, they had no income. But the men wished to be independent, to work for a living.

Then it was that Mr. Sherman proposed a coöperative workshop. Out of that grew the Mutual Progressive association.

The start wasn't easy. Rent and equipment took all but $1 of their capital. With that dollar material for rubber mats was bought. Two mats were made. They were sold and the money was reinvested. Before long a nice little business was going. At the start only two men were employed. Now there are fifteen.

Make 40 Kinds of Brushes.

In addition to mats, the shop makes 40 kinds of brushes, and has $900 worth of finished brushes in the warehouse. There is a seasonal slump at present, limiting employment to four days a week.

Now the association is hoping to expand, Mr. Sherman said. It could use $500 to open another shop to manufacture corn straw brooms. That would give employment to nearly 30 members.

Many of the association's members lost their sight in middle life. One was a sailor, another an Alaskan miner, a third a locomotive engineer. The youngest is 40, and the oldest, 75. Blindness is their common bond. They'll tell you they never send out anything that is not perfect.

15,000 WITNESS RODEO OPENING; 300 IN CONTESTS

More than 15,000 persons saw the opening performance of the cowboy contests and rodeo at the Chicago Stadium last night. Buck Jones, screen star, and his horse were featured performers.

The program included exhibitions of wild steer wrestling, bronco riding, calf roping, trick riding and roping. Among the performers were boys from 6 to 14 years of age.

The show will run through Oct. 29. More than 300 contestants are entered. Prizes totaling $18,000 will be awarded.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN HER AUTO STRIKES A TREE

Mrs. Georgine Erickson, 24 years old, was killed last night when she lost control of her automobile at Princeton avenue and 118th street and crashed into a tree. She was pronounced dead at the Roseland Community hospital. She lived at 242 West 116th street.

Leland L. Reese, 20 years old, of Akron, O., died yesterday in the Highland Park hospital, Highland Park, of injuries suffered Wednesday when the truck he was driving overturned and burned in Waukegan road, just south of Deerfield.

Michael Papinski, 77, of 2447 North Artesian avenue, died in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries suffered on Oct. 3 when he was struck by an automobile at Diversey and Maplewood avenues. Robert Mandel, 47, of 3619 Odell avenue, was the driver.

Policeman Peter Rebholz of the Morton Grove village police last night chased a speeding motorist until a blowout in Oakton street, Niles Center, forced him to give up the chase. He broadcast the speeder's license number. Later Evanston police found a car with that number wrecked at the end of Brummell street, a dead end street, near Dodge avenue, in Evanston. They traced the number to John Michelau, 25 years old, 205 Asbury avenue, and found him severely injured at home. They took him to the St. Francis hospital.

Edgar Stewart, 21, of 1739 Monroe street, and a woman companion were injured yesterday when Stewart drove his car into a concrete pillar in the street car tunnel under the river at Washington boulevard and Clinton street. Stewart and his companion, Miss Helen O'Donald, 24, of 4024 North Ashland avenue, were hurt.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 653 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 501 were killed in Chicago, where 17,129 were injured in the same period.

A LITTLE ADVICE: BE CAREFUL! IT'S FRIDAY THE 13TH

If you can't cross your shoe laces today, cross your fingers. If you can't find a white horse, look for a red headed girl or a pink pig. If you can't find a four leaf clover, and the season is late, pick up any pins you find on the floor.

If you haven't a rabbit's foot to wear around your neck, carry a salt cellar with you, and at awkward, uneasy intervals toss a pinch of salt over your left shoulder. And if you get a chance tonight, look at the new moon over that same shoulder. It arose, bright and new, last night, just in time to help you ward off the ill fate that today, Friday the 13th, will bring unless you take care.

If you do one, or all, of these things today, you're safe from the witches for 11 months, for Friday the 13th, which has occurred only one other time this year, will not occur again until September, 1940.

BOYS FIND EVEN A SILENT TRUCK WILL GO BANG!

A shiny delivery truck silently came to a stop in front of 3950 South Rockwell street yesterday. Victor Scripel, 5 years old, and Robert Farrell, 7, eyed it wonderingly.

"That isn't a real truck," said Victor. "It doesn't make any noise."

The driver, Anton Brolyk, 10310 South Homan avenue, went into a store nearby. The boys climbed into the truck. They touched one shiny gadget, then another. There was a gentle hum. The truck began moving. Victor and Robert jumped to the street. But the truck kept on.

In front of 4001 Rockwell street the machine smashed into a parked car, causing slight injuries to Samuel Dunning, 9952 Yale avenue. It then sideswiped another car and ripped into a front porch at 4005 Rockwell street.

Police sent Victor and Robert to their homes at 3932 and 3934 Rockwell street and warned them not to fool around any more with electric trucks.

FOR HALLOWEEN LET TABLE PLAY IMPORTANT PART

Spooky Dishes Lend Eerie Enchantment to Parties.

"Ding-dong, the witch is dead"—but not at Halloween parties. Nor will she be, as long as she and her company of black cats, hobgoblins, and jack o'lanterns lend such eerie enchantment to October parties.

No holiday offers more opportunity for dressing up foods to suit the season. Just how easy it is for everyday foods to wear the jack o'lantern and black cat symbols for Halloween can be seen in the following list of holiday party food suggestions:

HALLOWEEN SANDWICHES AND BREADS.

Spook Biscuits: With a sharp knife cut out jack o'lantern features from rounds of biscuit dough and bake. Or press raisins and bits of candied fruit into the dough to make the spooky faces.

Black Cat Rolls: Shape flat round buns from yeast dough. Cut a black cat stencil from cardboard and just before baking, brush rolls with egg white through the stencil. Still holding stencil in place, sprinkle with poppy seed. Bake.

Jack O'Lantern Sandwiches: Cut an equal number of rounds from white and whole wheat bread. Spread the whole wheat bread with cream cheese and a thin layer of apricot jam; cut jack o'lantern features in the white bread with sharp knife. Place white bread on top of dark bread so that the apricot jam shows through the cutouts.

Black Cat Sandwiches: Cut black cat from cardboard to use as pattern for cutting bread. Spread with cream cheese and sprinkle with finely chopped ripe olives.

JACK O'LANTERN SALADS.

Gelatin Pumpkins: Prepare orange-flavored gelatin salad containing shredded carrots, cabbage, and pineapple. Pour into individual rounded and ribbed molds. When ready to serve, turn out on chicory beds and place a short stick of raw carrot into the top of each for a stem.

Apple Lanterns: Cut slice from top of uniform apples. Scoop out centers leaving wall about ½ inch thick. Brush insides with lemon juice. Cut out features in side of apple, brushing with lemon juice to prevent darkening. Combine chopped pulp, scooped from center with celery, sliced orange, chopped celery, and mayonnaise. Fill apples with this mixture.

SPOOKY DESSERTS.

Halloween Pies: Bake raisin tarts without a top crust. Using cardboard patterns smaller than the tarts, cut witches, black cats, or other Halloween symbols from additional pastry. Place between two cookie sheets to hold them flat and bake for 10 minutes in a hot oven. Place one of these on the top of each tart. . . . Bake a deep dish, single crust, peach or apricot pie. When ready to serve top with whipped cream and sprinkle with chocolate shot or decorate with pumpkin-head features of gum drops.

Cookie and Cake Faces: Frost cakes or cookies with orange icing and using a wood-pick draw on jack o'lantern features in melted dipping chocolate. . . . Frost cakes with white mountain icing and coat top with a veneer of melted, unsweetened chocolate. Use orange icing, or candies to make pumpkin faces or cats' heads.

Pudding and Ice Cream Shivers: Hollow out yellow cup cakes and fill with round ball of chocolate ice cream or place a ball of lemon or orange sherbet in hollowed out spice cakes. . . . Chill orange Bavarian or Spanish cream in individual round molds. Decorate with features of candied orange peel. . . . Steam chocolate pudding in a flat-bottomed round mold. Pipe on features with whipped cream and serve surrounded with foamy sauce.

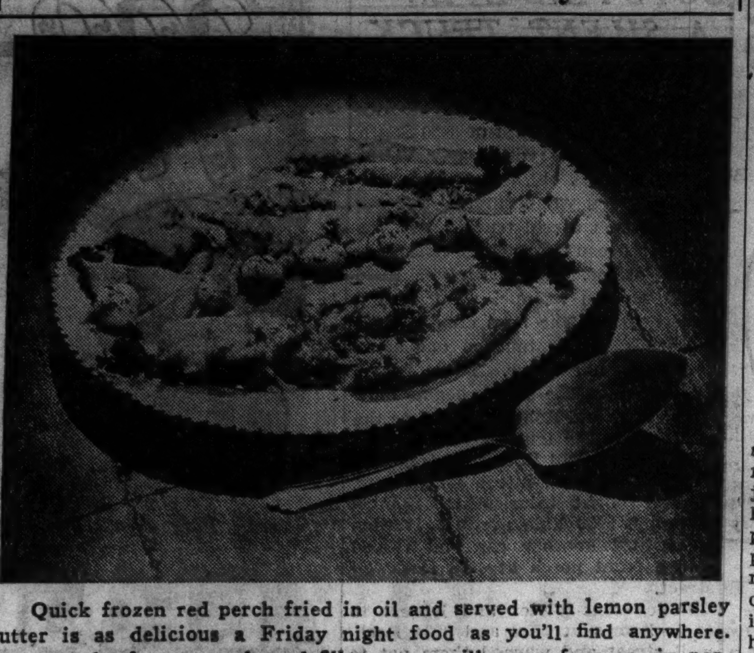
HALLOWEEN CONFECTIONS.

Taffy Apple Faces: Prepare taffy apples using a red-colored sirup. While sirup is still warm press features of raisins into the sides of the apples. Serve on paper doilies with stick handle up.

Spooky Popcorn Balls: Make popcorn balls using orange-tinted sirup. While still sticky press in features of nuts and raisins.

You will find many more Halloween ideas for both menus and foods in Mary Meade's "Holidays and Holiday Meals." It contains a section of recipes and menu plans for each holiday occasion in the year. You can get it for 20 cents at the Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower; or it will be mailed for 23 cents in stamps. "When Spooks and Witches Dine" [price 2 cents; 3 cents, by mail] will also help you solve your Halloween serving problems.

Red Perch for Friday



Quick frozen red perch fried in oil and served with lemon parsley butter is as delicious a Friday night food as you'll find anywhere. Separate the frozen or thawed fillets—two will serve four or six persons—and roll in seasoned flour. Fry in a small amount of cooking oil in a heavy skillet, for 8 to 10 minutes, turning to brown both sides. Cream 4 tablespoons butter, add 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 4 tablespoons minced parsley. Blend thoroughly and serve with fish.

HERE'S A FESTIVE NEW DRESS FOR ANGEL FOOD CAKE

This is one of those recipes that turn the second day appearance of angel food or sponge cake into something more festive than its fresh-from-the-oven debut. You can use fresh cake or lady fingers if you like, of course.

JELLY SPONGE PUDDING.

Angel food, sponge cake, or lady fingers
Tart jelly
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup scalded milk
3 eggs, separated
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Spread inch thick slices of cake or split lady fingers with tart jelly. Line bottom and sides of a round pudding dish, pan, or mold with cake, jelly side up. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot milk. Combine slightly beaten egg yolks and sugar; add gelatin dissolved in milk, and cook in top of double boiler for five minutes, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Cool and chill until slightly thickened. Add vanilla and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Chill until mixture begins to congeal. Then turn into cake lined pudding dish and chill until firm. Cut in wedges to serve and garnish with whipped cream.

TUNA AND CORN CASSEROLE HAS A ZIPPY TASTE

Here is a really different tuna dish. And it's different in the right direction, with a zippiness lacking in some of the bland fish dishes.

TUNA AND CORN CASSEROLE.

¼ cup melted butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
¾ teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon onion juice
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 egg yolks
1 cup flaked tuna fish
1 No. 2 can whole kernel corn
½ cup buttered bread crumbs
1 canned pimiento, cut in strips
Parsley

Blend melted butter and flour and add milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add mustard, onion juice, salt, and pepper. Remove from heat and blend beaten egg yolks with part of the mixture. Return to saucepan, mixing well, and cook for two minutes longer. Add flaked tuna and corn and turn into greased casserole in which a layer of buttered crumbs has been placed. Top with remaining buttered crumbs and garnish with strips of pimiento. Bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve hot, garnished with parsley.

TASTING IS BELIEVING: ONION DRESSING PUTS ZIP IN FRUIT SALADS

The only way you can prove it to most people is by feeding it to them—but fruit and onions are a grand flavor combination for salads. Onion gives a fruit salad just the right amount of zip. Try this onion dressing on any tart fruit—it makes something special of orange, apricot, and peach salads in particular.

ONION CELERY DRESSING.

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon paprika
½ tablespoon mustard
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup salad oil
¾ cup onion juice
1 tablespoon celery seed

Add all dry ingredients to vinegar and bring to boil. Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. Beat with rotary beater, gradually adding oil and onion juice. Fold in celery seed. Chill before serving.

"Look how pretty my hands were then," she sobbed—"Now they Look coarse and rough from dishwashing!" But she learned . . .

And was Jane happy when she found she could avoid rough dishpan hands. Her mother said it was because of the strong soap she used—and told her to change to gentle Ivory Soap for dishes. In two weeks her hands were smooth again. Ivory, so pure that it's safe even for a baby's tender skin, costs only about 1¢ a day for all your dishwashing. That's less than it costs to wash dishes with granulated package soaps. Ask your dealer for the thrifty "Large-Size" cake of Ivory Soap today.

OVERHEARD AT TREASURE ISLAND:

"Behind the Cup," a sound picture in Cinecolor showing at Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre, Golden Gate International Exposition, is exciting the interest of those who enjoy good coffee.

"I never realized how important the coffee-tester is!"

"I NEVER REALIZED HOW IMPORTANT THE COFFEE-TESTER IS," remark people who visit Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre. And he is important! Not until he passes on the quality of each individual lot of coffee is it put into the Hills Bros. blend. Likewise, every succeeding step in the production of Hills Bros. Coffee is carefully checked to insure uniform quality . . . to cause you to say, "Now that's what I call good coffee!"

"The Correct Grind is exactly right"

"I've used several types of coffee-makers and always get delicious coffee when I follow the directions. As far as regrinding the Correct Grind—never! When you do that you lose flavor, freshness, and aroma."

IMPORTANT: Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean.

DRIP METHOD: 6 to 8 minutes preferred. If less than 2/3 capacity is made, water will drip too fast giving weak brew.

GLASS VACUUM MAKERS: Put upper bowl on after water boils. Coffee and water should be in contact 5 to 7 minutes.

PERCOLATOR: Start with cold or hot water. Percolate slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady pumping starts.

COFFEEPOT: Bring coffee and water to boiling. Stir well. Add small amount of cold water and let stand 3 minutes to settle grounds.

STEEPING: Pour boiling water on coffee. Stir well. Stir again in 5 minutes. Steep for a total of 10 to 15 minutes.

"How good will you have to get before the house begins to warm up?"

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

So Don't Be Hampered—Use Clothes Hamper.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

To take advantage of all the canned goods bargains available this week-end, Chicago homemakers are going to need market baskets that will stretch to clothes hamper proportions.

As bargains in fresh fruits and vegetables decline, canned goods stand out proportionately. Most of these offerings are this year's cannery output, and both fancy and everyday packs are featured. Fruits, vegetables, tomato and fruit juices are included.

While fresh produce bargains no longer crowd each bushel basket, there are plenty of good buys for the woman who knows her way among the price tags.

Sweet Potatoes Reasonable.

Featured everywhere, sweet potatoes are not much higher than whites. Both are quite reasonable.

The aristocratic artichoke and plebeian spinach are among low priced green vegetables. Broccoli and Brussels sprouts are highish; cauliflower still is reasonable, although a penny or so higher. Green beans are lower, but look carefully behind that bargain label—quality ranges from quite poor to just good. Carrots are reasonable again.

Local varieties of summer squash are just about gone, but there are plenty of acorn and hubbard winter squashes around. Italian Zucchini squash, in appearance a double for cucumber, is being shipped here from the south and is an inexpensive vegetable choice, as are all squashes.

Salad News Is Bad!

It's another tough week for the salad eaters. The price of lettuce is sky high and it's a limp leaf, loosely packed head you get for your money in most cases. Tomatoes may be off a penny or two in some stores, but they're still on the expensive side. Only cucumbers are cheap enough to be called reasonable. Cabbage, while not so cheap as it is in the summer, is the most reasonable vegetable choice for salads.

Anticipating your salad planning difficulties, recipes which call for less expensive ingredients are offered.

BANANA CABBAGE SALAD.

[Serves 4 to 6.]

Toss 1½ cups shredded cabbage, an equal amount of sliced bananas, and 1 large green pepper cut in rings with mayonnaise which has been thinned with lemon juice. Serve in salad bowl and sprinkle with paprika.

BEAN SPROUT SALAD.

[Serves 4.]

1 cup bean sprouts, drained
½ cup chopped celery
1 small cucumber, sliced
¼ cup sliced radishes
4 or 5 rings of green pepper

Toss all ingredients together in salad bowl with French dressing seasoned with a little soy sauce.

DATE WALDORF SALAD.

[Serves 6.]

2 medium sized unpealed eating apples, chopped
½ cup celery, chopped
¼ cup chopped nut meats
½ cup chopped, pitted dates
Mayonnaise or boiled dressing to moisten

Mix all ingredients together and serve.

Other recipes for inexpensive fruit, vegetable, and jellied salads are contained in Mary Meade's booklet, "Everyday Adventures with Salads." It can be obtained by sending 5 cents in stamps.

Apples in Spotlight.

Apples continue to hold the limelight on bargain fruit shelves. Featured are Jonathan, McIntosh, Greening, Delicious, and Wealthy varieties.

Supplies of early fall and late summer fruits are nearly cleaned up Italian prunes came from cold storage most of last week. Peaches and Bartlett pears are almost gone. Winter pears, with the possible exception of Kieffers, are not yet being retailed widely. Melons will be gone in a few weeks. Prices are rising.

Both western grapes and Concords are up this week. The western varieties are of only fair quality.

Failure of the citrus season to get under way in September as usual also contributes to the present shortage of fresh fruits. Florida grapefruit is dribbling in, however, and quantities should be sufficient to bring the price down a little this week-end. The price is by no means low as yet. Some grapefruit is also coming from California. It is too early in the season for good flavor, however.

Most oranges are now coming from California. They're tiny things, but the quality is rather nice and some stores are featuring them this week-end.

Staple Times Here Again.

Time to buy staples, lard, flour, and sugar in particular, is on the week-ends. Regular prices on these three items have never dropped back to pre-boomlet levels, but they are specialed at about that price on sale days. Navy beans, rice, and similar staple goods are being featured in one store and another each week-end.

No bargain buy this week in pork—unless you're speaking in terms of fresh hams and smoked picnics or callies, all of which are excellent buys. You'll not find veal and beef widely featured this time, although at least one chain has sale-priced standing rib roasts. A few stores will feature leg of lamb, and there should be some very good bargains in lamb chops for the bargain sleuth.

Poultry, stewing, frying, and roasting, is a bargain headliner. Some stores are featuring ducklings and turkeys as well as chicken.

Cranberries Improve Less Expensive Cuts of Meat

If the less expensive cuts of meat are a necessary part of your food budget make the most of them by proper cooking methods and a few changes in flavor. For instance, here's a quick, easy way to improve the cheaper cuts of meat with cranberries: For each three pounds of meat [pot roast or boiled meats of less tender cuts] add two cups of raw cranberries to the gravy or juice while it is cooking.

Try Spicy Grapefruit Juice, Piping Hot—and So to Bed

Hot, spicy grapefruit juice makes a pleasant nightcap on chilly evenings. To make this tasty beverage heat about three cups of grapefruit juice with a piece of stick cinnamon, broken, and six to eight whole cloves. Cover the saucepan and simmer for five minutes; strain and sweeten to taste before serving.

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is engaged to Tom's brother, Derek, a veterinarian. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. When they reach the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek, rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts, found him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown and dies soon after. Alison visits Wynn at Chenerys. Riding near the scene of Tom's first accident they find the dead body of Glover. Official verdict is that Glover was killed by a shot from a passing car. Kingsclere, Derek, and Maj. Fitts all drove that way. Inspector Headcorn from Scotland Yard investigates. He finds the murder weapon. It belongs to Maj. Fitts, but was stolen the afternoon of the day Glover was shot—after Kingsclere and Derek had called. Dr. Blount, who'd attended Tom and pronounced his death due to a heart attack, suffers an apparent stroke while the inspector questions him. His colleague, Dr. Cox, says he can't be disturbed for three weeks. The inspector sends for Dr. Colin Ladbroke, who knew Tom's heart was sound. Colin exposes Dr. Blount's illness as a fake and gets him to admit he gave Tom an anti-tetanus injection, which caused his death, as he had not been desensitized after a previous injection. The first injection must have been given Tom after his first fall when he was unconscious—whoever gave it must have murdered Glover because he was a witness—and Derek was seen bending over Tom. The post mortem on Tom proves murder. Derek admits having anti-tetanus serum which was taken from his room. Derek goes out for a walk in the night—that same night Mrs. Glover is beaten up. Her assailant was evidently seeking to destroy evidence in the farmhouse.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

A FUTILE SEARCH.

Yard by yard the men followed the tracks.

"Feet wrapped round to disguise the soles," declared the superintendent, leading the way. "Not much doubt of it. Four tracks—two pairs. Yes, and the wrappings were removed in the middle of the tarred surface," he called back from the road.

Joining him, Headcorn picked up a few cotton shreds. None was more than an inch long. They were white, flakey, and crumbling.

"Ravelings from a torn Turkish towel. Torn into strips and folded round and round his feet a towel that's been washed for years on end would fray like this. Well, we may be able to discover what household's minus a bath towel."

"But what, sir, was it all about?" persisted the sergeant. "Going to do any more hunting?"

Headcorn's eye traveled slowly over the outhouses. "Yes," he said grimly. "This time with a toothcomb."

Hours of search, outside and in, came to nothing. Indeed, during the whole of that exasperating day only one thing brought encouragement. It was a report delivered by one of the superintendent's men. Headcorn nodded with satisfaction, and as it was now late, took his way back to Bewkesbury for a hasty meal.

In the lobby of the Bull and Crown he found Miss Marchmont awaiting him. She rose, slightly furtive and yet defiant, her shoulders straight in their well tailored brown tweeds, her gray eyes piercingly bright but encircled by dark smudges. She spoke quickly and in a low, husky voice, trying to achieve matter-of-factness.

"Inspector Headcorn? You remember me, I see. Might I have a word with you?"

"Thanks. It's only about the inquest on my brother-in-law. I understand it's been adjourned for further evidence. Is that so?"

"Quite. And——?"

"Shall I be required as a witness? If not—well, I ought to be getting back to my job, you know. It's in London. I came down to be with my sister over the funeral. I really can't afford any more time off."

Headcorn looked at her thoughtfully. She had not, he recalled, been at Sompton when Boldre died. Still, it was what went before that counted. . . .

"I suppose we could get you back if it was deemed advisable?"

"O, certainly! You can reach me by telephone at this address." She handed over a card. At the bottom ran the line, Joscelyn Riding School, Wimbledon Common. She added, unnecessarily, "I've never lived here, you know. I just manage an occasional week-end."

She had thin, strong hands, burned almost nut brown. He noticed them as she fidgeted with her suede gauntlets. Something more was coming. He waited.

"O, by the way, inspector!" Real color was pulsing from under her rouge. "I'm told you're taking an interest in what happened last night up at Boxtree farm. Does that mean you don't consider it was just a common or garden burglary?"

Evasively the inspector murmured that it was a little early to pronounce judgment on the affair. She watched him sharply. Her chin went up with a trifle more defiance.

"I see," she laughed. "You're not giving anything away, are you? I believe, though, I've hit the mark. Otherwise, why should you take a hand in what would be dealt with by our local police? Well, this is what I've heard: That it's the theory Mrs. Glover was attacked by the same person who killed her husband. That whoever it was believed she was holding on to some damaging evidence, intending to use it, I suppose, and that this was what he hoped to find and destroy."

He smiled back at her. "You seem to have been hearing a good deal."

"Are you surprised? You can't stop gossip in a place like this, inspector. One way or another nearly everything seeps through. Sorry, I should have known I wouldn't get any change out of you. I give up." She laughed again, ruefully, and got to her feet.

"Before you go, Miss Marchmont, I have a question to ask you. Did you notice anything unusual last night—any one moving about late in the house or in the grounds at Chenerys?"

"How odd that you should ask me that, inspector, because as it happens I was awake until 4 or 5 this morning, couldn't sleep, and I never heard a sound. My room's right at the head of the stairs, and you can take it from me we were all safe indoors the whole of last night!" She essayed a light laugh.

"As to that, Miss Marchmont, we happen to know differently. You can't have been as wide awake as you thought."

"What do you mean?"

"Between 2:30 and 3 this morning some one from your household was seen about fifty yards from Boxtree farm."

"Who?" she demanded.

"Mr. Derek Boldre."

Her face flamed. "It's impossible! A mistake. He simply wasn't out of the house, I know."

"I'm afraid there can be no mistake about it. He was seen and recognized by some one who knows him quite well, in fact, he spoke to him."

He saw shame, dismay, and sheer, hideous sickness pass over her face.

"I'm sorry," he said, "this must, of course, be specially upsetting to you."

"Why specially to me?" she asked sharply.

"Well, as Mr. Boldre's future wife——"

"Me?" She frowned at him and broke into a ringing peal of merriment. "O, inspector, this is too much!"

"It isn't true? Then I humbly apologize."

"No need." Magnificent her recovery. "Shall I tell you something?" Her eyes danced. "He's not once asked me to marry him. That's a confession if you like. I suppose I'm too much of a sister. A fatal error, I'm beginning to think."

"Well," she challenged, "what are you proposing to do?"

"Really, Miss Marchmont! Justice, I trust. Certainly nothing hasty."

"No. It would hurt your reputation, wouldn't it?" Her eyes met his coolly. "Well, I won't say how utterly ridiculous it is to imagine Derek Boldre has any connection with these affairs. Still, I'm no fool. I can guess how you're trying to fit things together. You assume Derek had a motive for getting rid of his brother. Listen: Have you thought of other motives? Yes, and opportunities, for all we know, for giving my brother-in-law an injection? For that, and for Glover's murder. Quite a number of people could have taken Maj. Fitts' revolver. Think that over, won't you?"

CANS OF CORN CAN'T BE BEAT AS A STANDBY

They're Menu Insurance on Pantry Shelves.

Canned corn on the pantry shelf is insurance against those times when you "just can't think of a thing to have for lunch." Corn will make soup, patties, fritters, soufflés, and casserole dishes without number.

These few recipes may give you other ideas.

BROILED WHOLE KERNEL CORN.

1 No. 2 whole grain corn
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6 tablespoons evaporated milk or light cream
½ cup grated cheese
Paprika or pimiento

Place corn in a buttered, shallow baking dish; sprinkle with salt and pepper; add cream or milk, and cover with cheese. Place under moderate broiler heat until cheese melts and the top is delicately brown. Sprinkle with paprika before serving. Or add several tablespoons of chopped pimiento to the corn before broiling.

CORN STICKS.

1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup cornmeal
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
1 cup canned cream style corn
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar together. Add cornmeal and mix. Beat egg slightly, add milk and canned corn. Add to dry mixture with shortening. Stir together quickly. Turn into hot, greased cornstick pans and bake for about 20 minutes at 425 degrees.

BAKED CORN RING MOLD.

1 cup cream style corn
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
3 eggs

Melt butter, add flour, and blend. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened and smooth. Add seasonings, corn, and green pepper. Stir in beaten egg yolks, and fold in whites which have been beaten until stiff. Pour into a well buttered ring mold and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a 375 degree oven until the ring is firm, about 40 minutes.

SPANISH CORN.

[Serves six.]

2 cups cream style corn
½ cup canned tomatoes
½ cup cornmeal [mixed with next item]
½ cup boiling water
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten slightly
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons catsup
Dash of cayenne pepper

Combine ingredients, mixing well, and pour into a buttered casserole or baking dish. Bake at 300 degrees, slow oven, for one hour.

Four Important Factors in Making Good Coffee

Important factors in making good coffee are: 1. Use of scrupulously clean utensils. 2. Use of good quality, fresh coffee. 3. Accurate measure of coffee and water. 4. Correct brewing time for grind of coffee and coffeemaker used.

Choice Apples Listed for Eating and Sauce

Among choice apples for sauce are listed McIntosh, Cortland, Grimes Golden, Northern Spy and Stayman Winesap. Choice eating apples include red McIntosh, Grimes Golden, Jonathan, red Delicious and golden Delicious.

"I'm bigger than you— that's why I take more PREMIUM CRACKERS"

You'll ask for Premiums if you make this test

NOTICE THE COLOR—Isn't the rich golden tint of a Premium Cracker appetizing? Only a perfectly baked cracker could be so tempting.

SEE THE TEXTURE—Break a Premium in half and observe how "open" and light it is inside. Extra shortening makes Premiums so much flakier—so much more delicious!

TASTE IT—Mm—it has a real wholesome, home-made goodness. Premiums are made with fine ingredients, in clean, sanitary bakeries—topped with a special kind of salt. No wonder Premiums have so much more flavor than ordinary crackers. Stock up with Premiums for the week-end. Serve them with every meal, and with in-between snacks. Your regular dealer has Premiums—oven fresh!

SUGGESTION OF THE WEEK

Give the youngsters an "after school" treat of their favorite spread and Premium Crackers. Jam, jelly, peanut butter, nourishing cream cheese—children like them twice as well on crunchy Premium Crackers!

Grapefruit Sherbet with Grapes

"Harvest freeze" is the name of this grapefruit sherbet garnished so attractively with seedless grapes. To make it, heat ½ cup sugar in 1 cup milk until sugar is dissolved. Cool and add gradually, stirring constantly so that milk won't curdle, 1 cup fresh grapefruit juice and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Add 1 cup finely cut grapefruit sections, membrane removed, and 1 cup seedless white grapes. Freeze, stirring occasionally, in refrigerator tray.

Add Lemon Juice to Butter for Artichokes

Add a little lemon juice to the melted butter which is served with steamed or boiled French or globe artichokes. The butter may be seasoned with salt, pepper or paprika. Of course the artichokes should be cooked in salted water or sprinkled with salt before steaming.

EVEN GRANDMA'S COOKIES COULD NOT BEAT THESE

Grandmother made good cookies—but it is doubtful if any of them could be better than these modern mincemeat cookies. It's a simple recipe that you'll enjoy using.

GOLDEN MINCEMEAT COOKIES.

1 cup firmly packed dry mincemeat [packaged]
½ cup cold water
1 cup butter or other shortening
1½ cups sugar
1 egg, well beaten
3¼ cups flour, sifted
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda

Break mincemeat into pieces. Add cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling for three minutes or until mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool. Cream butter and sugar. Add egg and beat vigorously until smooth and creamy. Sift flour, salt, baking powder, and soda together. Add to creamed mixture. Fold in cooled mincemeat and chopped nutmeats and drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet a few inches apart. Bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven about 10 minutes.

Know Difference Between Sweet and Tart Prunes

There are two types of dried prunes available, the sweet California variety and the tarter Oregon prunes. The California prunes require little or no sugar in cooking; the Oregon prunes must be sweetened. The skin of the sweet prune is glossy and somewhat thick, and the meat clings to the pit. The skin of the tart prune is thin and finely wrinkled, the meat is elastic and separates easily from the pit.

FRESH OR SMOKED PORK BUTT A GOOD BUY FOR DINNERS

Pork will be one of the best meat buys this week-end. Boston style pork butt, a shoulder cut, is sold fresh or smoked. It makes an excellent dinner roast.

The smoked butt is cooked just like ham, the fresh butt like any fresh pork roast, in a moderate oven, 325 to 350 degrees, for about 40 minutes to the pound. No cover is used on the roaster. The meat is placed fat side up on a rack, seasoned with salt and pepper, and left to cook without basting.

The fresh Boston butt, when nearly done, may be decorated and flavored with whole cloves and brown sugar, then returned to the oven to brown. The harvest freeze sherbet shown in the picture on this page may be served with the roast.

ROAST PORK DINNER.

Chilled Tomato Juice
Roast Boston Style Pork Butt
Harvest Freeze Sherbet
Glazed Sweet Potatoes
Chopped Buttered Spinach
Canned Asparagus Tips and Pimiento
Salad, French Dressing
Single Crust Apple Pie, Cheese Topping
[Melted]
Coffee

For a lighter meal omit the sherbet or the salad and serve an apple sauce whip or gelatine dessert instead of pie.

Use Scissors to Chop Greens Without Bruising

Use scissors to chop parsley or chives. Scissors will not bruise these greens as will ordinary chopping methods. Scissors hanging on a convenient hook in the kitchen will be found to have many other uses.

Mulligatawny Takes Its Name from Pepper Water

Mulligatawny soup takes its name from an old Indian word "milagutanir," meaning pepper water. Mulligatawny soup is flavored with curry powder or pepper and is hot and spicy.

SCIENTISTS BUILD A FRONT AGAINST TOTALITARIANISM

Pan-American Congress to Fight State Control.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A new front against the advance of the European idea of state controled science came into being in Chicago yesterday at the convention of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

These specialists in eye, ear, nose, and throat diseases, meeting in the Palmer House in the closing session of their 44th annual convention, decided to organize a Pan-American Congress of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology which will supplement in a way the 300 mile neutral zone which Pan-American diplomats recently declared around this continent.

Plan First Meeting.

The Pan-American congress will hold its first meeting in connection with the next meeting of the academy in this country. Later sessions will be held in Buenos Aires or in some other South American city.

The inception of the Pan-American movement among these scientists goes back to Europe and the fixing of their next international congress in Vienna in 1941. American, British, and French objected to this in vain, because Germany threatened to boycott the meeting. Now Americans and British at least will boycott the Vienna meeting, and the Pan-American congress, to be held in the fall of 1940, will be a substitute for the Vienna sessions.

Lauds America's Freedom.

Dr. M. E. Alvaro, professor of ophthalmology at the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil, said in a broadcast here yesterday:

"Although many of us have secured our medical training in Europe, we find it necessary and increasingly desirable to come to you for our higher studies. Your medical schools, hospitals, and libraries, developing under a democratic form of government and free from interference by totalitarian politicians, have been very generous in permitting us to learn of the newest and most effective medical and surgical remedies.

"We no longer feel bound to the dying civilization of Europe, but hope to go forward hand in hand with you. Together, the countries of North and South America will maintain and defend the culture and the civilization which is now threatened across the sea. Let us not only join to prevent invasion by hostile ships and airplanes, to keep European wars out of our western hemisphere; let us join in an effort to maintain scientific research and improve the public health under the protection of our free republics."

HILL BLACKETT HAS A BUSY DAY IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 [Special]. —Hill Blackett, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, was busy on a visit in Washington yesterday.

Hill Blackett.

First Blackett conferred with John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee. Then he had conversations with Ralph E. Church, Leo E. Allen, and Everett M. Dirksen, Republican representatives from Illinois.

In the evening Blackett had dinner in the White House. The dinner was in observance of the 55th birthday of Mrs. Roosevelt. The nature of the talk between President Roosevelt and Blackett was a matter of speculation among the national committeeman's Illinois friends. It was hinted that he had given up all other engagements to meet the President.

In response to a query Hill Blackett early today telegraphed the following account of his White House visit:

"I went to Washington on party affairs, and my friend, Elliott Roosevelt, a news commentator, asked me to dinner with his mother and father. Mrs. Roosevelt received many birthday presents and I told her an anecdote about my son and his difficulties in writing notes of thanks. That was the nature of the conversation."

40,000 ATTEND DEDICATION OF COOLIDGE BRIDGE

Northampton, Mass., Oct. 12 [Special].—Forty thousand persons, including men prominent in the state and nation, honored the memory of the late President Calvin Coolidge today by attending the dedication of the $1,250,000 Coolidge memorial bridge across the Connecticut river here.

Mrs. Crace Coolidge, his widow, did not attend the ceremonies because, she said, of the wedding which also took place in Northampton today of Miss Jane Adams, daughter of Mrs. F. B. Adams, who has long been Mrs. Coolidge's most intimate friend.

State Supreme Court Pays Tribute to Justice Cooke

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court held a memorial service today for the late Justice George A. Cooke of Chicago, who was chief justice of the court in 1913 and 1914. Justice Cooke died in Chicago last Dec. 3. Charles O. Rundall, Chicago, president of the Illinois Bar association; former Judge David A. Hebel, Aledo; former Supreme Court Justices Floyd E. Thompson and Warren H. Orr, and Henry P. Chandler, Chicago, former head of the Chicago Bar association, were speakers. Justice Clyde E. Stone of Peoria delivered the response on behalf of the court.

Musico, the new song title guessing game played by the radio listeners in their own homes, will be broadcast from 8 to 8:30 p. m. This program features the music of the W-G-N Dance orchestra directed by Harold Stokes, and Bill Anson as master of ceremonies. Musico is presented each Friday at the same hour from W-G-N's main audience studio.

Tommy Dorsey.

At 8:45 p. m. another episode of Rupert Hughes' novel, The Guilty Bystanders, will be heard. Tonight's story envelops a group of gay party-goers in a murder mystery at a country club. Phoebe Lockwood, played by Caroline Fisher, unwittingly becomes the central figure in the mystery when she sees Hugo Ryder [Bob Barron] kill a man. Other characters in the play are Jack Barrick, who is heard as the prosecuting attorney; Stanley Waxman, as a noted criminal lawyer; Kay Campbell as Edith, the wife of the murderer, and Willard Waterman as the victim. The Guilty Bystander also is presented from the main audience studio.

War news will be broadcast by Raymond Gram Swing at 9 p. m. and again by Waverly Root from Paris at 9:15 p. m.

Tommy Dorsey, the Sentimental Gentleman of Swing, whose band began an engagement at the Palmer House Empire room last night, will be heard over W-G-N and Mutual at 7:15 p. m. and at 1 a. m.

CALL GRAND JURY QUIZ ON RELIEF AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special]. —A county grand jury investigation of poor relief will begin Monday, it was announced today. At the same time Thomas Quinn, Center township trustee, admitted to the Marion county board of tax adjustment that political and family favoritism has played an important part in his administration of the $1,500,000 township relief business.

David M. Lewis, Marion county prosecutor, promised a thorough investigation to determine whether there has been any criminal liability on the part of those responsible for the condition admitted by Quinn.

Quinn promised to revamp the poor relief administration setup to correct abuses for which he admits responsibility. He promised a redistribution of the poor relief business allotted to grocers. He said his son-in-law, J. Barton Griffin, would be shut off from the large volume of relief orders he has received.

FLYING GRANDMA IS 80 TOMORROW; GROUNDED NOW

Mrs. Peter Holland, the "flying grandmother" who traveled to Germany in 1933 aboard the Graf Zeppelin, will be 80 years old tomorrow. But this year she will not celebrate her birthday anniversary with an airplane flight, as has been her custom. Instead she will take a quiet automobile trip into Michigan with her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Young, and her granddaughter.

Mrs. Holland, who lives at 1548 East 61st street, astonished relatives and friends in 1933 when she flew in the Zepplin. A year later she enrolled for a course in flying. Yesterday she said that, although illness has grounded her temporarily, she has her eye on those trans-Atlantic Clipper planes.

MRS. RUTH SIMMS TO DIRECT WOMEN IN DEWEY RACE

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 12 (AP).—Cyrus McCormick, Republican national committeeman, said tonight he had learned through National Republican Chairman John Hamilton that Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms of Albuquerque will direct women's work in a campaign to win the presidential nomination for Thomas E. Dewey.

Hamilton told him, McCormick said, that he had learned that Mrs. Simms had refused to accept a title in the New York prosecutor's organization "so that she could resign if things did not go as she thought they would, without disturbing their organization."

Mrs. Simms left Albuquerque last month to assume "political duties" in the east.

BAR'S MAGAZINE BLAMES POLITICS FOR COURT MESS

Conduct of the Municipal court is criticized severely in the October issue of the Chicago Bar Record, published yesterday by the Chicago Bar association. The criticism, in the form of an editorial, reads in part:

"The Municipal court of Chicago, created 34 years ago as a people's court, is on the spot. Politics has put it there.

"We cannot comment on the charges and countercharges aired recently in the press concerning the actions of certain judges because a complaint against one of them is now pending before the association's committee on judiciary.

"But it is fair to say that the unsavory situation that has developed is the inevitable consequence of the de facto appointment of judges by party politicians. An aroma so noxious could not arise from a court whose judges were free to devote themselves wholly to the administration of justice without consideration of political debts and alliances."

N. G. VAN SANT, VETERAN OF TWO WARS, DIES AT 92

Sterling, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special].—Nicholas G. Van Sant, a veteran of both the civil and the world wars, died today. He would have been 93 years old on Nov. 22. Funeral services will be held here Sunday.

His rare career as a soldier, poet, law student at 59, traveler and Christian gentleman made him Sterling's grand old man. His birthday was annually an occasion for civic celebration. He was a banker here for 21 years and once served as mayor of Sterling for a week pending an election recount.

Born in Rock Island, Ill., Van Sant ran away from home at the age of 17 to fight in the civil war. With his brother, the late Samuel Van Sant, former governor of Minnesota, he joined the 9th Illinois cavalry. At the age of 71 he was rejected for service in the world war but saw front line action in the uniform of the Salvation Army. He paid his own expenses while in service.

ARNOLD EXPLAINS CHANGED MIND ON PAPER BOTTLES

Dr. Lloyd Arnold, member of the board of health, told yesterday why he changed his mind about the sanitary properties of paper milk containers. He testified at a hearing before Jacob I. Grossman, federal master in chancery. Dr. Arnold made a report approving such containers in 1937, but since that time has testified against their use.

Dr. Arnold said yesterday that after he had tested the containers in Detroit in 1937 and approved them, he conducted more exhaustive tests in New York from June to December, 1938. These later tests, he said, convinced him that "paper milk containers will never meet public health standards." He said they are subject to contamination many times during manufacture.

The hearing is on a suit brought by Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc., seeking to compel the board of health to approve use of the new type containers.

FLYING TACKLE THROWS A GREEN BANDIT FOR LOSS

The first person Kahan chose for a victim was Mrs. Empress Doyle, 73 years old, owner of a rooming house at 1333 Jackson boulevard. He was trying to compel her to hunt up some money when her grandson, Murray Clewis, 18 years old, a student at Crane Technical High school, arrived.

Kahan fled. Clewis pursued. At Loomis street and Jackson boulevard he made a flying tackle that halted the bandit. Kahan Told the Des Plaines street police he was a salesman and had never tried a holdup before.

She died Wednesday night at the age of 96. Mrs. Burmister was born in Cleveland, O., she came to Chicago in the later days of the civil war with her husband, William Burmister. For a time they lived at State and Adams street. They were living at Prairie avenue and 24th street at the time of the Chicago fire. Mr. Burmister died in 1919. Mrs. Burmister has lived in recent years with her daughter, Mrs. Clara Hieronimus at 811 Drexel square. Mrs. Lillian Will is a daughter and William Burmister is a son.

Ernest G. Bager.

Funeral services for Ernest G. Bager, vice president of the J. Milhening company, jewelry manufacturers will be conducted at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 4559 Milwaukee avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery. Mr. Bager, who was 69 years old, died in the Presbyterian hospital Wednesday after a long illness. He had been associated with the Milhening company for 10 years. Surviving are his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Florence Schmelzle and Mrs. Mabel Johnson. The Bager home is at 4631 North Keating avenue.

Tamara Morgan.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—Tamara Morgan, 37 years old, internationally known pianist, died today. Mrs. Morgan was credited with introducing George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" to Europe in a concert at the Mozarteum in Salsburg, Austria, in 1924. She was born in Scotland, the daughter of the foreign editor of the Manchester Guardian, famed English liberal newspaper. She was herself a newspaper woman, and went to Iceland in 1933 to cover Italo Balbo's trans-Atlantic flight for the Guardian.

Russell R. Whitman.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12 (AP).—Russell R. Whitman, 70 years old, formerly publisher of the Boston American, the old New York Commercial and once national advertising director of the Hearst newspapers, died of a heart ailment at his home here tonight. Whitman came here in 1928 and became publisher of the Atlanta Georgian. He left that post after two years to enter public relations work.

Ernest Vincent Wright.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—Ernest Vincent Wright, 67 years old, who wrote "Gadsby," a 50,100 word novel, without once using the letter "e," is dead. The book was off the publisher's press here the day he died, last Saturday. Wright was a naval musician in the world war, and full military honors were accorded him at funeral services today at the National Military home at Sawtelle.

Duncan Fraser.

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—Duncan Fraser, 45 years old, who was a first lieutenant in Company E, 16th Infantry, 1st Division, in the world war, was wounded at Soissons and received the D. S. O. and the Croix de Guerre, died here yesterday. He was born in Pittsburgh, the son of the late Charles D. Fraser, one of the founders of the United States Steel company, and Irene Cowen Fraser, who was noted for philanthropy.

Thomas Davis.

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 12 [Special]. —Thomas Davis, 70 years old, member of the international board of the United Mine Workers of America for 10 years and mediator for the United States department of labor for 12 years, died last night.

James O. Mills.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 12 (AP).—James O. Mills, 57 years old, founder of a chain of Ohio restaurants bearing his name, died today.

Cuff Notes.

The woman in the black dinner dress, wearing a monocle, at Tonight We Dance at the Harris was Auriol Lee, the director. Sounds like a name from an Edgar Allan Poe poem. Marcella Burke, one of the authors, also came on for the opening and is still in town. . . . Fashion Coördinator Janet Taylor, speaking before a fashion show: "It's as if the designers couldn't look forward, so they looked backward for their inspirations." . . . And out came the models in the champagne glass stem waists, wide skirts, plum and cinnamon and bottle green colors of an earlier era; the peg top silhouette of another, the polonaise drapery of another.

Peggy Fears, lunching at the Pump room with Adrienne Ames of the movies, was wearing a little gold shotgun pinned to the lapel of her plaid jacket. And she had strands and strands of pearls on. Not down to her last strand after all! . . . Ruth Chatterton, star of Tonight We Dance, is the new title holder of Table No. 1 at the Pump room. . . . Sterling North's new book, Seven Through the Years, deals with seven graduates of the University of Chicago and what happened to them. . . . Most astonishing hat of the week: Elizabeth Hawes' bright red beret with a bright yarn braid across the top and hanging down like a Chinaman's queue. . . . Railroad Amateurs Lucius Beebe and Peter Moon bought a railroad atlas from Bookman John Hagedorn yesterday and set off for Wisconsin to stalk trains and to photograph them.

Have you heard, inquires Irene Koenig, about the dowager who had her expensive furs stolen and tried to collect accident insurance, saying she has been dis-sabled?

Minor Repercussions.

A little lad came into the Brighton Park branch of the public library and asked to "join." Given an application blank and a pen, he tried to write, but found it had not been dipped in ink. "'Tain't loaded," he said.

Children are building bomb shelters in back yards instead of play shacks and clubrooms. [The son of Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Wright has just finished a fine one.]

A little girl was giving first aid, from a little kit she carried, to boys playing war games in an empty lot on Howard avenue.

Unfinished Story.

He was tall, dark, and handsome—the hitch-hiker waiting near Dwight, Ill., for a lift into Chicago, with a baby girl on his arm and a big suitcase beside him. He stopped at the station to warm the baby's bottle, then came out to stand beside the road. Car after car passed by, the occupants staring curiously at the pair, but not offering to stop. Once the man laid the baby down on the suitcase and carefully put on her a clean pair of three cornered pants. Finally a car with a man and a woman in it stopped and picked them up and they started toward Chicago. . . .

Good Morning!

"Three Waltzes" tells, to the waltz tunes of Johann Strauss, père and fils, and Oscar Strauss, a story of three generations. Three stage favorites, grandmother, mother, and daughter, fall in love with three scions of the house of De Chelancey. . . .

The first "waltz" takes place in 1867. At this time Fani, a dancer, toast of Paris, finds herself second in the affections of the young Marquis Octave de Chelancey, who, though he hardly realizes the fact himself, holds his position as lieutenant in the army dearer than his love for Fani.

At that time, it seems, an unwritten law demanded the resignation from the army of young aristocrats who saw fit to wed ladies of the stage. Fani, seeing the writing on the wall, gives up Octave before he has a chance to jilt her.

In the second "waltz" Fani's daughter gets back at the Chelanceys by caring more for her career than she does for Octave's son, Philippe. . . . The third "waltz" precipitates the action into the present day; shows Fani's granddaughter as a movie star and Octave's grandson as an insurance agent.

An ambitious producer decides to present the life of Fani, with these two in the leading rôles of Fani and Octave. . . . Brunner, the impresario who gave Fani her start and who, though a wheezing old man, still tends to business and manages Irene, is the one who brings Irene and Gerard together. . . . More humor in this episode than in the other two.

The film is rather spottily directed and, as a whole, didn't impress me much. Mlle. Printemps, however, is charming. Pretty and with the light touch. She sings well, though her voice hasn't much volume. Her leading man left me cold, but I did like Henri Guisol as Brunner. Sort of a French Mischa Auer. Lots of snap, and he ages ingratiatingly, which is an art in any language.

Visitors Claim Attention of Social Circles

BY JUDITH CASS.

A VISITOR next week who comes heralded by the former Betty Field, now Mrs. James E. Finan of New York, as "attractive, young, good looking, and one of the most distinguished art critics in the world," is Georges Duthuit, who will lecture at the Arts club on Thursday morning. M. Duhuit's subject will be "Pablo Picasso, Witness of the European Tragedy."

The speaker, whose home is in Paris, is a son-in-law of Matisse. During his Chicago visit, M. Duthuit will be the house guest of the Charles B. Goodspeeds. Mrs. Goodspeed, president of the Arts club, just recently returned from a summer on Cape Cod.

An attractive visitor over this week-end will be Mme. Dmitri Ivanenko, who will be here just for Sunday and Monday. She is on her way from New York to St. Paul. The charming Russian lived in Lake Forest for a time and has many warm friends here.

Still another delightful visitor is Mrs. Dorothy Liebes who is spending the week-end here on her way home to San Francisco from New York. Today the Fashion Group is giving a luncheon for her and tomorrow she will share honors with Elizabeth Hawes at another luncheon the Fashion Group will give. Mrs. Liebes will speak and show slides at today's affair. Miss Hawes is to speak informally at tomorrow's luncheon. Earlier in the day, at 11 o'clock, Miss Hawes will open the Chicago Junior league's mammoth open house at the Drake hotel by lecturing on "Is Fashion Still Spinach?"

A tea for Mrs. Liebes, who is director of the Decorative Arts section of the Golden Gate Exposition, will be given today from 5 to 6 o'clock by the American Institute of Decorators and the Women Interior Decorators' association of Chicago.

Bernard Mullaneys Guests in Gary.

Former Chicagoans who are visiting in Gary are the Bernard J. Mullaneys, who are with the B. H. Snyders. Mr. and Mrs. Mullaney are not spending much time in Chicago, for they both are tired after the rush to leave their Paris home and the difficulties experienced in getting to this country.

They are taking a house in Bennington, Vt., or near there, for the winter to be near their daughter, Betty, who will be in Bennington college.

Mrs. Ambrogio Cassinerio and her sister, Mrs. Harold Hartog, are sailing for Europe in the Italian liner Rex next Tuesday. The former will join her husband in Italy; the latter will join hers in Paris.

Another sister, Mrs. R. Martin Stevenson, and Mrs. John Lord King, who are enjoying a short holiday in New York, will see the travelers off. Mrs. Cassinerio is leaving her infant daughter with her mother, Mrs. Edmund J. Doering, until she returns from Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Doering are moving back to Chicago from Lake Forest next week. Mrs. Hartog and Mrs. Cassinerio will leave for New York on Sunday.

More Chicagoans Sail from Europe.

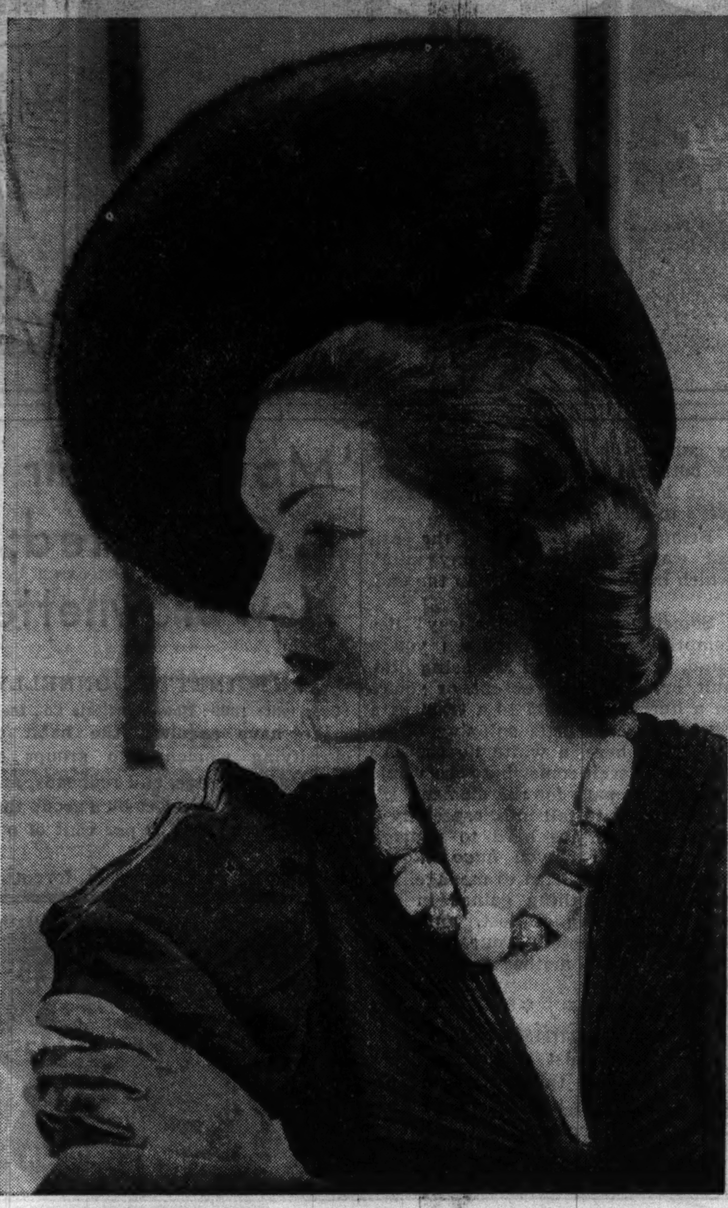
After many disappointments the Robert Henzes and their baby, Peter Francis, are finally on their way home from Europe. They sailed on Oct. 6 from Southampton aboard the S. S. Acadia, and will land in New York some time next week. They are planning to spend some time in Long Island with Mrs. Henze's aunt, Mrs. Grant W. Spear, before coming on to Chicago.

To the great relief of Mrs. Robert H. Gardner, her mother, Mrs. Samuel D. Flood, has finally reached New York from England. Mrs. Flood was met in New York by Mrs. Gardner Voorhees, who will spend the winter with her in Kenilworth after they have visited Mrs. Flood's sister, Mrs. A. B. Wickes in Mount Vernon, Va.

The William B. Johnsons were thrilled to welcome home their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Mansfield Pearce, who arrived from Manila yesterday. The Pearces have been living in Panama and Manila since their marriage four years ago. They will spend three months with the Johnsons in Evanston.

A number of children will model in a fashion show to be given today for the benefit of the library of the Francis W. Parker school. The show will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Regenstein, 3033 Sheridan road, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Hat That Is Really a Hat



A mink hat that is really a hat. It is brimmed, off-the-face and has a smoothly fitted cuff of the mink to accent the lovely brown shade of the felt. Notice how closely it hugs the headline and how flattering it accents the eyeline.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The lure of pretty, creamy and sweetly scented soaps is something no mere man can understand. But we can sympathize with those women who'd rather do without lunch than do without fine, fragrant soaps.

We've just found some that are distinctly luxurious in quality and fragrance—but there's no need to go without lunch when you invest in them because they're blessedly inexpensive. Frankly, we don't see how the makers manage.

These bath soaps are magnums. Big, heavy, fat cakes that are a joy to use and to handle. The soap is creamy and smooth and inclined to whip up a nice lather in a jiffy. The scents are good, too, and there are six from which to choose.

There is a pine, colored jade green. The cakes scented in carnation are a lovely fawn color; the lilac is orchid tinted; the verbena is a gay, sunshiny yellow; the gardenia is white, and the geranium [very nice fragrance, this] is a pastel pink.

These soaps wear down to a thin wafer. There's no extravagant waste to make you feel that you're sacrificing common sense on the altar of self-indulgence. And that last sliver lathers up as nicely as the brand-new, fat magnum.

With the cold season just around the corner, it's only wise to remember that the soap you use can have a lot to do with the state of your skin in winter. A great part of the discomfort thin skinned persons suffer could be avoided if they took the precaution of using a bland soap. Dry skin is made dryer than ever by harsh soaps.

Weddings Announced

At a military wedding at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon Miss Shirley Jean Robinson, daughter of Mrs. Jean Robinson of Kewaunee, will become the bride of Lieut. George Rapp Zohrlaut. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bridegroom's cousin, Mrs. John C. Meiners, at 1411 Judson avenue, Evanston.

Lieut. Zohrlaut, who is stationed at Fort Sheridan, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. George G. Zohrlaut of 2828 Pine Grove avenue. William Rapp Kemper will be his cousin's best man. Miss Nancy Loynachan will be the bridesmaid. The Rev. Henry Hepburn of the Buena Memorial church will officiate.

Lieut. Zohrlaut was graduated from West Point last year. He is the grandson of Wilhelm Rapp, who was the editor of the Illinois Staats Zeitung in Chicago for over 35 years.

Smiles Greet 49th Season of Orchestra

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Amid smiles and applause and a general air of satisfaction the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night opened its 49th season and Frederick Stock began his 35th year as its conductor. Orchestra hall was packed for the event.

The evening's festal air was evident long before concert time, with knots of subscribers busy renewing old acquaintances and the lobby all but impassable by reason of the number of persons who had elected to do their bowing and handshaking there. Once in the hall, patrons let their enthusiasm overflow in cordial greetings to the first desk men as they emerged—to Edmund Kurtz, principal cellist, and to John Weicher, concertmaster.

On Frederick Stock's entrance the applause was of a volume and duration calculated to move even as clear headed a man as he. After a few bows, however, he turned to his men—a signal that Chicago's greeting to its orchestra and conductor was over, and that the serious business of the season was about to begin.

But the festal air persisted right into the first program item—Brahms' Academic Festival overture. The glorious German student songs on which the piece is based were infectious enough to fit the audience's dominant mood—thoughtful enough, too, in the highly serious overtones with which Brahms' treatment has endowed them, to be congruent with the somewhat more solemn air which any reminder of the passage of time—even a symphony opening—is bound to hold.

If the overture was played with great verve, conductor and orchestra quite outdid themselves in this respect in the Beethoven "Eroica" which followed. The piece was alive from first bar to last, vibrant with the thousand details of nuance necessary to lay the symphony's tremendous emotional meaning before the audience. The orchestra's execution, except in the trio of the scherzo, suggested midseason form. There was nothing tentative, nothing timid. Even the brasses, by far the trickiest of orchestral instruments, spoke with a noble confidence nearly everywhere save in the passage noted.

A first American performance of Michel Brusselmans' Suite after the Caprices by Paganini posed no difficulties for listeners. Paganini's music remains virtually unchanged, but Brusselmans has clothed several of the old time fiddler's best ideas in gorgeously colored modern orchestral dress. The evening closed with the Strauss "Till Eulenspiegel." The same program will be presented this afternoon to open the Friday subscription series.

SAN CARLANS JOYFUL

BY CECIL SMITH.

Fortune Gallo's San Carlo Opera company continued in exuberant mood at the Auditorium theater last night with the favorite double bill of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci." The air of freshness extended even to the makeup of the principals and the chorus women, who seem this fall to have followed a few of Hollywood's precepts.

Bianca Saroya sang Santuzza in the Mascagni opera for the first time in three seasons. Her performance was one of distinguished beauty, both in the radiance of her voice and in the choice detail of her phrasing and style. Stefan Kozakevich made his Alfio a credible, honest fellow, which is more than most baritones do.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 13.—It was a long, long time ago that I first heard Morton Downey sing, back on Broadway, in the robust 1920's. . . . It was in those furtive prohibition days when you rapped on doors and whispered that "Joe sent me." . . . Your vanity was bolstered no little, and your companions no little impressed when the guardian of the door, having surveyed you long and searchingly through the aperture, opened the door almost reluctantly.

On the way out, after swallowing liquor that was supposed to have come across the Canadian border, the head of the establishment would give you a membership card or a silver key to some other identification. . . . It was an era of superb showmanship on the part of the restaurateurs who were serving liquor in defiance of Volstead. . . . There always had been an aura of mystery to hash, but prohibition even made soup an exciting adventure.

While all of this hocus-pocus was in progress, and the hotels were starving to death because they couldn't compete with the showmanship of speakeasy owners, Morton Downey's tones were to be heard above the rumble of New York City trafic.

Fifteen years later, I sat at a ringside table at the Ambassador Coconut Grove and heard him sing again. . . . Downey is about the last of the professional singers who sits down at a piano and sings. . . . The others insist on doing a 15 minute comedy routine before their first number and between subsequent numbers.

I like Downey's system better. . . . He sings songs, leaves the comedy for the comedians. . . . Perhaps that is why he is booked continuously, and stops shows consistently. . . . Downey is a rare experience.

In the show at the Coconut Grove with Downey and Enric Madriguera is Comedy Magician Russell Swan. . . . The big fellow, who has a lot of real tricks to qualify him as a medicine man, prefers to kid himself and the magic business and is very hilarious. . . .

Downey's première aroused a lot of memories of vaudeville and night clubs of the prohibition era. . . . At a table near the bandstand sat Joan Crawford with Franchot Tone. . . . At the right of the floor sat Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor with the Danny Denkers. . . . Behind them were Burns and Allen and Cary Grant. . . . At our table was Edgar Bergen and Jack Benny.

Crawford and Stanwyck were night club hoofers on Broadway during the prohibition drouth. . . . Cary Grant, Edgar Bergen, Jack Benny and Burns and Allen all playing vaudeville or night clubs.

Fashion Lifts a Dainty Black Gloved Finger

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Exciting new black gloves ready as staccato accents for the most sophisticated costumes are as romantic as a love story told in verse! Only a Schiaparelli would think of coquettish short gloves of thin-as-a-plumskin suede combined with cobweb black lace . . . this lace along the side seams of the fingers, then ruffled on around the edge of the brief cuff effects.

Another famous glove designer sends in long, sooty slipons with an old fashioned shallow pinked edge and a deep cleft dramatizing the back line. In another glamorous pair the entire deep cuff is done in a lattice cut out to show the wrists and part of the hand.

There are gloves embroidered with tiny many colored beads—garnet, sapphire, emerald, rhinestone—in wreath patterns the entire back length of the gloves. Gold kidskin appliqué decorates other slipons and the longer gloves that are worn crushed luxuriously half way up the arm. Gold tassels, gold bows, gold braid, beads, and medallions flash from dress parade gloves for afternoon and dinner costumes.

Long opera length gloves have been revived. Resplendent evening gowns of fabulously beautiful and costly materials somehow need the suave lengths of fine gloves to make them eye catchers. The sharp pickup of black gloves does the trick!

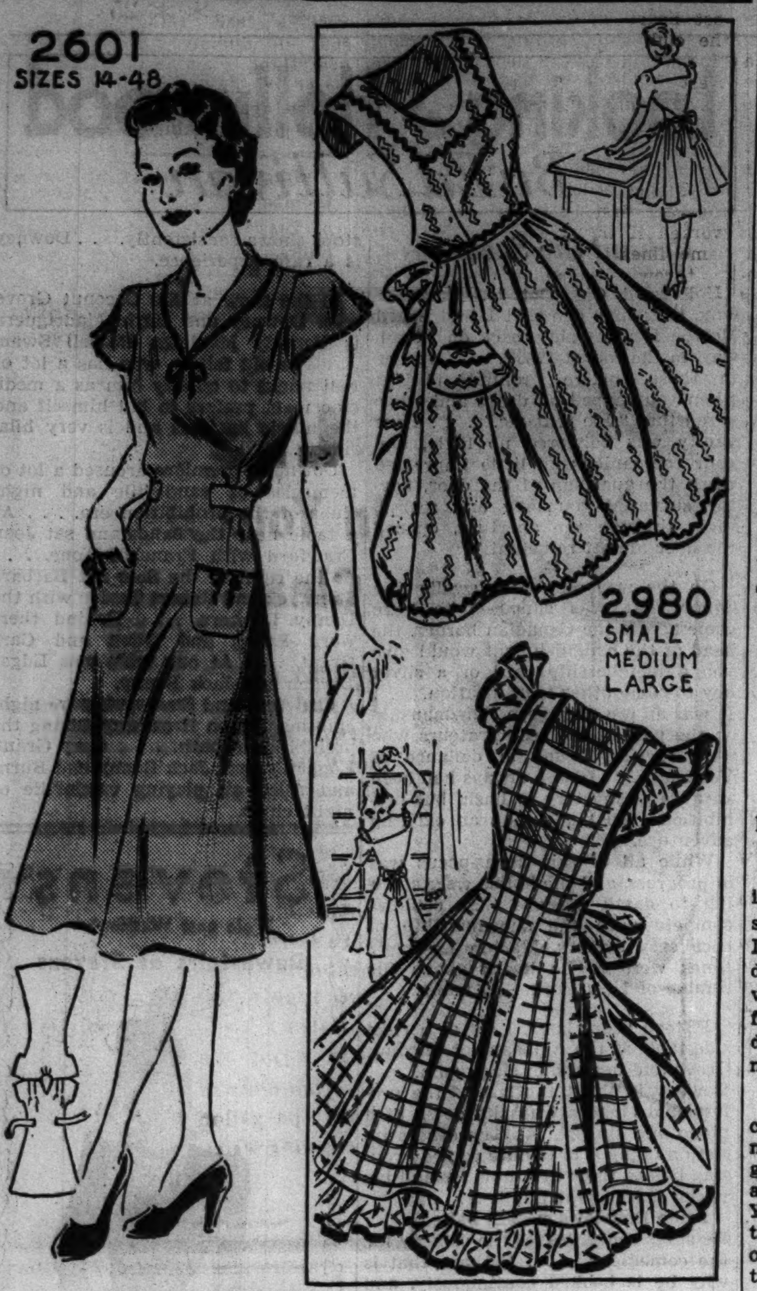
For the Household Wardrobe



WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRONS.

The two patterns presented today offer suggestions for your household wardrobe. One creates a one-piece apron-dress that is exceedingly simple to make. The other fashions utility cover-all aprons to wear over your nicer frocks.

The frock has a V neckline, the rolled collar of which is trimmed with braid to match that used on the short kimono sleeves and twin pockets. The cover-all aprons have full skirts and secure, well fitted shoulders. You can trim them in a wide variety of ways.

Style No. 2601 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material.

Style No. 2980 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The medium size requires 2½ yards of 35 inch material for plain apron; 3 yards of 35 inch fabric for ruffled model.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

October 13, 1939.

The 13th is not unlucky for some people. If you have a name which works out to a four, or were born on the 13th, or any of the four days, or have a four birthpath, the 13th should be favorable. Lily Pons has a strong superstition about the 13th being lucky for her and she tries to do the important things on these dates. The science of numbers furnishes the explanation in the working out of her first name.

Friday, October 13.

Uncomfortable items of recent past, if any, hold over in morning today. Afternoon is good for keen thinking, but best not to try for too much, as the later hours are quarrelsome without sufficiently clear and high purpose.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead brings some domestic tests, if born on this date; care from Feb. 20. Emotional secrets stimulated. Original talents need expression from April 26. Go slow with elders. Danger: June 15-27; Oct. 28-Nov. 16, 1940.

Tomorrow.

You can now get your 1940 individual interpretation for your own personal date plus the balance of this year. Every important period is indicated for you, according to the laws of astrology. Now Amazing Proved Hygienic Protection for Married Women

Thousands upon thousands of women have now learned to use a sensational, scientific discovery for hygienic purposes. This boon to womankind is not a poison, yet actually kills germs at contact. It is called Zonite, and its action is amazing when used for feminine hygiene. It instantly kills germs and bacteria on contact, yet it is proved safe—will not harm delicate tissues. And Zonite deodorizes—assures daintiness. Helps keep one fresh, clean and pure. So successful has Zonite been that over 20,000,000 bottles have already been used. Get Zonite from your druggist today. It's surprisingly easy and economical to use. Ideal for feminine hygiene. Follow the simple directions and enjoy proved hygienic protection that you may never have known before.

The Easy Way Is Not Always Best for Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In managing children so often there is an easy way that brings quick results, and we are tempted to take it. It's a human enough failing, but it doesn't get us far along on the route we've mapped out for ourselves. In fact, that taking of the easiest way does sometimes prove either an immediate or a later obstacle.

Take the case of the father who controls his children through fear. He may never have to spend any time gaining their compliance; they may always render it to him instantly. Yet that father is inevitably piling up trouble for himself—if not now, later on when his children are older and turn from him, or deceive him, or actually run away from home. In his mind, a child's obedience is most easily gained through fear. He will not be bothered by the more intelligent, more loving but harder and slower ways to achieve that end.

Bribing is another one of the easiest ways that come to my mind, which make things harder in the end.

Sometimes this "easiest way" lies temptingly before you when you're tired, or the children are being difficult, or callers are present, or you're in a hurry to get off to a train or a party. Then, a little snipping off of the truth here, a white lie there, a harmless deceit somewhere else would smooth the path for the moment. It's a habit easy to fall into, especially if your children are hard to manage, which means, if you have allowed them to become hard to manage. But not only is nothing gained in this way; something is lost, and that something is chiefly your children's faith in their mother's or father's word.

'Mousy' Hair Is Glorified; Now Brownette

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We have acquired the habit of classifying women into groups of blondes, brunettes, and redheads, and consequently we overlook a group that constitutes almost 50 per cent of our women.

We think perhaps this forgotten group is at fault themselves for their nonrecognition as a definite class until now. They deprecated their own lack of color. They referred to their hair as nondescript or mouse-colored and often were found applying for information on what to do for or to their hair to lift them into one of the three prominently identified groups.

No longer need they feel that they've been discriminated against. They're identified now as "brownettes," and as "brownettes" they stand up against blonde, brunette, or redhead rivals any day, supersede them in many instances. They're the type described as having hair that is brown but in a variety of brown shades, running from a pale leather tan to a color rich as the brown in a mink coat.

So, now, when we speak of women's hair in the aggregate, we must say blondes, brunettes, redheads, and brownettes.

One enthusiast on the subject of brownettes claims it to be the hair of the connoisseur's taste. He is the one to appreciate its fine nuances.

Some one has claimed that the negative attitude of the brownette herself has been responsible for her being outdone by the other types. Often the negative attitude has led to careless dress color choice. It is easy to kill this hair tone with the wrong colors. Planning clothes and makeup with color support is the trick of all the brownette successes.

Girl Is Foolish in Confessing Past Mistakes

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Four years ago I made a serious mistake, the most serious one that a girl can make, I suppose. I have regretted it bitterly, but not until I met the young man who now is paying me attention did I realize how sorry I feel about it all.

"As you may suspect, I am simply madly and crazily in love with this young man whom I met a little over a year ago. I now am in my early twenties. The man I now go with has forgiven me because I did confide in him. I did not want to deceive him. But he said that, although he forgave me, he would have to tell his mother. I know his mother does not approve me. She has never spoken to me. She has avoided occasions at which we would have met ordinarily. His people are well-to-do and he has everything to offer me, but what can I offer him? I come from a poor background. His family favors another girl from his own set, but he tells me that he doesn't love her and couldn't marry her if she were the only girl on earth.

"I am in a continual state of unhappiness, I feel that I ought to give up this man. His mother certainly will make him give me up when he tells. Maybe it would be better for me to do it first. What do you think? UNHAPPY."

We think the young man isn't much of a man, running and tattling to mother. We can't imagine him ever making any girl happy, and certainly not one over whom he wields the big stick of that confidence of yours.

There is with us always that question of whether a girl should confess the big mistake or not. We did a lot of inquiring among noted authorities once as to whether it were better to tell or not to tell. The consensus was not to, not in the attempt to deceive, but to save another shoulder from taking on the burden. And men, it was pointed out, rarely forgive entirely. They'll mouth a forgiveness and respect it for a time, but later on, when the ardor cools in marriage, they're known to throw it up to a woman.

You can imagine what an unfriendly mother-in-law would do to your peace and happiness once she got that on you, Unhappy.

Circular Luncheon Doilies

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted circular luncheon doilies made from mercerized crochet cotton offer the ideal background for all fine china. These are simple items to crochet, and one doily may be made in fifteen minutes. A complete set of eight may be made and starched in one day, ready for a prize at the next day's bridge party.

For instructions in crocheting the circular mesh doily, No. X-361, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Albert Weiss Wins Master's Individual Bridge Title Again

The master's individual title of the All-American contract bridge championship was retained early today by Albert Weiss of Chicago, defending champion, in the tournament at the Hotel La Salle.

Runners-up in order were S. Max Becker Jr., M. S. Reilly, and Ralph Kempner, all of Chicago. Weiss scored 10 points more than the second place winner. Twenty-five masters competed in the finals.

The women's pair championship was won by Mrs. Jeanette Lefler and Mrs. Harry Mason Smith, both of Evanston. Second place went to Mrs. Gladys Johnson and Mrs. Willard McAllister, both of Park Ridge, and third place to Mrs. C. W. Schaff and Mrs. I. C. Scheer, both of Highland Park. Non-master individual honors went to Mrs. C. D. Pierce, Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. H. W. Tallman and Mrs. Ethel Baldridge, both of Chicago, in that order.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Gardner of New York have announced the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn M., to Leon S. Alschuler. Mr. Alschuler is the son of Mrs. Leon Alschuler of 1356 Hyde Park boulevard.

♣Q 4

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Harvard Expert to Speak on Soviet Moves Today

Samuel H. Cross will address the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at a luncheon in the Stevens hotel today. His subject will be "Russia Returns to Europe." Cross is head of the Slavonic department at Harvard. He spent a number of years in Europe.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is logical—commendable even—to flimflam the enemy whenever possible, but a player must be careful not to stub his own toe in the process. The declarer in today's hand staved off one threat, only to fall victim to another.

East, dealer.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
3 diamonds	Double	Pass	4 clubs
Pass	4 hearts	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Obviously, East's three diamond bid was not the orthodox Culbertson minor suit three bid which requires a solid suit. East's idea was only to preëmpt.

North was tempted to leave in the double for penalties, but felt that there was a reasonable chance that his own side might make game, hence his four club bid. South's four heart bid was a natural consequence, as was West's penalty double. West probably felt that he was going to make a killing, but in this he was wrong.

The diamond ten was opened, dummy played low, East won with the ace, and declarer, who felt sure that East must have started with seven diamonds and that West had held a singleton, false-carded by dropping the diamond jack, hoping thereby to discourage a diamond return. East "fell for" the false card and shifted to the four of spades. Declarer put in the ten, and West won with the jack. West now was somewhat up against it for a good return. As it happened, he could have led a heart or a club, but neither of these seemed attractive to him, and in the hope that his partner had a spade honor, he returned the spade six. Dummy held this trick with the seven spot, and now the heart jack was led. When East showed out, declarer properly ducked, not wishing to waste two honors on one trick. West accepted his queen and returned a trump, feeling that this was his safest exit. Dummy's ten held, the heart nine was cashed, and then declarer entered his own hand with a spade to the ace, to lay down the ace and king of hearts. Before the last trump was played, this was the situation:

West, of course, followed suit on the heart ace. Dummy discarded a club and East, who realized by now that declarer still had two diamonds, had to hold on to his queen and seven of diamonds, therefore had to reduce to two clubs. Declarer now had a grand opportunity, but muffed it. He led a club to the king, cashed the ace, discarding the spade queen, and then hopefully led the diamond nine. East, however, was not silly enough to cover, and declarer was "stuck." To overtake the nine with the king was only to concede the eight spot to East's queen, whereas letting the nine win was to leave the play in dummy and concede the last club to West.

Victory had been well within declarer's grasp. After the lead of the last heart had made East unguard the club suit, cashing the diamond king would have settled West's hash. West would have had to hold the spade king to overlay the queen, hence he also would have had to reduce to two clubs and dummy's suit would have been good as gold.

Strangely enough, another play at the very first trick also would have worked if the defense followed the same lines. That play was merely to throw the diamond nine on the opening lead, retaining the four spot in dummy. Then, assuming everything went as it did go, declarer would have been able to finesse aganist the diamond queen, up to his own king-eight.

use LYSOL in Your House Cleaning . . .

EVERY modern housekeeper and mother should use "Lysol" every day in cleaning. But "Lysol" is doubly important in your big seasonal cleaning, when you can disinfect and deodorize all those obscure corners where dirt and germs may lurk. "Lysol" makes cleaning easier, more thorough. It is economical because highly concentrated . . . you only need 2½ tablespoonfuls of "Lysol" per gallon of cleaning water.

37 N. U. PLAYERS TO MAKE OHIO STATE TRIP

3 SOPHOMORES WIN PLACES ON STARTING TEAM

Ryan Only Veteran in Back Field.

Thirty-seven Northwestern university football players will leave this morning for Columbus, where tomorrow afternoon they meet Ohio State in the opening contest of the Wildcats' six game Western conference schedule.

Coach Lynn Waldorf plans to start a veteran line and three sophomores in the back field against the Buckeyes, who opened their season with a 19 to 0 triumph over Missouri last Saturday while the Wildcats were falling before another Big Six representative, Oklahoma, 23 to 0. Nick Cutlich, senior left tackle, will captain Northwestern tomorrow.

Ryan Holds His Job.

Jack Ryan, versatile senior from Milwaukee, Wis., will be the only veteran in the back field. Ryan, who played full back his first season and left half in 1938, is at quarter this fall and gets the call over another pair of veterans, Nick Conteas and Dick Richards. Bill De Correvont, who ran well against Oklahoma, will open at left half, and either Ike Kepford or Don Kruger, both sophomores, at right half. If Kruger's injured hip shows further improvement he will start. Don Clawson, 215 pound sophomore, has been given the full back assignment.

The line will include Bob Daly and Jim Smith at the ends, Cutlich and Corne Aarts, tackles; Hal Method and Joe Lokanc, guards, and Johnny Haman, center.

Waldorf Is Worried.

In outlining his starting team for the Ohio State engagement Waldorf said he still was not completely pleased with the squad's defensive work, revealing that the fourth team scored twice with Ohio State plays in Thursday's night scrimmage. He did say, however, that the Wildcat offense had shown improvement.

Several key players are making the trip, but may see only limited action due to injuries. Guard John Goldak has a broken nose; Don Guritz, also a guard, an injured leg, and Alf Bauman, sophomore tackle, a lame leg.

The squad drilled lightly in Dyche stadium yesterday, then stayed in Chicago overnight. Columbus will be reached in time for a brief drill this afternoon. The traveling roster follows:

CENTERS—John Haman, Paul Hiemenz, Don Johnson.

GUARDS—Hal Method, Joe Lokanc, Don Guritz, John Goldak, George Zorich, and James Liddell.

ENDS—Bob Daly, Jim Smith, Al Butherus, Ted Grefe, Jay Laskay, H. E. Horton, and George Herrmann.

FULL BACKS—Don Clawson, Jack McGurn, Francis Purtell, and George Benson.

BUCKEYES PRACTICE KICKS.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12 [Special].—Two departments of the Ohio State football team's activities received extra attention in today's practice for the game here Saturday with Northwestern.

The first was defense against Northwestern's running and passing attack as demonstrated by the reserve team and the second was the attempt to develop place kicking. So far this year the Buckeyes have been weak in the kicks off and the try for point after touchdown, so today Charlie Maag and Jimmy Langhurst practiced kicking for a considerable portion of the session.

The Northwestern game will be the best attended of the year. A turnout of more than 65,000 is assured. The largest crowd ever to see a Northwestern game was 67,271, in 1937.

The Ohio State lineup may be somewhat changed over that which started against Missouri. Aside from Maag at tackle, Stu Whitehead seems to have replaced Vic Marino at left guard. The remainder of the starting lineup probably will see Sarkkinen and Clairs at ends, Daniell at the other tackle, Nosker at the other guard, and Andrako at center. Scott will be at quarter back, Langhurst at full back, and Strausbaugh and Zadworney at half backs.

NO LETUP FOR IRISH; S. M. U. IS DANGEROUS FOE

Mustangs Boast Tie with Oklahoma.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 12.—What's this we hear about only 35,000 going to pay to see Notre Dame play Southern Methodist here Saturday afternoon? Not that Notre Dame gates need any plugging by us, but, for goodness sakes, the battle is liable to be one of the most spectacular matches of the year and only a miserable 35,000 on hand to see it.

It must be that folks haven't been reading the papers as carefully as they should. Of course, they know the Irish this season have beaten Purdue, 3 to 0, and Georgia Tech, 17 to 14. But they surely have overlooked the fact that on Sept. 30 Southern Methodist tied Oklahoma, 7 to 7, and should have whipped the Sooners on the basis of the statistics, and just a week later Oklahoma invaded Evanston and whanged the proud Northwestern Wildcats, 23 to 0, or some such horrible ratio.

Why Experts Go Crazy.

Comparing football scores has driven many a good man nutty, but certainly this dope, covering a span of eight days, indicates S. M. U., hereinafter called the Mustangs, is better than the already punchdrunk football experts proclaimed them in preseason revelations.

It may be that the 17,000 or so who are expected to stay out of seats that will be available for them here Saturday like their football dope as they like their whisky, carrying a little age. Well, how about that nine year old bonded goods Notre Dame reminiscers have been putting out? Southern Methodist, as many remember, or have been reminded, in 1930 played the first game in Notre Dame stadium. [Please don't waste another nickel calling up about this again. Southern Methodist did play the first game and Navy played at the formal dedication a week later.]

The Irish Had Trouble.

The Notre Dame boys, who turned out to be national champions in that, Knute Rockne's last season, had expected to make the Mustangs think they were on a merry go round. Those who saw the game still talk about the way the Texas lads tossed footballs all over the place. S. M. U. scored a touchdown on the first four plays of the game and Joe Savoldi of Notre Dame returned the second kickoff for a touchdown. After that just one thing after another happened and at the end the breathless Irish had just managed to eke out a 20 to 14 victory as an instalment in their national championship. And, that, stay at homes, was long before the Mustangs were as famous as they are now.

Coach Elmer Layden expects a tough encounter, really. Elmer might say he did, joshing like, even if he thought the Methodists as soft a touch as the experts predicted before the S. M. U.-Oklahoma game. But he has made his boys bear down, on forward pass defense, in which the Irish have been not too brilliant in their two games to date. That's one thing Elmer doesn't have to guess about in re the Mustangs' attack. He knows there is going to be a leather shower. He has respect for Coach Matty Bell's stratagems, and knows that Mr. Bell loves to see his protéges pitch.

Saggau May Be Out.

Notre Dame had only a modicum of infirmary plaints today. It is said to be unlikely Bob Saggau, first team left half back, will play and the latest arnica bulletin has it that Bob Hargrave, an assistant quarter back, who directed the team to two touchdown parades last week, also will be out of service. Each young man has a sore leg. If Saggau can't go, Harry Stevenson will be at left half on the first team. Harry can't run as fast as Saggau, but he can kick like everything and is a fine passer.

S. M. U. STARTS NORTH.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 12 [Special].—A battered squad of 37 Southern Methodist football men hit the road this afternoon for Saturday's appointment with Notre Dame in South Bend.

Coach Matty Bell was forced to include four crippled players in the Mustang traveling squad. They are Bill Mullenweg, blocking back; Bob Beville, full back; Gee Geise, half back, and Dandy Dick Miller, flashy half back.

"We'll need every man we have," Bell said. "I don't expect the Mustangs will be able to handle Notre Dame's power, but there is always the possibility that we will be able to outsmart them and overcome the terrific odds."

The Mustangs will arrive in Chicago tomorrow and run through an afternoon workout on Soldiers' field.

Ten Years Ago Today—Manager Joe McCarthy, still smarting from the 10 to 8 licking the Athletics administered to the Cubs, predicted that Pat Malone would put the Chicagoans back in the running. . . . The Green Bay Packers retained their lead in the National Pro football league with a 14 to 2 victory over Frankford.

The Wake Depends Upon Its Friends.

At Press Time Gabby Is Still Cub Manager

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Gabby Hartnett still carries the title of Cub manager but the hour for his trial before President-Owner P. K. Wrigley may come sooner than expected.

Wrigley, who has confessed to being hot under the collar over the failure of the team, yesterday repeated previous statements that he didn't want to act in the matter until he could cool off and consider the problem from a business man's instead of a fan's viewpoint.

But Wrigley, now being bombarded with so many "What about Gabby?" queries that he hasn't time for his other numerous affairs, is growing hotter instead of cooler. So he may summon Hartnett immediately.

It Looks Bad for Gabby.

What Wrigley said in connection with his managerial problem was generally accepted as positive indication that Hartnett's ouster is a certainty. Wrigley has admitted believing that the Cubs should have done far better than fourth place in the regular season and that, certainly, they should have won the city series after taking three of the first four from the Sox.

The Larry French situation didn't help Hartnett's chance of staying over for the 1940 party. French thought he was in Gabby's doghouse because of not being called upon to pitch. He appealed directly to Wrigley and almost immediately became a regular starter.

It Must Be This.

When Wrigley mentioned "bad trades" he undoubtedly had in mind the results of last December's transaction by which Billy Jurges, Frank Demaree and Ken O'Dea went to the Giants for Dick Bartell, Hank Leiber and Gus Mancuso.

The supposition is that Hartnett didn't know of the purchase of Outfielder Bill Nicholson until after it was made early in the season. The team apparently needed strengthening but the manager failed to notify his employer. So the employer, the story runs, decided to do some scouting by remote control. After getting a favorable report on the Chattanooga fly chaser, he closed the transaction, presumably involving $35,000.

He's Never Heard of Meyer.

It didn't take long for the rumor mongers to get results from Wrigley's declaration that he was positively dissatisfied with Gabby. Bill Meyer, who piloted the Kansas City Blues, a Yankee farm, to the American association pennant, was elected. When Wrigley was informed that his new manager was Meyer, he declared, "Why, I never heard of the fellow."

GOPHERS WONDER WHETHER TEAM IS GOOD OR BAD

Fans Not Very Happy with Purdue Just Ahead.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 12.—Football prospects at Minnesota can be summed up only in a series of contradictory statements. As the Gophers wait for their first Big Ten game with Purdue university here Saturday, their followers are divided over the portent of defeat last week by Nebraska. Indecision has been communicated to the coaching staff so that one report indicates potential strength, the next that the players cannot break the shackles of their lethargy.

Strangely enough, this wishy-washy attitude toward the team that is defending the Western conference championship is reflected by the man on the street. Two years ago when Minnesota lost to Nebraska and then went on to win the Big Ten title, the fans laughed off that licking. Now that Nebraska has won again, the attitude is that long forecast athletic depression finally has arrived.

Bierman Very Pessimistic.

Coach Bernie Bierman, intensely serious, is as concerned over last week's failure as if by that defeat Minnesota had lost a championship. Today, he said:

"This team is the biggest, and perhaps the worst, since I came to Minnesota. This team is faster and mechanically better than the 1934 eleven." [The 1934 Minnesota team was the greatest of the Bierman era. It defeated each Big Ten opponent by at least 30 points and also whipped Pittsburgh, thus insuring the national championship.]

And then Bernie gave a clew to these contradictions when he added: "Football is the same old game—25 per cent is knowing what to do and being able to do it. Seventy-five per cent is determination."

Apparently Minnesota does have better than average players. But like Northwestern, for instance, which has been acclaimed a possible conference champion, the Gophers have realized there is no shortcut. Lynn Waldorf's remark after Oklahoma whipped the Wildcats is echoed by Bierman. "We were not as good on green grass," Waldorf said, "as we were on paper."

Follows Old Formula.

Bierman's criticism, of course, is an old formula for arousing a team. Demotion of individuals, general discussion of mistakes, and large servings of pessimism may be what the Gophers need. But one cannot forget—indeed, this was Bierman's theme today—that Nebraska scored with a reverse play on fourth down and ten yards to go. De Fruiter of Nebraska not only completely fooled John Mariucci, Minnesota left end, but he traveled eighteen yards without aid through the Gopher back field.

One repercussion of that mistake will be substitution of Bill Atkins, 175 pound sophomore, at left end Saturday. Atkins replaces Mariucci not only as punishment for the veteran's complacence, but because he is the best pass catcher on the squad. He was ineligible until mid-week before the Nebraska game and did not get into that contest.

Bierman today also insisted that Arizona's line outplayed Minnesota's line in the opening game of the year and, so help us, when the coach finished drawing diagrams, showing how Arizona stopped line plunges, and how sweeping end runs succeeded because no one was there, we almost agreed, although the score was 62 to 0.

Names Starting Lineup.

Minnesota's starting lineup in addition to Atkins, will be Bill Johnson, right end; Capt. Win Pedersen and Sy Johnson, tackles; Bill Knuisto and Bob Smith, guards; Bob Bjorcklund, center; Harold Van Every and George Franck, half backs, and Martin Christiansen, full back. The quarter back? "Pull it out of a hat," said Bierman. And, incidentally, the Minnesota quarter backs do not call signals. Van Every is the field general, principal runner, and forward passer. He kicks, too.

Chicago Boys Big Help to Purdue

Don't Get the Maroons Wrong; They Like to Play Football

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The University of Chicago's Maroons do not use Latin or logarithms in their football signals. They play the game because they like it. They have come to the Midway in search of athletic enjoyment as well as for the educational benefits it offers. They regard the dearth of material of recent years not as a handicap but as the impetus to a camaraderie not found on larger squads.

These sentiments were uttered the other day by a slender, blond lad whose spectacles and lean features give him a professorial aspect. You might take him for an undergraduate tutor, unless you encounter Jay Berwanger, who will promptly tell you that the young man is one of the best ends in the Western conference. He is Robert Wasem, co-captain with John Davenport of this year's Maroon squad, which plays its third game of the season tomorrow against Harvard on Stagg field.

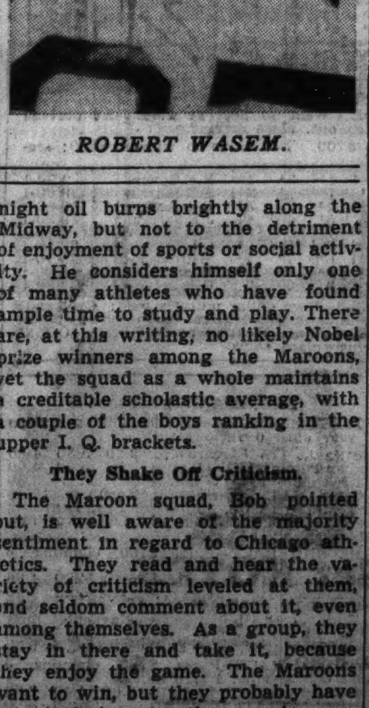
Play for Love of Game.

Wasem was asked, not only as one of the team's leaders but also as a representative Maroon senior, what football as practiced on the Midway has meant to him and his associates these last three autumns. Bob made it quite plain that he and his mates are no different in their fundamental attitude toward the game than hundreds of other collegiate players throughout the country.

"Yes, we have a small squad," he said, "but we get the same kick out of it as any one else. Without exception, every man on the squad is out to play because he likes the game. We all enjoy tackling and blocking in practice, and get an extra wallop out of them during a game. During my three years here, there always has been a fine spirit on the team which outsiders never have appreciated because of our record. I'm glad I came to Chicago, and I think I can say the same for the rest of the boys."

Leave Books at Home.

The popular belief about the educational rigors of Chicago was brought up, and Wasem was quick to deflate the idea that athletes are forced to bring books to practice and pore over same between plays in order to stay in school. Yes, the midnight oil burns brightly along the Midway, but not to the detriment of enjoyment of sports or social activity. He considers himself only one of many athletes who have found ample time to study and play. There are, at this writing, no likely Nobel prize winners among the Maroons, yet the squad as a whole maintains a creditable scholastic average, with a couple of the boys ranking in the upper I. Q. brackets.



ROBERT WASEM.

They Shake Off Criticism.

The Maroon squad, Bob pointed out, is well aware of the majority sentiment in regard to Chicago athletics. They read and hear the variety of criticism leveled at them, and seldom comment about it, even among themselves. As a group, they stay in there and take it, because they enjoy the game. The Maroons want to win, but they probably have few rivals in extracting genuine personal satisfaction out of their efforts even in defeat.

The suggestion has been advanced more than once that Chicago choose up annual sides against a schedule of smaller schools, but team sentiment is solidly opposed to this. The boys, Wasem said, would rather continue against larger teams in the hope that some Saturday afternoon they might catch one of them off balance with overconfidence. Two years ago, Wasem himself figured in the nearest approach to this happy situation since Berwanger's time. Bob, then a sophomore, caught a touchdown pass that gave the Maroons a 13 to 0 lead against Michigan,

Purdue Football Squad of 36 Stops Over in Chicago

The Purdue football squad of 36 men, bound for the Minnesota game at Minneapolis tomorrow, spent three hours in Chicago last night between trains. It will be the first Big Ten game for both teams. Coach Mal Elward said the starting Purdue lineup would be:

FLORIDA WINS OVER BOSTON COLLEGE, 7 TO 0

Boston, Mass., Oct. 12 (AP).—After registering an early touchdown through the air, the Florida 'Gators halted the Boston college Eagles five scoring chances to gain a 7 to 0 victory today before a holiday crowd of 20,000 in Fenway Park. Leo Cahill scored by taking a 25 yard pass from Bud Walton. Forest Ferguson, Florida sophomore end, kept the Eagles in check almost single handed when they tried five series of scoring passes inside the 15 yard line.

Sorteado Breaks Down at Jamaica; Turf Career Ends

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Sorteado, the Argentine horse for which Charles S. Howard reputedly paid $45,000, broke down today during the running of the $10,000 added Gallant Fox handicap at Jamaica. The horse was pulled up by Jockey George Woolf a little more than half a mile after the start of the mile and five furlong race. Examination showed Sorteado had suffered a rupture of the flexor and sessamoid bones of his right front ankle, and, while he will not have to be destroyed, it is doubtful if he will run again.

French Fans 16; Hartnett Hits Homer for West Bend

West Bend, Wis., Oct. 12 (AP).—Larry French and Gabby Hartnett, Cubs' southpaw and catcher-manager, who reported had a feud on late this season, collaborated as a battery today to give West Bend a 7 to 6 victory over a team of Milwaukee minor league players. French fanned 16, but yielded a homer to Stan Galle, Milwaukee Brewers' shortstop. Hartnett also hit a home run.

English Derby Winner in 1925 Dies at Age of 17

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—Manna, the famous race horse and stallion which won the 1925 Derby, died at Newmarket last night from a broken blood vessel. He was 17 years old. Manna was owned by Mistress Morriss. Bought for 6,500 guineas [about $27,300] as a yearling, Manna won nearly £25,000 [about $101,000] in stake money in two seasons.

Oklahoma Ends Practice for Game with Texas

Norman, Okla., Oct. 12 (AP).—University of Oklahoma football players went through their plays today in a final workout before leaving for Dallas to meet Texas Saturday. Coach Tom Stidham said Ralph Harris, 230 pound sophomore guard, would join Jack Jacobs on the bench. Both were injured in the Northwestern game.

PECK'S BAD BOY IS TOO BAD TO SUIT STEWARDS

Disqualification Brings $516 Daily Double.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Peck's Bad Boy was very, very bad indeed yesterday at Sportsman's Park. His manners were so rough that he was disqualified after winning by five lengths, thereby bringing a 64 to 1 shot to the top and preparing the way for a $516 daily double.

The disqualification occurred in the first race. The lull between the posting of the numbers and the appearance of the "official" sign were packed with hope and anxiety for those who had backed Peck's Bad Boy at 9 to 2 odds and also for those who had climbed aboard the long shot, Doctor's Rose, which had finished second. Presently the numbers came down and a new set went up with Doctor's Rose on top, Tonkawa second and Wing Myth third. The jubilant followers of Doctor's Rose then marched up and collected $129.20, $41.80 and $11.40.

Peck's Bad Boy Bears Over.

The incident which led to the disqualification occurred soon after the start of this five furlong event. Breaking from the No. 9 post position, Peck's Bad Boy bore over sharply toward the rail, jamming the entire field into close quarters behind him. He held command as they went into the clubhouse turn and he increased his lead all the way home.

Meanwhile Doctor's Rose had been running second all the way, standing off Tonkawa's closing rush to beat her by half a length. Doctor's Rose was making the fourth start of her career in this race for juvenile maidens. Never before had she been any better than eighth.

No Penalty for Jocky.

The stewards decided that Jocky Charles Moloney had been doing his best to keep Peck's Bad Boy straight. Accordingly he received no penalty.

THE INNOCENT ONE CRINGES IN FEAR BEFORE THE GREAT KLANG! THAT IS CHARMING! COME, KLANG DOES NOT INTEND TO TORTURE SO SOFT A PETAL!
I HATE YOU, YOU AWFUL OL' THING! MR. RYAN WOULD FIX YOU IF HE WERE FREE!
...BUT THE ESTEEMED ONE IS NOT FREE! KLANG ADMIRES THE SPIRIT OF THE SAUCY ONE, HOWEVER, AND WILL ALLOW HER TO DINE AT HIS FEET!
ARE...ARE MY FRIENDS BEING FED TOO?
THOSE PIGS? BUT OF COURSE NOT! WHY SHOULD KLANG WASTE FOOD ON NEAR-CORPSES?
THEN I SHALL NOT TOUCH A BITE OF YOUR EVIL OL' DINNER!
OOOOHH! AND YOU SAID YOU WEREN'T GOING TO TORTURE ME!!!

MATCH MERRITT AND KETTLES FOR TEN ROUND BOUT

Dan Merritt, 1938 Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, and Alex Kettles, former South Bend sectional Golden Gloves winner, yesterday were matched to meet in a ten round bout in Marigold Gardens Oct. 23. Kettles appeared in the best form of his career when he handed Altus Allen his first professional defeat in Chicago Stadium last Friday. . . . Indian Jim Liddell, Los Angeles, Cal., 132 pound fighter, and Jackie Nichols of Gary have been added to Monday's card in Marigold. They meet in four rounds. Another match at this distance involves Billy Seward and Frankie Agnes. Contests of eight rounds bring together Johnny Barbara and Tommy Pallatin, Chino Lopez and Young Kid McCoy, Al Globe and Lee Oma.

Harold Rodie, 124th Field Artillery armory welterweight, and Tom McGee of the Savoy Athletic club will be opponents in a five round amateur encounter in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, tonight. In a five round secondary feature Sammy Consolo, lightweight stablemate of Rodie, is paired with Andy Sterling of the south side. Bob Nestell, Frankie [Kid] Covelli, and Eddie Lander will attend, as well as members of the Bears and Cardinals.

Joe Savoldi will wrestle Fritz von Schacht in the windup bout of a wrestling show in White City Monday. . . . Eddie Lander will leave Wednesday for New Orleans where he boxes Jimmy Perrin in ten rounds Oct. 23. F. M.

LENICH MAY BE LOST TO ILLINOIS FOR U. S. C. GAME

Suffers Chest Injury in Tucson Practice.

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 12 [Special].—Bill Lenich, senior center on the Illinois football team, may be lost for Saturday's game with Southern California in Los Angeles due to an injury sustained in a practice drill this morning. Lenich, who has held the first string center position since practice opened, suffered a chest injury in a pileup.

The squad was not tackling at the time, but Coach Bob Zuppke had announced a scrimmage for the afternoon. When Lenich was hurt he said there would be no more heavy work. Herb Young, reserve end, spent 24 hours in the University of Arizona infirmary receiving treatment for a severe cold.

"Lenich is our only center with any experience," said Coach Zuppke, "and his loss will cripple us severely." Accompanying the squad as centers are Ralph Hathaway and Pete Kovachic, also seniors.

TROJANS NAME BACK FIELD.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—Southern California named its starting back field today for its game with Illinois and continued to map its defense. Coach Howard Jones leans to Grenville Lansdell as the starting quarter back, but indicated he may change his mind and send in Amby Schindler. Bob Peoples, despite an ailing foot, was picked to begin at full back, with Bill Sangster and Jack Banta ready for reserve duty.

Injured Iowa Stars May Get Back in Game

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 12 [Special].—While only slight hope was held out for the return of Al Couppee, regular quarter back, to the Iowa lineup for the game with Michigan in Ann Arbor Saturday, it began to appear today that the Hawkeyes might have the services of Charles Tollefson for the game.

Both Tollefson and Couppee worked out today but only Tollefson was active. Couppee still favored the shoulder he injured last Saturday in the Indiana game. Tollefson's sprained arch has responded fairly well, but whether it will be strong enough to carry him through actual game conditions is problematical.

In the last practice before leaving here, Coach Eddie Anderson sent the men through a lengthy signal drill, and also put the squad through another defensive line scrimmage against Michigan plays. The squad will leave tomorrow morning, practicing at Stagg field, Chicago, in the afternoon, and then continuing on to Jackson, Mich., to stay until shortly before game time.

CRISLER RESPECTS IOWA.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12 [Special].—The Michigan squad polished its offensive game today in preparation for its first Big Ten test Saturday against Iowa.

Although observers are boosting the Wolverines for a conference title, Coach Fritz Crisler is taking nothing for granted. "Iowa will be plenty tough," he said today. "They have a winning momentum now which may carry them a long way and we'll have to scrap to win."

Crisler indicated that the shift of Bob Zimmerman, sophomore full back from Chicago, to quarter back would not be permanent and that he wanted primarily to give the sophomore additional blocking practice. Should Forest Evashevski, quarter back, be injured, however, it is expected that Zimmerman may again be moved to the signal calling post.

BOND FOR LARRY FRENCH POSTED IN HUNTING CASE

Horicon, Wis., Oct. 12 (AP).—An attorney representing Larry French, Chicago Cubs' southpaw, appeared this afternoon before Justice of the Peace John Richards and posted $65 cash bond after District Attorney Clarence Traeger issued a warant charging French with hunting in Wisconsin without a nonresident license.

Justice Richards said reading of the complaint and warant was waived and that the defense would make an appearance in the morning when the bond would be used to pay fine and costs. No denial was made, Justice Richards said.

Traeger said he acted on complaint of Conservation Warden William Field, who claimed French carried a borrowed resident license while hunting on the Horicon marsh yesterday with a party of six others, including, Field said, Gabby Hartnett, Cubs' manager.

64 Horses Bring $39,875 as Lexington's Sale Closes

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 12 (AP).—Lexington's fall thoroughbred horse sales closed tonight as 64 horses were disposed of for $39,875, an average of $623. Top price was $4,000 which Ira Drymon of Lexington, agent, paid for Thorson, stakes winner of 19 races and $50,125. Thorson was consigned by B. M. Byers. Now 7 years old, Thorson is a chestnut son of Son o' Battle—Axenbroom, by Imp. Axenstein. During his racing career he defeated Seabiscuit and won the Colin, Yorktown, Excelsior, Champlain, and Edgemore handicaps.

Bears Strong, But Don't Sell Cards Short

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Two old Cardinals will lead 30 young ones into Wrigley field Sunday to resume an ancient rivalry with the Bears. The young ones have heard but hardly remember that 10 years ago the two veterans, Ernie Nevers, a man with a dream, and Cobb Rooney, their trainer, led another delegation of Cardinals against the Bears.

It was Thanksgiving day of 1929. A previous game that year had ended in a tie. The Cardinals expected to win, but even the most optimistic among them were unprepared for the result. Nevers made 40 points that day to defeat the Bears, 40 to 6. Rooney, the Cardinal quarter back, well remembers the scoring of the Bears' 6 points. Garland Grange got behind him and took a 60 yard pass from Walt Holmer for the score early in the third period, after Nevers already had settled the issue.

It Could Happen.

It would be dramatic to have Nevers and Rooney opposing the Bears for the first time in their new rôles of coach and trainer, lead the Cardinals to victory. And since there is no rule against the Bears losing, the Cardinals are free to hope.

The Bears, particularly their coaches George Halas and Luke Johnsos, have an idea the Cardinals are entitled to more than a little hope. With Bill Smith, the league's outstanding end, flanking a line that is bulwarked by Tony Blazine and Al Barbartsky, two tackles widely respected in the National league, and Ki Aldrich, a rookie center from Texas Christian, who is just beginning to find himself in professional football, the Cardinals' defense receives more recognition from the Bears than that of any team they have met so far this year.

Mr. Halas Is Worried.

But the chief concern in the Bear camp is a new spread offense Nevers gave to the Cardinals for last week's Green Bay game. There is another formation, equally as formidable, that has the Bears worried. An investigation has been started by Halas to find out where Nevers got it. With these two additions, Halas sees the Cardinal offense as the most deceptive thrown against the Bears. And he would be very much pleased if the Bears had not been so hot last Sunday in Cleveland.

Nevers, discussing the Cardinals yesterday, expressed the belief that the team was about ready now to play football. Its chief trouble so far has been the development of a secondary defense. His only effective offensive units turned out to be nothing but backers up on defense, leaving a weakness at the half backs. Defense is the most difficult part of football and it has been no easy job for Nevers to untrack seasoned players and teach them the tricks of new positions.

PAYCHEK KNOCKS OUT MILLER IN 2D AT SIOUX FALLS

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 12 (AP).—Johnny Paychek, Des Moines, Ia., former bellhop, marked up his 20th knockout in a string of 29 victories here tonight by scoring in the second round over Clarence Miller of Los Angeles.

A savage left to the jaw sent Miller through the ropes and out of the ring after 1 minute 47 seconds in the second round. Miller was able to crawl back through the ropes, but once inside plunged face down on the mat and was counted out by Referee Benny Leonard.

WALTER CLOW'S 79 LEADS FIRST NATIONAL GOLF

Billy Direct Sets World Mile Pacing Mark of 2:00

Altamont, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP).—Billy Direct, owned by Dan McConville of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Pat Downey of Worcester, Mass., set a new world's pacing record today of two minutes flat for one mile on a half mile track. Driven by William Fleming and paced by an automobile, Billy Direct cut three-quarters of a second off his old mile mark he set at Rutland, Vt., earlier this year. Peter Direct and The Widower set a team record of 2:04¼, beating the old world record by three seconds.

Indiana Names 34 Players to Meet Badgers

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special].—Coach Bo McMillin today selected 34 Indiana players to oppose Wisconsin Saturday at Madison. The team left Bloomington tonight and will go to Janesville, Wis., for a workout tomorrow and will stay there until shortly before game time.

Players making the trip are:

BADGERS DRILL ON PASSES.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12 [Special].—Satisfied that the running attack has greatly improved, Coach Harry Stuhldreher turned the Badgers' attention today to forward passing in the hope of meeting Indiana's vaunted air attack, which netted more than 400 yards in the Hoosiers' first two games.

With Billy Schmitz, Bobby Cone, Tony Gradisnik, George Paskvan and Fred Gage doing the tossing, the varsity filled the air with passes in dummy scrimmage against the freshmen using Indiana formations. Schmitz and Dick Embick, first string guards, are suffering from light colds, but both are expected to be ready to start Saturday.

HUNTING DOGS GO ON PARADE IN TWO TRIALS

Two field trials of interest to sportsmen will be held in the Chicago area this week-end, with pointers, setters, spaniels, and retriever breeds to be tested. The retrievers, including Labradors, Goldens, and Chesapeakes, will compete in the annual fall event of the Midwest Field Trial club on the Bateman estate, five miles west of Barrington. The Derby and amateur all-age stakes will be held tomorrow [Saturday] and the open all-age stake Sunday. Competition will start at 8:30 a. m. both days. The judge will be Arthur Moecher, Aurora; Arthur Welch, Milwaukee, and Henry Christian, White Bear Lake, Minn.

The West Suburban Hunting Dog club will hold its fourth annual field trial tomorrow and Sunday near Wolf road at North avenue, just east of Elmhurst. Spaniels will compete in four stakes tomorrow, and Sunday will be devoted to pointers and setters. All dogs will be run on pheasants. T. C. Dennehy Jr. and Buell Patterson, Chicago, will judge the spaniel stakes, and Harry Decker, Winamac, Ind., and Louis Jones, Chicago, will officiate for the pointer and setter competition.

Schurz High school's football team scored its third consecutive victory in the north section of the Public School league yesterday, routing Waller, 36 to 0, in Winnemac park. Schurz scored in every period and held a 22 to 0 advantage at the end of the first half.

Half Back Schreiber, who replaced Thompson, contributed the longest run of the game in the final period when he ran 50 yards to score. Thompson, Brice, Long and Leibert also added touchdowns. The lineups:

SCHURZ [36].		WALLER [0].
Brice	L. E.	Lang
O'Brien	L. T.	Lindh
Perry	L. G.	Hehn
Chapman	C.	Berry
Guinett	R. G.	Doyle
Gronczewski	R. T.	Sargis
Perschon	R. T.	Abraham
Ajax	Q. B.	Daniel
Keefe	L. H.	Angellotti
Thompson	R. H.	Sfickas
Leibert	F. B.	Wonan

Touchdowns—Brice, Schreiber [sub for Thompson], Long [sub for Brice], Leibert, Thompson. Points after touchdown—Leibert, Keefe, Moeller [sub for Perschon], Kinsinger [sub for Leibert]. Safety—Barrett [sub for Sfickas].

Farragut, favorite in the west section, seeks its third victory of the season tonight against Crane Tech in Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue. . . . Another Public School league game will bring together Kelly and Englewood in a central division contest in Normal park this afternoon. . . . St. Ignatius, undefeated in the north zone of the Catholic league, opposes St. Patrick under the lights in St. Philip stadium, Van Buren and Albany.

Oak Park opens its campaign for another Suburban league championship tomorrow afternoon against Waukegan in Oak Park stadium. . . . The feature engagement in the West Suburban conference tomorrow will send La Grange, the conference leader, against Glenbard on the former's field. . . . In other games, Downers Grove will play at Maine and Hinsdale faces York in Elmhurst.

Barnet Hodes, secretary of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, yesterday announced that Mayor Kelly's annual game between the champions of the Catholic and Public School leagues will be played in Soldiers' field on Dec. 2. . . . The game last year grossed more than $100,000. . . . Col. A. A. Sprague is treasurer.

Capacity crowds are expected Sunday afternoon in Mills stadium when Fenwick plays St. George and in Shewbridge field for the game between Mount Carmel and Weber. . . . The games will decide the leadership in both north and south sections of the Catholic league. . . . Proviso, which drew a bye in this week's Suburban league schedule, will meet East High of Madison, Wis., tonight in Maywood.

Possibility of complete reorganization of the Illinois High School Athletic association, in which this body would become only a branch of a larger association with wider scope in interscholastic affairs, was discussed last night at a meeting of the board of control.

As the newly elected and holdover members of the board gathered at 11 South La Salle street, H. V. Porter, assistant manager of the association, said that demands for such reorganization had become so widespread that it might be voted into effect when high school principals of the state hold their annual fall meeting in Champaign on Nov. 3.

The move proposes that a new organization include supervision of commercial, musical, literary, agriculture, and forensic competition as well as athletics. The board of control formulated its opinion on the proposal to be submitted at the state convention.

Floyd Smith of Benton was named president of the board; O. L. Rapp of Canton, vice president, and Fred L. Biester of Glenbard, secretary-treasurer.

New Windsor High school was reinstated to membership in the association after a year's suspension and Oquawka was removed from a probationary status.

More than 500 officers and employés of the City National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago participated in the annual golf tournament at Medinah yesterday.

Mahlon Shanahan, scoring 79, won low gross prize and regained the championship he held two years ago. Other gross leaders were Walter A. Stringfellow, 83; Charles R. Parson, 85, and Clark E. Gardener, 88.

Low net leaders were Herbert F. Borsom, 75; Adolph R. Floreen, 75, and Philip R. Clarke, 77.

Maroons Like Their Football, Win or Lose

From Fort Dodge, Ia.

Wasem, who is 21 years old, is a native of Fort Dodge, Ia., following his brother Dick, former Maroon quarter miler, to the Midway. An end in high school, Bob forsook football on his arrival here for a job as a hurdler on the freshman track team, but was induced to go out for football as a sophomore and has been at right end since.

Wasem feels that the present shortage of football material can be adjusted through proper action by Chicago alumni in the city and throughout the state. He suggests that old grads might work on the theory which Iowa is trying to put into practice, that of keeping the home high school stars at home and by interesting likely athletes in their own neighborhoods and towns in the advantages—educational and athletic—of attending the University of Chicago.

HARVARD TEAM LEAVES

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 12 [Special].—The Harvard football team left Boston today for Chicago where, on Saturday, it will conclude a home and home series with the Maroons of the University of Chicago.

Not since 1929, when it played the University of Michigan, has a Harvard team traveled into the central states. That year, before 87,000 spectators in Ann Arbor, Harvard's Barry Wood led a passing attack that fell short of bringing on a tie. Michigan won, 14 to 12.

This year Dick Harlow's Cambridge boys are the favorites, perhaps, to repeat their sweeping victory of last season when they trounced the Maroons, 47 to 13.

MacDonald May Not Start.

Although he has been working out with the squad most of this week, Capt. Torbert MacDonald is not expected to start against Chicago. There is a chance, however, that the 22 year old field general may see a few moments of play. His place last Saturday was taken by Francis Lee, one of the five sophomores who broke tradition by starting an opening game. The same five are expected to be in the kickoff ranks on Stagg field on Saturday.

One of these is Loren G. MacKinney, former Northm Carolina end, who until this fall was unknown at Harvard. Others are Charles Burgess Ayres, former Choate boy, who plays center; Vern Miller, 250 pound tackle from Milwaukee, and Charles Spreyer, another Choate boy, who from the full back position does Harvard's kicking.

Fight Decisions

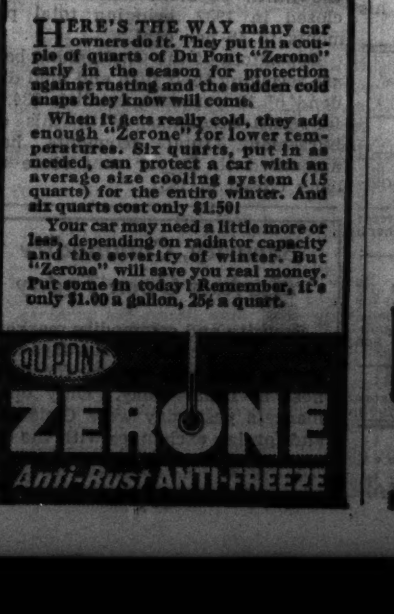
At Sioux Falls, S. D.—John Paychek knocked out Clarence Miller [2].
At Little Rock, Ark.—Buddy Baer stopped Maxie Doyle [3].



DO YOU WANT ALL-WINTER RADIATOR PROTECTION FOR ONLY $1.50?

HERE'S THE WAY many car owners do it. They put in a couple of quarts of Du Pont "Zerone" early in the season for protection against rusting and the sudden cold snaps they know will come.

When it gets really cold, they add enough "Zerone" for lower temperatures. Six quarts, put in as needed, can protect a car with an average size cooling system (15 quarts) for the entire winter. And six quarts cost only $1.50!

Your car may need a little more or less, depending on radiator capacity and the severity of winter. But "Zerone" will save you real money. Put some in today! Remember, it's only $1.00 a gallon, 25¢ a quart.

Miller Elected President of Illinois Skaters

Pete Miller.

The Illinois Skating association elected Pete Miller president for the coming season last night. Miller succeeds Earl W. Solem. Miller, active in skating and other amateur sports, is a Chicago park district athletic director, leader in the C. Y. O., and is coach of the 1940 Olympic skating team.

The vote for Miller and all of the new officers was a unanimous one. Sidney Novak, an athletic director at Columbus park, was reëlected secretary, while the following were selected to fill their official jobs: Herbert Knudten, first vice president; Carmen Tortorello, second vice president, and Robert Starrett, third vice president. The new registration committeemen are Phillip Pritikin, Roy McWhirter, John Flickinger, William Himmer, and Roger Legner.

When the United States Speed Skating union convention opens tomorrow in the La Salle hotel, Miller will represent the Illinois group on the national board of control. With him will be Novak, Tortorello, Pritikin, Starrett, and Flickinger.

The ice union's convention will decide upon the Olympic situation for 1940 and attend to other business, including the election of officers for the 1940-'41 season. The sites of the national speed meets, indoor and outdoor, as well as the North American title event site, will be named.

3 Marquette Regulars Miss Game at State

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 12 [Special].—Minus three first string regulars who were left at home with injuries, the Marquette university football squad entrained tonight for Saturday's game with Michigan State in East Lansing.

Coach Paddy Driscoll has not announced the varsity successors to the injured Dave Braden, guard; Chuck Peifer, tackle; and Johnny Goodyear, half back. The 31 players who left for East Lansing tonight were:

CENTERS—Ray Apolskis, Jimmy Briggs and Steve Seskoski.
TACKLES—Dick Brye, Ray Busler, Bill Fugate, Bob Ratclige, Tom Woods and John Ceczycki.
HALF BACKS—Reggie Coldagelli, Warren Hall, Walter Leis, Johnny Maltsch, Jim Richardson, and Norm Woods

TUSKEGEE AND WILBERFORCE TO MEET TONIGHT

Ohio College Favorite in All-Colored Game.

Tuskegee institute of Alabama and Wilberforce college of Ohio clash in Soldiers' field at 8 o'clock tonight in their tenth annual football meeting in Chicago.

A crowd of nearly 10,000 is expected to see the all-colored rivals in action, with Wilberforce a slight favorite to win for the third consecutive time and the fifth of the series. Tuskegee has won only twice, in 1929 and 1935. Three games ended in tie scores.

Work Out in Gary.

The Wilberforce squad of 35 players, coached by Gaston F. Lewis, stopped yesterday in Gary, Ind., for its final pregame workout and arrived by bus last night.

In its only game this season Wilberforce defeated Lane college of Jackson, Tenn., 5 to 0. Tuskegee has faced three opponents to date and has failed to score a point. The Alabamans lost to Lemoyne college of Memphis, Tenn., 19 to 0; to Xavier university of New Orleans, La., 2 to 0, and to Morris Brown college of Atlanta, Ga., 20 to 0.

Tuskegee Has Ellerbe.

Although the underdog, Tuskegee boasts of the fastest runner on either squad in Mozel Ellerbe, nationally known sprinter, who won the 1938 National Collegiate A. A. 100 yard dash championship and toured Europe with an American track and field team the same summer.

TUSKEGEE.		WILBERFORCE.
Ellerbe	L. E.	Bell
Fuller	L. T.	Schmebly
Stewart	L. G.	Adrine
Hollins	C.	Fuller
Douglas	R. G.	Hoffman

Slade	R. E.	Moore
Smiley	Q. B.	A. Brown
Maultsby	L. H.	Castelman
Frazier	R. H.	Hart
Everett	F. B.	Jefferson

WRIGHT PLAYS NORTH PARK.

Wilbur Wright junior college will oppose North Park college in their fifth annual football game at 8:15 o'clock tonight in Spencer Coals field, 4200 North Central avenue. Each team has won twice since the series started.

UNION INDICTED IN ANTITRUST BUILDING PROBE

Charged with Delay on Federal Work.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—Indictment of a labor union accused of delaying the construction of government buildings here opened today the justice department's coast to coast attack on suspected trade restraints in the building industry.

The indictment, by a regular federal grand jury, was the first returned since department lawyers began investigating building trades in nine principal cities from New York to Seattle. A Cleveland, O., grand jury has opened its inquiry and another will start hearing witnesses in St. Louis tomorrow. A special grand jury has been ordered for Nov. 9 in New York. Preliminary investigations are being made in five other cities.

The grand jury here charged local No. 639 of the Drivers, Chauffeurs and Helpers union, an affiliate of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers [A. F. L.], and five union officials with conspiracy in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Accused of Using Strikes.

Specifically, the union was accused of using strikes, boycotts and threats in an effort to force owners of mixer concrete trucks to replace members of local 77 of the International Union of Operating Engineers [A. F. L.], with Local 639 drivers and operators.

The result, the justice department said, was delay in work on several buildings here, including the social security and census buildings.

Union officials named in the indictment were Thomas O'Brien, representative of the international brotherhood; Stuart M. Keyser, recording secretary of local 639; Charles J. Bell, president of local 639; Linwood A. Trainham, secretary treasurer of local 639, and Aubrey W. Stream, business representative of the local, Promises Broader Inquiry.

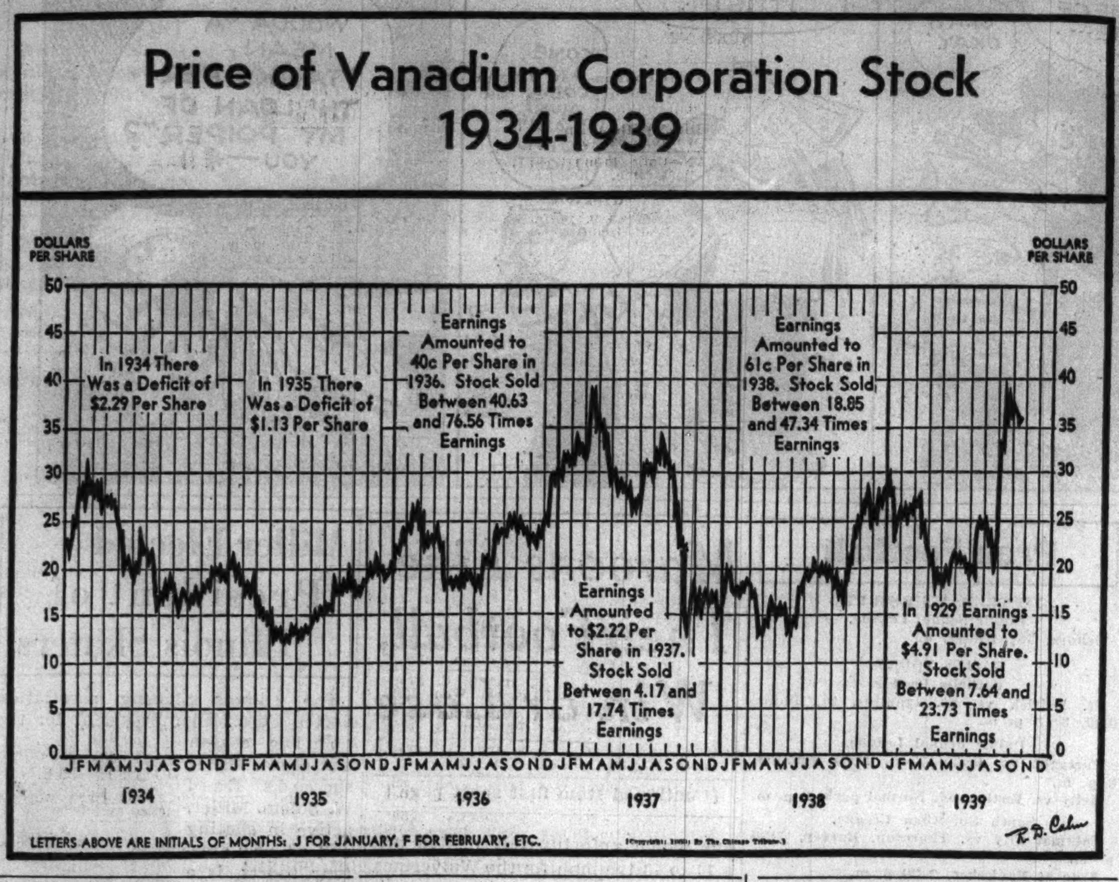
Although the union was the first defendant named in the department's drive, a department statement said, "these proceedings are intended to cover all restraints, including labor, contractors, heavy industries, municipal officials and ordinances which are in reality protective tarifs. Labor restraints are only one element in these investigations."

It was emphasized that the justice department would not interfere with the "legitimate aims" of labor unions, but would intervene where union acts were "unwaranted, unreasonable, and oppressive," as charged by the grand jury here against local 639.

Justice department officials said the indictment laid the basis for a test case which might lead to prosecutions in other cities where union jurisdictional fights were suspected of hamstringing a building revival.

Until today, no labor union had been indicted under the Sherman act directly as the result of its activities in a jurisdictional dispute, it was said at the department, though such disputes have been indirectly involved before.



ECONOMIST PREDICTS SHORTER WAR BECAUSE OF LOWER RESOURCES

Del Monte, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—An economist told the Investment Bankers' Association of America today that the current European war would be shorter than the last one. The speaker was Dr. Benjamin M. Anderson Jr. of University of California at Los Angeles, formerly of the Chase National bank.

Dr. B. M. Anderson.

The participants went into this war much weaker in economic resources than in 1914, Dr. Anderson explained. Furthermore, the much more highly mechanized war presumably will exhaust resources more rapidly.

The committee on government securities expressed belief that a temporary bottom for bond prices has been reached and that the selling panic has stopped, although nervousness still prevails and every one awaits developments in Europe.

TORONTO STOCKS RISE AS BRITAIN REBUFFS HITLER

Steel and aircraft shares spurted on the Toronto stock exchange yesterday on Prime Minister Chamberlain's rejection of Germany's current peace offers as unsatisfactory. The market was the only one open after Chamberlain's speech. American markets were closed for the Columbus holiday.

Trading was brisk. Petroleum, food and some utility stocks joined in the upturn. Gold mining issues continued their advance of Wednesday.

Paris and London exchanges were quiet.

BusinessGroup Urges Repeal of Labor Law

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12 [Special].—The National Small Business Men's association, in the closing session of its second annual convention, today demanded repeal of the Wagner national labor relation act.

"Although the act was passed for the purpose of reducing labor strife, the record shows that labor strife almost immediately reached an all-time high and has since remained abnormal," the resolution said.

"Administration has cost millions in government expense, has cost industry and business more millions to defend themselves and has cost employés most of all through lost wages and increased cost of the things they buy."

Cost Is Many Millions.

From the floor, the convention adopted an anti-war resolution after the resolutions committee omitted it. It declared that lack of information prevented a stand on the neutrality act revision, but urged the President and congress to take no step that would lead in the direction of war. It demanded that federal officials and employés make no warlike public utterances and that immediate steps be taken to curb communistic influences in governmental activities.

Warn Against Propaganda.

The resolutions warned of domestic propaganda, no less than that emanating from belligerents, and said that "as men we want no share in the profits from war."

The Dies committee was warmly commended for its probe of un-American activities and the convention urged strict enforcement of nationalization laws.

THREE CHICAGO CLOSED BANKS MAKE REFUNDS

Repayments totaling $307,821 are being mailed to about 30,000 depositors of three closed state banks in Chicago, State Auditor Edward J. Barrett announced yesterday.

The 5 per cent distribution amounting to $158,043 made to about 15,000 depositors of the West Englewood Trust and Savings bank was the largest of the three payments. This is the first return since the bank closed in 1931.

The 5 per cent disbursement to about 10,000 depositors of the Reliance bank totaled $114,834. This was the ninth payment since the bank closed in 1932, bringing total payments to 46 per cent.

Depositors of the Cheltenham bank are receiving their fifth and final dividend of 13 per cent, totaling $34,943 for 6,000 accounts. With this disbursement, total payments have amounted to 83 per cent since the bank closed in 1931.

Security, Commodity Markets Open Today

Security and commodity markets which were closed yesterday, Columbus day, will reopen for business as usual today. Only open markets yesterday were Canadian and foreign exchanges with the exception of Buenos Aires.

ILL. CENTRAL ORDERS 7,000 TONS OF RAIL, TEN SWITCH ENGINES

The Illinois Central system has ordered 7,000 additional tons of rail and 10 diesel-electric switching engines, it was announced yesterday. Total cost of the purchases will be $1,200,000. The road previously ordered 10,600 tons of rail on Sept. 29. Both orders are for delivery early in 1940.

Trustees of the Milwaukee road yesterday were authorized by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to purchase 2,000 box cars and 20 freight locomotives for $6,350,000. The purchase will be financed 80 per cent by a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

An order for 700 all-steel box cars, estimated to cost $2,000,000, was placed with the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company by the Seaboard Air Line.

Boss of Stock Exchange Also Its Boss at Tennis

CHARGE THREAT TO WITNESSES IN OIL INQUIRY

Two Accuse Chief of Retail Group.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—Two men who described themselves as "little fellows" in the giant oil industry produced a sensation before the monopoly committee today by testifying that the head of a national gasoline retailers association had tried to prevent their appearance as witnesses.

William Schuh.

Senator O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the committee which is holding hearings on the petroleum industry, issued a subpena for appearance of Wilmer Schuh of Milwaukee, Wis., president of the National Association of Petroleum Retailers.

Accuse Schuh of Threats.

Schuh had been identified by L. A. Hartley, secretary, and W. W. Hewett, president of the "rebel" petroleum retailers' association of Kansas City, Mo., as the man who threatened to "destroy" their local association unless Hartley and Hewett refrained from testifying before the monopoly committee and also quit battling the "major oil companies." They said they told Schuh to "jump in the lake."

The Kansas City gasoline service station spokesmen said they secretly placed a "stenographer in the next room" during their conference with Schuh in January of this year, in order to get an exact record of the threats and ultimatums."

Charge Association Subsidized.

Both witnesses insisted that the National Retailers association was "subsidized" by major oil companies as part of the latter's efforts to control the prices of gasoline.

They testified that the major oil companies maintained "identical tank wagon prices" to service station operators in their area and then "dictated prices for the public."

Committee officials said they had telephoned Schuh at Milwaukee and that he had agreed to appear here Monday to answer any questions.

Sears, Roebuck's Sales Set Record for 4 and 36 Weeks

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday reported sales for the ninth period of its fiscal year, Sept. 11 to Oct. 8, at the highest peak for a four week period in the history of the mail order firm.

T. J. Carney.

Sales for the period totaled $62,505,149, and were $12,690,331, or 25.5 per cent higher than the $49,814,818 sales figure reported for the corresponding period in 1938. The previous record was the four-week Christmas period of last year when sales totaled $60,633,795.

Sales for the nine periods from Jan. 30 to Oct. 8 also reached an all-time high, the company reported. Sales totaled $424,692,866 for the period this year, against $345,472,100 a year ago, an increase of $79,220,766 or 22.9 per cent.

Substantial reëmployment and improved farm outlook were major factors in the increases, T. J. Carney, president, said.

"There was a relatively better improvement in mail order buying than in the retail stores," he said. "Although total farm income may be no greater this year than in 1939, I believe the strong upward swing in farm commodity prices during the last part of August and the first part of September had a most important effect."

Carney added that a general increase in home construction helped many of the company's departments, and that a large part of the increase may have been advance buying in anticipation of price rises.

He said that the ninth period a year ago suffered from reduced business following in the wake of the September, 1938, hurricane in New England.

FREIGHT TRAFIC SETS ANOTHER NEW 1939 HIGH

Revenue freight car loadings reached a new 1939 high on Oct. 7 for the second successive week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Loadings last week ended, the association reported, totaled 834,694, an increase of 54 cars above the preceding week. This was also an increase of 132,078 cars, or 18.8 per cent, over the total loadings of the corresponding week in 1938.

For the fourth successive week, the association's report continued, loadings rose to the highest peak since Oct. 2, 1937, in a more than seasonal gain.

Loadings of the various commodities last week, and comparisons with the preceding and 1938 weeks, follow:

Chicago Venetian Blind Buys Saginaw Company

C. N. Cahill, president of the Chicago Venetian Blind company, announced yesterday that his firm had acquired for cash the assets of the Germain Manufacturing company, Saginaw, Mich. The Germain company operates a large woodworking department, approximately two thirds of its business being the manufacture of venetian blinds. Worth Berghern will be retained as president of the Saginaw firm,

URGES GAS INDUSTRY TO BOOST THREE YEAR FUND FOR ADVERTISING

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—James F. Pollard, president of the Seattle Gas company, Seattle, Wash., today urged representatives of the gas industry to increase appropriations beyond the $1,500,000 3 year coöperative advertising plan now in force in the industry. At the closing session of the American Gas association convention, Pollard said:

"If we wait for a year when we have so much money we won't mind spending more for advertising, it will never come, and if it should come we would be getting so much business we wouldn't need any more advertising. Short as profits may be, hard as money may be to get, now is the accepted time to spend more money for advertising.

"Money can be found to increase our advertising campaign. We should increase our advertising at least 100 per cent this year, and another 50 per cent in the very near future. It isn't a question whether we can afford to do it. It is a fact that we can't afford not to do it."

Pollard's speech followed presentation to him of the Charles A. Munroe award for having made the most outstanding contribution during the year to the advancement of the gas industry. It recognized his part in establishing the present coöperative advertising plan.

2 DEALERS SAY COERCION USED BY GEN. MOTORS

Testify on Financing at Federal Trial.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special].—Two former automobile dealers were called to the stand today as the federal government tried to show the General Motors Acceptance corporation has used bludgeoning tactics to force dealers to finance sale of cars through G. M. A. C.

The General Motors corporation, 3 subsidiaries, and 17 individuals, are defendants in federal court here charged with alleged violation of the antitrust laws in connection with financing automobiles.

Fred Emich, former owner of two Chevrolet agencies in Chicago and Oak Park, Ill., testified that both his dealer's contracts were canceled in 1936 after several years of quarreling about his refusal to deal with G. M. A. C.

Asserts Knudsen Explained.

Emich said William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors and one of the officials on trial, was the only person who would tell him the reason for the cancellation. He saw Knudsen in Detroit, he asserted, and Knudsen told him:

"You're a bad boy. The most important thing you've been canceled for is because you have not given at least 50 per cent of your business to G. M. A. C."

"I was told that if I used the G. M. A. C. financing, things would be a lot easier for me," Mendez said.

Before his contracts were canceled, Emich testified, unordered trucks would rumble into his garages, to be followed by crates of unordered luxury accessories.

"One day," he related, "they unloaded 20 tan 2 door trunk cars, when what I wanted was black 4 door sedans. I complained and they told me I was lucky to get those."

Asserts He Lost $20,000.

Although Knudsen assured him he would not have to take a loss upon the cancelation of his contracts, Emich testified, he came out of the controversy $20,000 poorer.

F. L. Mendez, South Bend dealer for General Motors cars from 1931 to 1937, testified he was lead to believe when he signed his first contract that

Thieves Indicted.

October 12, 1939.

SQUIRRELS that live in the woods of the Du Page county farm were indicted for petty thievery this week. Men on the farm had strong suspicions that squirrels had been stealing corn from the fields and carrying the ears to their private storehouses, so this week we prowled through two woodlots and found evidence that the suspicions were correct.

In one thick woods we waded through blackberry brambles and found a corn cob on the ground beneath a giant oak tree. All of the grain had been stripped from the ear. Just across the road was the cornfield from which the squirrels had been stealing.

Carry Corn Into Woods.

In the same woods we found numerous husks, indicating that the squirrels had carried many ears of corn into the woods. In another woodlot, near the center of the farm, two more corn cobs were found on the ground.

It's not at all surprising that the gray and red fox squirrels have been leaving the woods to go into the cornfields for grain. These animals live on a rather varied diet—one that includes many foods quite different from that eaten by squirrels around Chicago 50 or 75 years ago. In those days there were many splendid oak, walnut, and hickory trees in northern Illinois. The squirrels had no difficulty in getting all the nut foods they wanted.

But many of those big trees have been cut down, and the squirrels have lost their principal food supply. Scientists who have been studying the food habits of both the gray and the fox squirrel report that in many areas it has been necessary for the squirrels to move because of the lack of nut bearing trees.

Turn to Other Foods.

With the passing of the big nut trees the squirrels have had to turn to other kinds of foods. So now you see them scurrying into the cornfields to get food. Many of them undoubtedly tuck away some of the corn for winter use, although the farm produces many bushels of acorns and hickory nuts each season.

One of the youngsters living on the Du Page county farm had a lot of sport with his .22 caliber rifle last Sunday. He went hunting and got five gray squirrels. He says the only trouble with squirrel hunting is that he has to do too much climbing to get his game. Every time he shot a squirrel it lodged in a tree and he had to climb up after it. As a result of the youngster's day of hunting his family had a nice squirrel stew.

WHEN A MAN tries to estimate the estate which his wealth will provide for the protection and comfort of his family, he is likely to make a rather common mistake. He will probably under-estimate the cost to his estate of transfer and liquidation shrinkage during settlement.

If he is worth, say $100,000, the net estate reaching his family may be as little as $65,000 or $70,000. Studies indicate that the average shrinkage on a $100,000 estate approximates $20,000.

Some of this loss to your estate cannot, of course, be avoided. Debts have to be paid. Minimum taxes must be met. Administration costs will be incurred.

But, in case after case, the shrinkage suffered even by estates of moderate size could have been reduced by sound planning in advance. Unnecessary taxes could have been avoided. Forced sales to raise cash would not have been required. Disposal of business interests under unfavorable conditions would not have occurred.

Perhaps you would find the discussion of a plan for your estate helpful. We can doubtless make suggestions for transferring your estate in such a way that it will suffer a minimum loss. We will gladly talk the matter over with you and your attorney in confidence and without obligation.

MASSACHUSETTS
WHERE MANUFACTURING SKILL IS A HERITAGE!

"Skilled workers" is not a classification in Massachusetts, but a tradition. For Massachusetts' workers bring to their tasks an aptness passed down through generations. Their quick fingers and their quick minds assure speed and quality of production. Massachusetts, today, has the lowest ratio of man days lost from strikes of any industrial state in the country.

Massachusetts is proud of its skilled labor and of the quality of the goods its workers produce, but still more is Massachusetts proud of the honorable profit that these goods bring their makers. For this profit bespeaks the outstanding industrial advantages of the state—its proximity to greatest markets, its low taxes on manufacturing corporations, its unexcelled servicing and transportation. Attractive sites in manufacturing communities, strategically located, are here. This Commission will be pleased to cooperate with you in any investigation you wish to make of the Massachusetts industrial situation.

RAILS MUST BE READY FOR ANY DEMAND—BEVEN

Calls It Best Insurance Against Federal Rule.

J. L. Beven, president of the Illinois Central system, told the 21st annual meeting of the Illinois Chember of Commerce yesterday that the best insurance against government ownership of railroads would be the readiness of the rails to meet any requirements imposed upon them.

J. L. Beven.

The meeting opened yesterday at the Hotel Sherman and will continue through today. Keynote of the convention, according to C. G. Ferris, executive vice president of the organization, is "opposition to further regimentation of business."

Beven told the group that there is a decided upturn in industrial production, and that the railroads must be prepared to meet demands for increased transportation.

Equipment Is Better.

"There is still, after the recent large increase in trafic volume, a tremendous amount of unused railroad capacity," he asserted. "I also think the railroads are in better shape for rolling stock," he told the group. "We have few cars, but they are bigger and better cars. We have fewer locomotives than we once had, but present locomotives have more pulling power.

"I think the railroads are in better shape than the use of them warrants, and for that a vote of thanks is due their stockholders and bondholders who have patiently gone without return on their savings in order that the railroads might keep ahead of the game," he asserted.

Draft Stand Against War.

A resolution, drafted yesterday by directors of the organization, took a firm stand against American entry into the European war, but left up to congress the questions of legal neutrality and the embargo.

"We are opposed to involvement in the war," the resolution read. "The responsibility resting upon business makes it absolutely clear that its fundamental function is to provide for human needs."

Directors elected for district 6 [Chicago] were O. E. Mount, C. W. Bergquist, R. H. Cabell, W. S. Carr, J. A. Cunningham, R. C. Ingersoll, E. V. Mitchell, G. R. Kendall, and P. R. Clarke, all of Chicago.

NEWMONT MINING.

What does Newmont Mining do? I would appreciate information on this company?—R. V.

Answer: Newmont Mining corporation is principally a holding company, although it also finances and develops mining enterprises. The company maintains its own force of engineers and geologists.

The security portfolio of Newmont Mining is extensive, embracing companies which mine basic and precious metals, coal, sulphur and oil. Properties of companies with securities in the Newmont portfolio are located throughout the world.

Among stocks owned is a substantial block of shares in Rhodesian Anglo American, Ltd., whose principal asset is a 53.9 per cent interest in Rhokana corporation, Ltd., a copper producer located in northern Rhodesia. Newmont has an interest in other copper properties situated in various territories of the British empire.

Newmont reported deficits in 1931 and 1932, but operations have been profitable in each year since that time. Income is derived largely from dividends on securities held. Net income was $2,422,105 last year, $2,867,841 in 1937 and $2,020,106 in 1936. On a common share basis, this was equal to $4.56 in 1938, $5.39 in 1937 and $3.80 in 1936.

The common stock, of which there are 531,646 shares outstanding, is the sole capitalization. Dividends totaling $1.50 a share have been paid so far this year. Last year and in 1937 $3.00 was paid. In 1936 disbursements amounted to $3.75.

ELGIN MOTOR.

I have some shares of Elgin Motor Car corporation. Can you tell me anything about this company?—H. J.

Answer: The shares of Elgin Motor Car corporation are without value. The company was sold under receivership. Nothing was left for distribution to the stockholders.

SMALL, BUT SOUND.

Answer: The Raritan River railroad is a small line, controled jointly by the Pennsylvania railroad and the Central Railroad of New Jersey, between South Amboy and New Brunswick, New Jersey. The road is about 20 miles long. The 4¼s of 1959 are a first lien on the entire property and constitute the only funded debt.

Fixed charges have been well covered each year since 1932. Current assets were $277,832 and current liabilities $144,448 at Dec. 31, 1938. The 4¼s of 1959 are considered high grade.

Testify About Financing at Federal Trial.

Later, Mendez said in answer to questions by Holmes Baldridge, chief government counsel, G. M. A. C. pressed him and he transferred his financing operations from the Associates Investment company, South Bend, to G. M. A. C.

Mendez also testified that automobiles he had not ordered were forced upon him by Pontiac and Buick divisions of General Motors. He said in the winter of 1935-'36 the two divisions sent him 25 cars he had not ordered. He said he kept the cars because "it would cause unpleasantness if I didn't take them."

Mendez said his contracts with Buick and Pontiac were later canceled. He said loss of contracts meant a $20,000 to $25,000 loss in buildings, equipment, and parts. Buick took back about $2,300 worth of parts, he said. Pontiac, however, refused to accept $1,200 worth of parts, which were later sold to a Chicago junk dealer for $15, Mendez testified.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

HOGS RECOVER—B S RESET ... .

Large buying orders came into the hog market as prices eased slightly on opening trade yesterday. Losses were quickly replaced by strength and some advances in mid-session, with final sales a shade above the average of the preceding day. The day's average price rose 5 cents to $7.05, the highest since Sept. 28.

Top lambs reached the $10.00 line yesterday, the highest point since Sept. 29. Demand for all ovine stock was brisk at strong to higher rates, the top quotation showing a gain of 25 cents.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO WESTERN DIVISION

IN THE MATTER OF THE GRIESS-PFLEGER TANNING COMPANY, a corporation, Debtor

No. 14059
IN PROCEEDINGS FOR REORGANIZATION

NOTICE

TO THE CREDITORS AND SHAREHOLDERS OF THE GRIESS-PFLEGER TANNING COMPANY:

Pursuant to order entered by the United States District Court, Southern District of Ohio, Western Division, a hearing will be held before such Court, Federal Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, on Monday, October 23, 1939, at 2:00 P. M. to consider and act upon:

1. The Final Report of E. F. Keirnan and John H. Finn, as Trustees of the debtor corporations.

2. The Report of The Griess-Pfleger Tanning Co. [the new corporation formed in accordance with the Plan of Reorganization].

3. Applications for the allowance of fees and expenses in this proceeding.

4. The application of E. F. Keirnan and John H. Finn, Trustees, that they be discharged, their sureties released, and this proceeding terminated.

Applications for the allowance of fees and expenses in this proceeding have been filed by various persons and firms. Reports and applications are on file in the office of the Clerk of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio, Federal Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, and may be inspected by any creditor or shareholder who desires to do so.

The holders of bonds and of preferred and common capital stock of The Griess-Pfleger Tanning Company, debtor, are reminded that their securities must be surrendered to The Griess-Pfleger Tanning Co., Waukegan, Illinois, for exchange for new securities not later than October 31, 1940, in accordance with the provisions of the Plan of Reorganization, as confirmed by the United States District Court.

A formal notice of the hearing listing the fees and expenses applied for may be obtained by writing the trustees.

Sincerely yours,
E. F. KEIRNAN and JOHN H. FINN
Trustees of The Griess-Pfleger Tanning Company, 603 Dixie Terminal Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

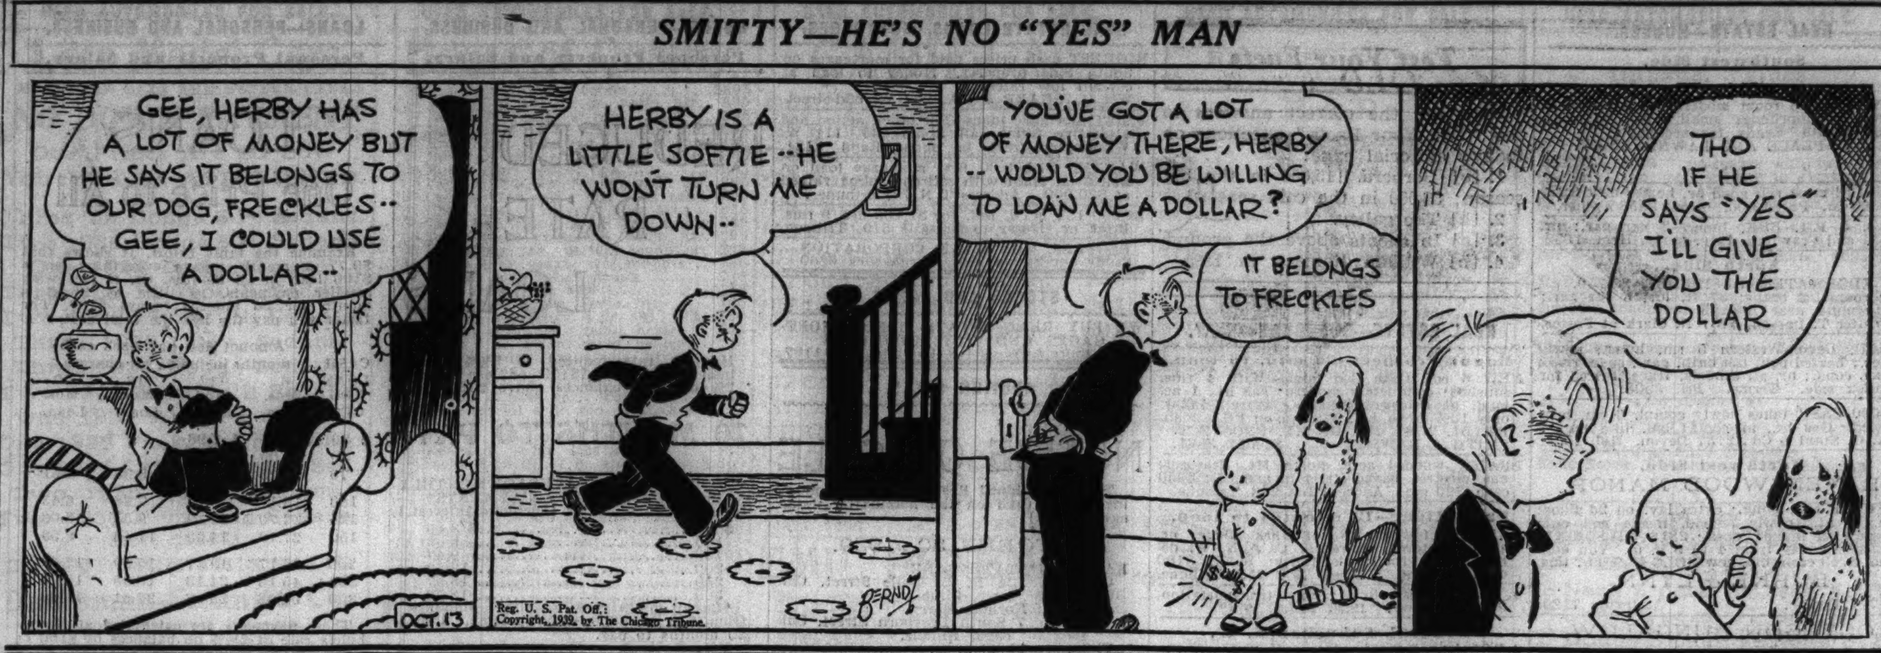
SMITTY—HE'S NO "YES" MAN



GEE, HERBY HAS A LOT OF MONEY BUT HE SAYS IT BELONGS TO OUR DOG, FRECKLES -- GEE, I COULD USE A DOLLAR
HERBY IS A LITTLE SOFTIE - HE WON'T TURN ME DOWN -
YOU'VE GOT A LOT OF MONEY THERE, HERBY - WOULD YOU BE WILLING TO LOAN ME A DOLLAR?
IT BELONGS TO FRECKLES
THO IF HE SAYS "YES" I'LL GIVE YOU THE DOLLAR

*Based on 20 months. Other amounts from $10 to $300 in proportion. 1 to 20 months to pay.

Save the Difference

Commonwealth's charge is less on all loans than the maximum permitted by law. Our monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES and CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter or telephone will receive immediate attention.

Local Loan Gives You the Service You Want

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this salary loan service because the great body of employed people—young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers. You may borrow $25 to $300—

On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months], and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

LOANS
One Price to All

Examine the table below. It shows that $9.77 a month repays everything on a $100 loan in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months repays $100. The faster you pay the less the total cost.

CASH LOAN YOU GET	Amount you pay back each month, including all charges. 6 Mos. Loan.	12 Mos. Loan.	16 Mos. Loan.	20 Mos. Loan.
50	9.09	4.88
70	12.73	6.84	$ 5.38	$ 4.51
100	18.17	9.77	7.68	6.43
125	22.70	12.19	9.58	8.03
150	27.19	14.59	11.46	9.59
200	36.17	19.37	15.19	12.69
250	45.13	24.13	18.90	15.78

These payments are calculated at Household's rate of 2½% on balances of $100 or less; 2% on balances of $100 to $300. These rates are less than the lawful maximum on all loans and are the same to every one. No endorsers. Loans made on furniture, car, or note. No wage assignments. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. To apply: Phone or visit office nearest you.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

Can You Set Aside $1.34 to $1.52 Per Week FOR A $100 LOAN?

That's actually all you need to pay off in full a $100 cash loan, including all charges on a 20 month loan at Personal Finance Company. And we take no wage assignment.

$1.34 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $100 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1⅛% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $1.52 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $100 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less, and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.
